Mr. EARNEST. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 11:59 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time), until Tuesday morning, May 26, 1931, at 11 o'clock (Eastern Standard Time).

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, May 25, 1931

The House met at 9.00 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. O. B. Poulson, offered the following prayer:

Infinite God, we acknowledge Thee to be both Lord and Master. Thou art King of all kings and Lord of all lords. Yet Thou art not far from any of us. While we have been absent one from another, Thou hast protected us by Thy love.

We praise Thee tonight for the power that has both made and preserved us a nation. In the building of this Republic Thou hast raised up, out of obscurity, good men, men in whom were to be found both "the strength of the oak and the pity of the snow that hides all scars." Men who would not sell their honor. Men who would not stultify their conscience by an unworthy deed. From the ends of the earth, men come to place wreaths of remembrance upon their tombs.

We ask ourselves how do our lives measure up to these who gave us this Commonwealth and this Republic? Great Master of us all, teach us how to deal justly; to love mercy; and to walk humbly with our God. And may the records of this night show forth Thy praise. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the proceedings of the Journal of Thursday, May 21, 1931.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Thursday, May 21, 1931, when, on motion of Mr. McAlee, seconded by Mr. Roan the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1287

Mr. MUMFORD. Mr. Speaker, the Committee of Conference, to which was referred the differences existing between the two houses on House Bill No. 1287 (Senate Bill No. 463), Printer's Nos. 162 and 207, beg leave to report that they are unable to agree on a report and ask to be discharged. I submit this report, together with the original bill and amendments.

The SPEAKER. The report of the Committee of Conference will be spread upon the Journal.

To the Honorable, the Senate and House of Representatives:
Gentlemen:

The Committee of Conference, to which was referred the differences existing between the two Houses on Senate Bill No. 463 (Printer's No. 207), entitled "An act providing for the creation and incorporation of municipal corporations, and for the management and operation of water supply districts, to furnish and supply water to the public residing therein, and to public and private corporations and the Commonwealth and its agencies through the construction of water-works and facilities and/or the acquisition of the property, water-works, rights and franchises of public and private corporations copartnerships, associations and individuals furnishing and supplying water to the public in said districts; prescribing the powers and duties of such districts, and the officers thereof; conferring jurisdiction on courts of common pleas in connection therewith, and imposing certain costs and charges preliminarily on counties," beg leave to report that they are unable to agree on a report, and ask to be discharged.

Conferees on the part of the Senate,

JOHN J. McCLURE
WILLIAM C. FREEMAN
Conferees on the part of the House,
AARON W. MUMFORD
J. GORDON MASON
JOHN M. FLYNN

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the report be accepted and the committee discharged.

Mr. LEIDICH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE RECEDES FROM AMENDMENTS NON-CONCURRED IN BY SENATE TO HOUSE BILL No. 1287 (SENATE BILL No. 463).

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now recede from the amendments made by the House to House Bill No. 1287 (Senate Bill No. 463), non-concurred in by the Senate.

Mr. MEMOLO. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, under the rules the report of the Conference Committee must lie over for printing.

The SPEAKER. On the point of order, raised by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, that the Report of a Conference Committee under Rule 34, must lie over for printing before being considered, the Chair is of opinion that the report made by the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Mumford, is not the report of a Conference Committee. It is merely a statement that they are unable to agree, for the reason that it sets forth as follows: "Beg leave to report that they are unable to agree on a report."

Therefore, the Chair rules that the point or order is not well taken.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, can we find out in some way what the amendments are that we are receding from so that we may know what we are voting upon? This is one of the most important and worst pieces of legislation that has been before this House, and I think we ought to know something about what we are voting upon. I think the members of this House ought to know what they are doing on a piece of legislation as important and vicious as this bill is.

The SPEAKER. The amendments were read when they were under consideration, but the Chair will direct the Clerk to read them again.

The amendments were read by the Clerk.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Warren, the chairman of the Committee on Public Utilities.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Warren, Mr Mumford, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MUMFORD. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Mumford, did the Committee on Public Utilities consider that these amendments strengthened the bill when they put them into the bill?

Mr. MUMFORD. They certainly did.

Mr. WILSON. Did you consider the bill a stronger bill with these amendments in, than it was before the amendments were put in it?

Mr. MUMFORD. I did.

Mr. WILSON. Do you not consider the bill a good bill without the amendments?

Mr. MUMFORD. Well, I would rather leave that to the members of the House to decide. They know what the original bill was.

Mr. WILSON. In other words, Mr. Mumford, with the amendments out, you would not say to the House you think it is a good bill, as chairman of the Committee on Public Utilities.

Mr. MUMFORD. I do not like to answer the question. We have the bill before us, and each one ought to have the right to their own opinion, and I do not like to set up my opinion to the House.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I have no interest in this matter, except as a member of the Committee on Public Utilities. We put into this bill, as your Committee on Public Utilities, these amendments which we considered were necessary to make this bill even passably fair to the people of Pennsylvania, and now because a Senate conference committee and a House conference committee cannot agree, the people who are interested in this bill are asked to recede from the amendments which the committee put in and which we deemed necessary in order to pass it, in order to save themselves. Ladies and gentlemen, as a member of this committee that had this bill, I want to say to the members of the House that without the amendments it a very dangerous and vicious piece of legislation and I think this House would be very foolish to recede from its amendments.

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is a bill that the whole of Luzerne County and Lackawanna County are very much interested in, and I feel that I am safe in saying that ninety-five per cent of those two counties are anxiously waiting to see this bill pass the House.

I stood here on this floor once before and told you that the people of Luzerne County had been preparing for this fight for the last two years. We had the best attorneys that we could get in the state to compile the bill. We brought the bill here, and the Senate passed the bill with hardly any objection, without any opposition, except, as I understand, from one individual Senator. The bill came into the House, and certain members of the House insisted upon amendments. The people that were behind this bill felt that the amendments would not injure the bill, but to some extent it improved it. The bill in its original form answered the purpose of the people who were asking for it.

This is a question of whether the House is going to listen to the voice of the people, or whether it is going to be dominated by the voice of the utilities. This bill is an important bill, it is a bill much desired, and it is a bill that pretty nearly fifteen hundred people marched down here to demonstrate their interest in.

I hope that the House willl not be so heedless to the voice of the people that they will vote this measure down. We are satisfied to take our chances with the constitutionality of this bill if it passes in its original form. I hope the members of the House willl vote favorably on it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

ORDER OF CONSIDERATION OF BILLS

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that all House Bills on the Calendar be taken up and considered before Senate Bills.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO CHANGE SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 546, Printer's No. 1080, entitled:

An Act concerning elections including general municipal special or primary elections the nomination of candidates the registration of electors primary and election expenses and election contests imposing duties upon courts county commissioners registrars of vital statistics municipal officers school directors real estate brokers and rental agents imposing penalties for violation of the act and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto.

Special Order on Third Reading at 9.15 o'clock P. M., be changed to 11.50 o'clock P. M., for Special Order of business on Monday evening, May 25th.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the object of this motion is to delay the Special Order until later in the evening. We have a large number of House bills on the calendar. If these House bills are not passed tonight and sent over to the Senate tonight, they will be lost. If you get into a lengthy debate on any of these special orders, many of these House bills will be lost through a lack of time. It seems to me that it would be better to have our debates at the end of the night rather than to have them at the beginning and destroy these bills.

Mr. D. GLENN MOORE. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, these special orders were made last week, and the purpose of them was to expedite the business of the House. We will expedite the business by getting down and voting on the special orders and getting things out of the way. Let us get the agony over. I ask you to vote down this motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1953, Printer's No. 1055, entitled:

An Act to prohibit the manufacture, sale, transportation, possession or storage of slot machines or roulette wheels to be used for gambling, and providing penalties.

on page 6 of today's calendar, bills on third reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I hove that House Bill No. 1856, Printer's No. 1056, entitled:

An Act making it unlawful to sell, transport, ship, exhibit, possess or store slot machines.

on page 5 of today's calendar, bills on third reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I arise to oppose the motion to recommit this bil at this time. This bill has been in the Committee on Law and Order for some three or four weeks and given very clear and definite consideration. The bill is clear in every way and in every manner, and I see no reason for recommitting it at this time. I consider the bill to be perfect for the purpose for which it was drawn; to prohibit gambling with slot machines, to prohibit the sale and manufacture of slot machines for gambling purposes.

I am surprised very much at the motion to recommit made here by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz, who opposed the other slot machine bill that was presented by Mr. Moore here some few months ago. The Legislative Journal of April fifteenth, shows on page 2152, that the gentleman, Mr. Sowers, said that if the bill of Mr. Moore had reference to slot machines and only to slot machines, he would be glad to support it. I am very much surprised that he should now make a motion to recommit it. I do not think it is consistent. I ask the members to vote "no" on this motion, and I ask for a record vote.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the motion to recommit the bill in question is to recommit a bill which is practically the same as House Bill No. 119, Printer's No. 507. That bill was defeated on the floor of the House, the same issue as this bill, was defeated and was subsequently reconsidered and again defeated, and it seems to me that the House having voted on this issue once, it ought not to be required to vote on it again. I might say if a point of order were raised on the bill, the question having already been voted upon, I think it might be sustained. However, we are late in the session, the issue having been voted upon once, I ask that the bill be recommited.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Cordier and Mr. Hartsock and were as follows:

Mr. STEEDLE. I voted "No", Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Gangloff, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. GANGLOFF. I voted "no," Mr. Speaker.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

REPORT OF HOUSE COMMITTEE ON INVESTIGATION OF PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION AND PUBLIC UTILITY COMPANIES UNDER RESOLUTION No. 10.

Mr. D. GLENN MOORE. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I desire to offer at this time a final report of the House Committee on Investigation of the Public Service Commission and Public Utilities after your Resolution No. 10. This report has been signed by a majority of the committee: The Chairman, Mr. Hagmaier, Mr. Memolo, Mr. Richards and Mr. Rhodes. The report, in printed form, will be placed on the desks of the members, and, therefore, I do not desire to read it at this time. I ask that the report in full be spread upon the Journal of the House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Moore, offers the report of the committee of investigation ordered by the House under Resolution No. 10. The report of the committee, in printed form, will be placed upon the members' desks and the report itself will be spread at length upon the Journal.

Since your Committee filed its Preliminary Report, it has held five hearings and heard testimony covering over one thousand pages. The evidence taken in these five hearings included the testimony of:

Henry L. Mitchell, Vice President, West Penn Power, 64 Pages.
F. R. Phillips, President, Duquesne Light, 147 Pages.
C. S. Mitchell, Controller, Duquesne Light, 40 Pages.
C. K. Robinson, Counsel for the Philadelphia Company, 31 Pages.
Paul B. Sawyer, Chairman of the Board, Penna. Power & Light; President, Lehigh Power Securities Corp., 95 Pages.
John S. Wise, Jr., President, Pennsylvania Power and Light, 50 Pages.
Louis B. Round, District Manager, Pennsylvania Power Co., 9 Pages.
E. R. King, Auditor, Metropolitan Edison Company, 79 Pages.
W. A. Reiber, Controller, Pennsylvania Electric Co., 19 Pages.
D. I. McCahill, Counsel, West Penn Power and other electric companies, 14 Pages.
J. S. S. Richardson, Former Director of the Public Service Information Committee in the Pennsylvania Electric Association, 76 Pages.

The Committee also heard testimony covering over 200 Pages regarding the Quaker City Cab deal with the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company. From the testimony taken since the Preliminary Report and from the entire volume of testimony covering 5,181 pages, the Committee submits the following conclusions:

First, the Committee affirms absolutely its conclusions in the Preliminary Report that the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania has lost the confidence of the people. A very significant feature of the testimony of the utility representatives before the House Investigating Committee and before the Judiciary General Committee of the Senate confirms absolutely this preliminary conclusion. On March 11 and 12, 1931, when representatives of hundreds of boroughs of Pennsylvania appeared before the House Committee, they almost universally criticized and condemned the practices and policies of the Public Service Commission. Not one of these representatives of the people praised our Public Service Commission. Many of the representatives of the utilities in their appearance before this Committee and before the Judiciary General Committee in the Senate highly praised our Public Service Commission, and not one of these representatives of legalized monopoly criticized or condemned the Commission. The conclusions that can be drawn from these facts are obvious.

When the representatives of these utilities appeared before the House Investigating Committee, their companies had already been accused in the record of the House Committee and in your Committee's Preliminary Report of charging rates that produced a return far in excess of a fair return. They also were charged with improper financial transactions that tended to react against the interests of the consumer and the investing public, but in favor of the interests of those few who controlled the common stock of the holding company. These utility representatives made strong efforts to explain their financial transactions, but they did not prove to this Committee that their earnings did not far exceed a fair return.

Mr. Henry L. Mitchell when asked if he had any criticism to make on the data which had been furnished to the Commission stated that he did not. None of the other companies which appeared before the Committee disapproved the charges which had been made against them.

Evidence was also offered from the reports of the utilities to the Commission for the year 1930 that the lack of regulation persisted throughout last year, and that the electric industry had earned an excess over 7% on invested fixed capital in plant and property of $31,864,414 during 1930 (Exhibit 214). In order to justify such excess earnings the Commission would have had to grant the utilities the use of $455,205,914 for going value and working capital. This sum is 48.6% of its actual depreciated fixed capital.

The Committee, therefore, finds it a fact that the utility companies in Pennsylvania have been permitted to enjoy an income which far exceeds a fair return on invested capital; that these facts were all contained in the reports from the companies and filed with the Public Service Commission; that the Commission should have had knowledge of these flagrant violations of their orders; that the Commission has remained indifferent to these enormous stock issues that have been foisted on an innocent and unsuspecting public. We, therefore, find that the Public Service Commission has been negligent in its duties, indifferent to its stewardship, and a menace to proper utility regulation. We recommend that the members of our Public Service Commission be immediately removed from office.

The Committee reaffirms its preliminary findings and recommendations with regard to security issues.

The Committee reaffirms its recommendations relating to legislation controlling holding companies. All of the utility representatives appearing before the Commission, who were questioned, admitted that legislation giving the Commission control over security issues and holding companies would materially assist and improve regulation. They stated that they had no objections to such legislation.

The Committee reaffirms its recommendations regarding legislation to permit the Commission to award reparations in the same hearing wherein they find that existing rates have been unjust and unreasonable or discriminatory.

The Committee reaffirms its preliminary findings on legislation dealing with the assessment of cost.

As stated in its Preliminary Report, the Committee is of the opinion that the appropriation to the Public Service Commission should be substantially increased in order to permit the Commission to employ sufficient personnel to conduct investigations and examinations, to provide for necessary research to fulfill its responsibility of actively protecting the people's interests.

Your Committee reaffirms its preliminary findings that legislation should be enacted prohibiting an increase in rates until after the proposed increase has been approved by the Public Service Commission.

The question of the appointment and removal of members of the Public Service Commission has been given very serious study by your Committee. It is very necessary in order to avoid a repetition of our present utility situation that the definite responsibility for the actions of the Public Service Commission be concentrated in the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth. Your Committee recommends that legislation be enacted permitting the Governor of the Commonwealth to appoint and remove all members of the Commission. A charge that this concentration of responsibility will be placing all the utilities in Pennsylvania in the Governor's hands is false, misleading and absurd. The advantages and disadvantages of giving the Governor power of appointment and removal has been very carefully studied and analyzed and it is the consensus of opinion of your Committee that this is the only feasible solution of this problem.

The Committee reaffirms its preliminary recommendation that appellants in cases from the Public Service Commission should be permitted to print only those parts of the record that pertain to their appeal.

The Committee reaffirms its findings in its Preliminary Report on rural electrification. The Committee further recommends that some of the funds made available by the increased appropriation should be used to cooperate with the electrical industry in promoting rural electrification. State aid in extending rural electrification would be as beneficial to the farmers as State aid is in extending rural highways.

The Committee reaffirms its recommendations regarding the annual reports of the public utilities to the Public Service Commission.

In this Preliminary Report, your Committee recommended the adoption of the net investment theory as a Pennsylvania standard for rate base determination. Your Committee affirms its belief in the net investment theory again and recommends its adoption in Pennsylvania as a standard for rate base determination.

The Committee's recommendations for legislation regarding net investment are contained in House Bill No. 1632, as amended in the Judiciary General Committee of the Senate. Net investment, as stated in the amendment to Bill No. 1632, has been approved by many of the executives of the largest utility interests in Pennsylvania.

In conclusion your Committee urges legislation to take immediate steps to remedy the present situation. The Howell Bill, being Senate Bill No. 259, as amended in the House, contains sufficient legislation to remove many of the existing faults. The passage of this bill will be the first step toward proper utility control. The Committee, therefore, urges that Senate Bill No. 259, amended in the House Committee, be immediately enacted into law.

Attached, herewith, is a copy of an analysis of the evidence taken during the hearings. It was prepared by Harold Evans, Esq., Counsel to the Committee.

Respectfully submitted,

THE COMMITTEE:

D. GLENN MOORE, Chairman,
BART RICHARDS,
MARTIN MEMOLO,
LOUIS W. HAGMAIER,
CHESTER H. RHODES.

May 18, 1931

The Chairman and Members of the House Committee on Investigation of Public Service Commission and Public Utilities Companies:

Gentlemen:

On May 11th I was requested by the Chairman to submit to the Committee an analysis of the work of the Committee and of the evidence taken. In compliance with these instructions I am enclosing the following report.

Yours truly,

HAROLD EVANS, Counsel.

COUNSEL'S REPORTS

The record of the hearings of the House Committee comprises 5181 pages and 233 exhibits. Of this total, complaints from boroughs and individual citizens make up 1,005 pages; the utilities took 1526 pages; members and staff of the Public Service Commission took 1009 pages, and 893 pages of expert testimony by accountants and engineers was given.

Specific attention was given to the complaints of the cities of Scranton and Wilkes-Barre and surrounding boroughs, to the complaints presented by the State Association of Boroughs, comprising 886 boroughs, expressing a desire for repeal of the Public Service Commission Law as administered at present, and relating to the difficulty which small communities have of financing and winning rate cases.

Further complaints concerning high rates and the ineffectiveness of regulation were heard from Latrobe, Conshohocken, Brackenridge, South Greensburg, Columbia, Roseto, Ligonier, West Lawn, Scottdale, East Stroudsburg, Northumberland, Lewistown, Farrell, Freeport, Meyersdale, Portage, Mt. Holly, Homer City, Union City, Greenville, Tower City, Oakmont, Verona, Sharpsburg, Middletown, Brookville, Beaver Falls, Chester, Butler, Johnstown, Pottsville, Mt. Pleasant, Greensburg, Hanover and Gettysburg.

I

New Probems of Regulation

It is clear that the task of regulating the public utilities has changed in character and increased in complexity since 1914, when the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission was established.

The size of the regulated industries has increased enormously. In 1929 the depreciated book value of the intra-state utilities was $2,202,889,428; their gross revenue was $561,796,259, and their operating expenses $378.396,730, (Exhibit 189). Busses and taxicabs have become important parts of the field of control since 1914.

Along with this increase in size have come two other features not anticipated when the Commission was created. The first of these is the successful attempt of the utilities to secure for themselves the advantages of the upward movement of price levels. The increasing consideration given by the courts to reproduction cost new has notably increased the burden of regulation to the State Commission and has saddled it with problems which have not, as yet, been satisfactorily met.

The second feature has been the growth of holding companies in the electric, natural gas and water industries. Most of the electric and natural gas utilities are today controlled by holding companies, and most of them are parts of larger systems with headquarters in other states. Along with these holding companies have come problems of financing and management fees which have not been satisfactorily met.

Satisfactory control over the rate base and over the rate of return are only parts of the problem. Since 67 dollars out of every 100 collected from consumers go to operating expenses it is important that there should be no opportunity for unnecessary profits in this item.

II

The Character of Public Utilities

Before the evidence taken by the Committee can be analyzed with understanding, it is essential to emphasize the nature of property used in public service as differentiated from property used in unregulated private business. This involves an understanding of the original purpose of public regulation.

The law has long been clear concerning the function and use of railroad property. The Supreme Court of the United States has held that "Whether the use of the railroad is a public or a private one depends in no measure upon the question of who constructed it and owned it. No matter who is the agent, the function performed is that of the State. Though the ownership is private, the use is public." (Milheim vs. Moffat Tunnel, Imp. Dist. 262 U S 710). In our modern communities light, heat, communication and water are alike necessities, and the companies furnishing them should be considered in the same class. The business carried on by the utilities is essentially a public business.

The utility businesses are distinguished from private industries largely by public grants of privileges, restraints on competition, and the economic need of the community for the services. These businesses can be carried on by the State or by municipalities, or can be carried on by private agents designated by them. The fact that in regard to the electric, gas and communication industries we have generally chosen the second method, does not alter the character of the public business involved.

In this situation there is always a certain danger that the public purposes of the business will be forgotten. Private ownership and operation of public utilities involves the making of profits. Because of the freedom from competition, made possible to a large extent by the State, and because of the dependence of the public upon the services of these industries, these profits are less subject to failure than those of a completely private business in times of depression. The danger arises from the situation itself. Utility officials are selected by the holding companies for the very purpose of making as much profit as they can. Under such circumstances it is easy to forget that they, or the companies they represent, are under the restriction of not making more than a reasonable return.

The purpose of regulation can be seen from the Supreme Court decision which stated, "The thing which gave the public interest was the indispensable nature of the service and the exorbitant charges and arbitrary control to which the business may be subjected without regulation." (Wolff v. Court of Industrial Relations 262 U. S. 522).

If regulation fails to keep profits of public utilities down to a reasonable return it has failed in its function, and in the part assigned to it in our economic life. In view of the huge sums involved at present the statement of the Supreme Court is much to the point when it said "It is as vital that the State should retain its control of tolls upon public highways as it is that it should not surrender and fetter its power of taxation." (Covington Railroad Company v. Sandford 164, U. S. 578).

III

Effect of Court Appeals on Regulation

The procedure of regulation at present involves the power of appeal. There is no desire anywhere to question this right. At the same time it may be pointed out that under our present law the right of appeal benefits the utilities much more than the public. In the first place the cost often bars complainants from taking appeal while the utilities charge such cost up to operating expense and collects it from the consumers. In the second place a utility can by claiming confiscation obtain from the court a review of both facts and law, while a consumer appellant gets no real review of the facts.

IV

Commission's Failure to Act

In view of the fact that excess earnings by a utility are not recoverable for the consumers unless a rate case is instituted, it is important to note to what extent the Commission has acted to limit excess earnings.

By the admission of the Commissioners appearing before the Committee, no rate investigations were started on the Commission's own motion until 1930. After the formation of the Electric Rate Committee in that year, it was discovered, according to the Bureau of Accounting, that in 1928, on a basis which allowed no going value, but included write-ups, the following electric utilities were earning over a 7% return:

(Exhibit 9).

Philadelphia Electric,	8.57
Erie County Electric,	10.70
Luzerne County Gas & Electric,	9.04
Erie Lighting,	7.27
Metropolitan Edison,	8.48
Northern Pennsylvania Power,	7.43
Penn Central,	7.35
Chester Valley Electric,	14.02
Edison Light & Power (York),	36.25
Keystone Public Service,	12.28
West Penn Power,	10.54
Southern Pennsylvania Power,	8.66
Pennsylvania Power & Light,	8.73
Edison Electric Co., (Lancaster),	16.92
Carlisle Gas & Water,	14.10
Pennsylvania Power Co.,	12.95
Harmony Electric,	7.42
People's Power,	3.93
Scranton Electric,	14.16
Duquesne Light,	9.99
Bradford Electric,	12.69
Pennsylvania Water & Power,	10.41

Only three companies were earning less than 7%.

After this a new accounting basis was adopted, including a flat 10% of depreciated fixed capital for going value, or a total of $93.856,564.00, but including all write-ups as well.

The following companies were found to be earning over 7% on the new tentative rate base:

Chester County Light & Power Co.,	10.71
Delta Electric Power Co.,	12.27
Delta Water Power Co.,	9.97
Erie County Electric Co.,	11.49
Luzerne County Gas & Electric Corp.,	7.38
Philadelphia Electric Co.,	8.14
Southern Pennsylvania Power Co.,	8.35
Erie Lighting Co.,	7.27

Fleetwood & Kutztown Electric Light & Power Co., ..	17.50
Metropolitan Edison, ...	8 06
Northern Pennsylvania Power, ...	7.22
Altoona & Logan Valley Electric Railway Co., ...	18.67
Chester Valley Electric Co., ...	13.91
Edison Light & Power (York)	28.85
Glen Rock Electric Light & Power Co., ...	15.76
Keystone Public Service Co., ...	20.84
Carlisle Gas & Water.	10.23
Edison Electric Co., of Lancaster, ...	16.86
Lehighton Electric Light & Power Co., ...	14.31
Pennsylvania Power & Light, ...	7.89
Duquesne Light Co., ...	9.45
South Penn Power Co., ...	9.06
West Penn Power Co., ...	11.23
Scranton Electric Co., ...	13.67
Pennsylvania Power Co., ...	7.90
Abington Electric Co., ...	22.60
Brockway Light, Heat & Power Co., ...	10 70
Mauch Chunk Heat, Power & Electric Light Co., ...	18.33
Renovo Edison Light, Heat & Power Co., ...	10.67
Bradford Electric Co., ...	10.83
Natrona Light & Power Co., ...	44.72
Citizens Electric Co. (Lewisburg).	17.48
Cresson Electric Light Co., ...	39.07
Hershey Electric Co., ...	33.53
Lackawanna & Wyoming Valley Power Co., ...	29.79
Palmerton Lighting Co., ...	19.27
Pennsylvania Water & Power Co., ...	8.86
Wellsboro Electric Co., ...	10.94
Windber Electric Corp., ...	15.65

A total of 39 companies were thus found to be earning over a 7% return on this basis, including write-ups, 34 were earning over 8%, 30 over 9%, 27 over 10%, 21 over 11%, 19 over 12%, 18 over 13%, 16 over 14%, 15 over 15%—and 7 over 20%.

It is needless to point out that if write-ups had been deducted the percentages of overall return would show more companies in the higher brackets.

During February 1930 the Bureau of Accounts was directed to examine into the Scranton Electric (13.67%), during March 1930 into the Edison of York (28.85%), the Chester Valley Electric (13.91%), the Glen Rock Electric (15.76%), the Keystone Public Service (20.84%), and the Penn Central (6.53%); during June 1930 it was directed to examine the accounts of the Abington Eectric (22.6%) the Renovo Edison (10.67%) and the Fulton Electric. On November 25, 1930, twelve small companies were also added to the list. It is interesting to note that of the companies having write-ups only two (Penn Central and Scranton Electric) were included in the examination.

It is also to be noted that several of the high companies, such as Carlisle Gas and Water (10.23%), Edison Electric (16.86%), Lehighton Electric (14.31%), which had been combined in the interval into the Pennsylvania Power and Light, were not examined. The Altoona and Logan Valley Electric (18.67%) was not examined, nor the Delta Water Power (9.97%), nor the Fleetwood and Kutztown (17.5%), nor the Duquesne Light (9.45%, including write-up), nor the West Penn Power (11.23%), nor the Brockway Light (10.7%), nor the Natrona Light (44.72%), nor the Citizens of Lewisburg (17.48%), nor the Lackawanna and Wyoming Valley Power Company (29.79%), nor the Pennsylvania Water and Power Company (8.86%). (Exhibit 5a).

In this connection it should be noted that the Commission knew (Ex. 189) that the depreciated fixed capital of the electric companies including write-ups was $937,928,906, and that the operating income alone was $86,779,697 or a 9.2% return; an excess over 7% of $21,124,674.00. At that time known write-ups amounting to $80,273,136.00 had been added to the depreciated fixed capital. When these write-ups are deducted the fixed capital depreciated becomes $857,655,770, and the rate of return becomes 10.11%, an excess over 7% of $26,743,793. This excess is a 7% return on an investment of $382,054,186, which is 45% of the depreciated fixed assets less write-ups.

According to Exhibits Nos. 2 and 12, calculated on the basis of the ratio of operating income to fixed Capital less construction work in progress, but including write-ups, a similar situation had been going on for the four previous years 1925-1928. These calculations did not allow for going value and working capital and did not include any part of the non-operating income.

The relationship of these calculations to those prepared for the Commission on 1928 earnings, where no allowance was made for going value, but an allowance was made for working capital and adjusted non-operating revenue was included, can be seen from the following comparison of the two exhibits for the larger companies:

	Exhibit 9 (P. S. C.)	Exhibit 12 (Committee)
Philadelphia Electric	8.57 Lower	8.84%
Erie County Electric	10.7 "	10.93
Luzerne County Gas & Elec..	9.04 Higher	7.75
Penn Central	7.35 "	7.11
West Penn	10.54 "	8.99
Penna. Power & Light	8.73 "	7.96
Penna. Power	12.95 "	11.20
Scranton Electric	14.16 "	10.92
Duquesne Light	9.99 "	9.31
Metropolitan Edison	8.48 "	7.79

On the Commission's original basis the returns are higher, in eight out of ten instances, than those in the Committee's exhibits for the same year. The Committee's exhibits may be taken as indicating conservatively that about a third of the companies were earning over twice a 7% return for the five years 1925-1929, even when an allowance for working capital is made. Calculations presented showed excess returns over 7% of $22,183,301 in 1925 and $21,300,280 in 1928. If adjusted non-operating income had been included the excesses would show more. Similarly if write-ups had been excluded the 1928 excess would show larger.

To the extent that the Commission has, without any questioning, allowed the utilities for five years running a return in the electric industry on a sum of over $300,000,000 which was never invested, they may fairly be said to have defeated regulation.

The essential figures were before the Commission in 1925 as of the year 1923. Here a still different basis is used, i. e., the ratio of the operating income to the book value of electric properties before deduction of depreciation reserves. This basis naturally shows a lower percentage than if the reserves had been deducted. Nevertheless the following overall returns were shown: (Exhibit 7)

Duquesne Light Company	11.34
Edison Light and Power Comany (York)	12.47
Erie County Electric Company	9.73
Erie Lighting Company	9.07
Philadelphia Electric Company	8.15
Scranton Electric Company	14.07
United Electric Company	16.18
Penn Central Light and Power Co.	11.71
Keystone Power Corporation	8.89
Edison Electric Company (Lancaster)	10.23
Honesdale Consol. Light Heat & Power Co.	12.36
Annville & Palmyra Electric Light Co.	14.72
Gettysburg Electric Co.	18.18
The Clymer Power Company	26.52
Citizens Electric Company	11.68
Coalport Light, Heat & Power Co	10.41
Jackson Light, Heat and Power Co.	23.36
Tri-County Electric Company	16.92
United Light, Heat and Power Co.	12.13
Center Electric Company	13.62
Sewickley Township Power Co.	41.62

Similarly in 1928 a full compilation of earnings was before the Commission as of 1927 (Exhibit 8), showing many high returns.

It can be said that the Commission not only had before it annual reports but fairly regular accounting studies of earnings and nevertheless took no action.

The extent of excess earnings in the electric industry can be seen most clearly by an analysis of their reports for 1930, a year in which prices dropped considerably, and when the book value of depreciated fixed capital approached most closely to what an active Commission would find to be "fair value".

A summary of Exhibit 214 is presented, showing the ratio of adjusted gross income to depreciated fixed capital before and after write-ups are deducted from the latter sum.

The essential figures for 1930 (Class A and B Electrics, excepting the Pennsylvania Power Company, whose report had not been received by the Commission up to May 13, 1931) are:

Depreciated Fixed Capital Less Write-ups,	$936,274,926
Adjusted Gross Income,	97,403,658
Excess over 7% Return,	31,864.414
Capitalized Excess at 7%,	455,205,914
Ratio of Capitalized Excess to Depreciated Fixed Capital Less Write-ups,	48.62%

The significant fact is that in a year of low prices such 1930 the Commission allowed excess earnings close to thirty-o million dollars. To justify these it would have had to ant the companies allowances for going value, working pital and reappraisals amounting to 48.62% of the total, sum of $455,205,914. This sum would presumably be larger the Pennsylvania Power Company were included.

A similar situation apparently exists in the natural gas dustry. Adopting the Commission's rate of 7%, calculations ow excess earnings in 1926 of $7,626,665. In order to justify ch a return the Commission would have had to add the m of $108,952,357 to the depreciated fixed capital of the plant going value and revaluations, an increase of 87%. (Exit 110). After 1926 there were write-ups of $18,216 806. luding these write-ups and two companies showing deficits, se which made a profit show an excess over 7% of $6,843.-6. In order to justify such a return the Commission would have had to add the sum of $97,769,371 to the depreciated fixed capital of these companies, an increase of 79%.

In regard to natural gas companies, water, telephone and other companies, the Commission apparently has made no surveys at all.

Some appreciation of the significance of these high earnings can be had from a study of the average costs per KWH in five other states, the Province of Ontario and the District of Columbia. Classifying cities into five groups according to size the Pennsylvania average costs were higher in 19 cases and lower in 6. (Exhibit 25)

The Commission has allowed the utilities to do about as they pleased, even when that meant complete disregard of the Commission's orders. An illustration is afforded by the Clark's Ferry bridge, not far from Harrisburg itself. In 1925 citizens complained of the 25 cent toll, and the Commission ordered the bridge company to limit its revenues to $85,905 a year. In 1926 the company exceeded the allowed revenue by $32,813, in 1927 by $36,903, in 1928 by $49,594. Citizens again complained, but the Commission remained inactive in the face of this disregard of its orders over a three year period. In 1929 the company earned $55,653 in excess, and in 1930 $44,399 in excess. During these various years the Commission allowed overcharges totalling $209,580. In addition to this the Company kept its books during these years in a way forbidden by the Commission. In spite of the fact that disobedience of the Commission's orders by a utility is supposed to be punishable by a fine of $50 a day, the Commission has taken no action in any of these matters. The case is finally before the Commission again, with the Commission in the embarrassing position of finding itself guilty of negligence if it decides in favor of the consumers.

Further indifference to the conduct of utilities supposedly under its control can be seen in the Quaker City Cab company sale. In 1929 the P. R. T. applied to the Commission for approval to purchase this company through the Yellow Cab Co. It was refused. Nevertheless the Yellow Cab Company proceeded to operate the Quaker City Cab Company without the Commission's approval. This was a matter of common knowledge in Philadelphia and no attempt at concealment of the situation was made, yet in 1931 Commissioner Benn of Philadelphia testified before both House and Senate hearings that he was unaware and that the Commission was unaware that its orders had been flouted.

Further illustration of the disregard in which the utilities hold the Commission can be seen from the financial transactions of the Penn Central Light and Power Company. A merger was attempted in 1925 whose main purpose was to give the stockholders of the new company five and a half million dollars in bonds. The Commission, as it was then constituted, refused to permit any procedure so harmful to the Company. The Company then agreed to sell the bonds for cash. This was done. The membership of the Commission then changed, and on February 28, 1926 the Penn Central retired 28,640 shares of its common at $52 above the actual book value of $87, namely at $139. The result of this took $3,950,000 out of the company and put it into the pockets of the National Electric Power Company. This was the result which the original Public Service Commission had attempted to stop, and had stopped successfully. The later Commission allowed it without any attempt to stop it.

The Commission has also apparently looked very closely at the letter of the law when that favored the utilities. In 1926 the Penn Public Service Corporation asked permission to buy the stock of the Solar Electric Company, a Company which the Borough of Brookville was interested in condemning for its own use. The Commission refused permission to the Penn Public Service. The company then got around the refusal by having an individual named Taylor buy the stock of the Solar Electric. He assigned it to the Pennsylvania Electric Company. The Penn Public Service thereupon changed its name to the Pennsylvania Electric Company and took over the properties it had been forbidden to buy before. The money was furnished to Taylor by the Associated Gas and Electric the holding company of both the Penn Public Service and the Pennsylvania Electric. While it was perfectly transparent that the whole transaction was a subterfuge, the Commission did not in any way act to block the thwarting of its intent.

The same situation arose in the case of the Penther Valley Electric Company, which was bought by individuals acting for the Lehigh Power Securities group. The Commission had no power to deal with the purchase price at that time, but it could deal with it when the matter came before it at the time of the merger of the company with the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company. At this time it did neglect to consider the matter.

V

VALUATION PRACTICES

The evidence shows that the Public Service Commission has during the post war era of high prices used the reproduction cost method of valuation to the limit and has given comparatively little regard in important rate cases to other elements of value.

In valuation cases the general practice has been to refer the case after argument to the Bureau of Engineering with directions to analyse the testimony and prepare a draft of a report for the Commission. The evidence, however, shows that the Bureau has not been given a free hand in arriving at valuations.

The valuation methods of the Commission in four cases were analysed by Roy Husselman, of Cleveland, Ohio, an outstanding engineer who has had long experience in valuation matters. His testimony was supplemented by that of members of the Commission and its engineers.

From this testimony it appears that the policy of the Bureau of Engineering has been to attempt to arrive at results desired by the Commission. This appears clearly from the record and testimony in regard to the Luzerne County Gas and Electric case. In this case a valuation conference of all parties arrived at an agreement in regard to the value of the physical property with the exception of a few items. The case was referred to the Assistant Chief of the Bureau of Engineering for the preparation of a report in which the value of the electric property was fixed at $4,000,000. This evidently was not satisfactory to the sitting Commissioner as such a valuation would not sustain the existing rates. Among the items in dispute was a piece of property used for coal storage which the company valued at $43,650. The Bureau of Engineering fixed a value of $13,500. The sitting Commissioner wrote the Assistant Chief as follows:

"My dear Ehlers: I do not know what your method will be of increasing the figures of Fair Value but it occurred to me that you might be able to justify a higher estimate on a few of the items of physical property upon which the engineers did not agree. For instance: Is there no way of escape in eliminating all of item c in Fair Value? Were there not some conditions perhaps involved which slightly differentiate it from other cases upon which the Commission has ruled? Could not item d be lifted eight or ten thousand? How about item h, might that not allow a little stretch of ten thousand? In j is your position correct that the claim is substantially comprehended in Going Concern, etc.?

"These questions are asked not in the way of criticism, but with a view of helping you or rather of making me feel that I did not desert you and made you carry the whole burden without giving the case any further thought. You may have discovered a better line of approach and found some line of cleavage that will help you through the mire: * * * * *".

(Ex. 149) As a result of this letter the value of the land was increased to the amount claimed by the Company. A number of other increases were also made, resulting in a fair value of $4,800,000 as compared with $4,000,000 originally found by the Bureau.

Dr. Snow, when examined in regard to increasing the valuation of the land, testified as follows:

"Q. Here is a case, is it not, where on the matter of valuation of lands used for coal storage, the Chief of the Bureau of Engineering submits a report in which he puts a value of $13,500 on it, and a member of the Commission writes to him and asks him to jack it up?"

"A. Yes".

"Q. Is that not a plain case where the Bureau of Engineering has felt it its duty to do what the Commission wants in a matter within the province of the Engineering Bureau?"

"A. Yes".

(2997-2998) He further testified:

"We don't fix the value on land, but we do what our masters tell us * * * *".

"Q. Who are your masters?"

"A. The Public Service Commission who hired us." (3003)

The records and testimony of this and other cases indicate that valuations are some times fixed in order to produce a predetermined revenue. In the Luzerne County Gas and Electric case a work sheet was produced from the records of the Bureau of Engineering containing a series of calculations as to what percentage a certain revenue would be of various rate bases. Dr. Snow testified:

"Q. Does that not indicate to you that the attempt was to find a valuation which justified certain revenue?"

"A. It looks very much so, figuring backwards." (2992)

The records in the Scranton Spring Brook Water case showed similar calculations.

In the Clearfield Water case a memorandum was found in the work sheets of the Bureau of Engineering giving a formula by which the fair value was found: "From the foregoing the Bureau suggests the fair value of $628,978 derived by using the Bureau's estimate of fair book cost figure of $383,-950.03, and the reproduction new less accrued depreciation figure $751,491.54 and giving double weight to the latter." This formula, however, was not used in all cases and would have produced a much lower valuation in the Scranton Spring Brook Water case than that actually found by the Commission.

In the Scranton Electric case the testimony showed that the Bureau of Engineering in arriving at the reproduction cost of the property priced different classes of property on entirely inconsistent bases. This valuation was made in 1930 at a time when prices were materially lower than in the previous years. In some cases actual cost was used though the property had been purchased as far back as 1921, in others spot prices, but in the case of copper a two or three-year average price was used, resulting in a price of over 13c a pound although the price of copper at the time of the valuation was approximately 10c a pound.

An interesting example of the Commission's methods of valuation is afforded by the Scranton Spring Brook Water case decided by the Commission on December 9, 1930. The evidence discloses the following facts:

In 1917 the Spring Brook Water Company applied to the Commission for a certificate of valuation. This was entirely an ex parte proceeding. The Bureau of Engineering recommended a valuation of $16,000,000. The Commission adjourned for lunch while a motion to adopt this valuation was pending. After lunch the Commission met and fixed the value at $17,000,000 though no reason for this increase appears in the minutes. The resolution of the Commission fixing the valuation provided: "The valuation is not made nor to be considered as a basis for rate making purposes." This valuation was based on an inventory and appraisement known as the Downs Report.

In September 1927 the Spring Brook Water Company was acquired by the Pennsylvania Water Service Company, a subsidiary of the Federal Water Service Company of New York. Immediately a complaint against its rates was filed by Messrs. Gillis and Tobias. Charles W. Loveland, Esq., a prominent citizen of Wilkes-Barre, intervened in the complaint. In November 1930 the Company prepared a new tariff increasing its rates. Notices of the increase were printed and ready for distribution, but at the last minute the rate increase was withdrawn as the Federal Water Service Company was in the process of acquiring the Scranton Gas and Water Company which it desired to merge with the Spring Brook Water Company.

Early in January 1928 Chairman Ainey persuaded Mr. Loveland to withdraw his complaint. This was done on January 9th, on which day the purchase of the Scranton Gas and Water Company by the Federal Water Service Company was announced.

The Spring Brook Water Company and the Scranton Gas and Water Company were then merged with Commission approval without notice to Mr. Loveland as his complaint was no longer pending.

Following the merger a new tariff, largely increasing the rates except in the case of very large consumers, was filed effective July 1, 1928.

Before the effective date of the new tariff numerous complaints were filed, placing the burden on the Company to justify the new schedule.

In December 1928 the Commission issued a temporary order reducing the new rates by approximately $245,000.

The respondents claimed a fair value of $58,000,000. The complainants fixed the value at approximately $25,450,000,

Evidence was introduced that the money invested in the property amounted to approximately $24,286,000.

After argument the case was referred by the Commission to the Bureau of Engineering for an analysis of the evidence and the preparation of a tentative report. The Bureau of Engineering, under date of June 30, 1930, submitted a report finding the total reproduction cost new of the physical property, including additions and betterments since the date of the inventory, was $34,253,659, to which were added construction overheads in the amount of $6,418,113 and working capital and intangibles (cost of financing, going concern value and water rights) in the amount of $11,949,292, a grand total of $52,621,064. Depreciation reduced this figure to $50,642,378. This report was referred back by the Commission to the Bureau of Engineering for revision. In July 1930 the Bureau submitted a proposed Commission report increasing the reproduction cost new of the physical property to $35,765,858 but decreasing the grand total less depreciation to $47,065,460. The principal change made was the elimination of $4,000,000 of water rights as an intangible and the addition of approximately $1,500,000 to real estate to cover water rights. The Commission referred this report to a committee consisting of the Chairman and the two sitting Commissioners for further revision. This revision of the valuation consisted in eliminating approximately $1,200,000 of the value of the water rights and arbitrarily increasing a number of classes of property, both new and depreciated, by round lump sum figures ranging from $30,000 to $874,953. The net effect was to increase the total value of the physical property both new and depreciated by $813,386 and to decrease the overheads and intangibles by $855,715, resulting in a reproduction cost new valuation less depreciation of approximately $46,952,000.

This report, which would have sustained the temporary rates, was approved by the Commission on August 26, 1930, subject to minor revisions of phraseology which the Chairman was directed to make.

Counsel for the Commission was not in accord with the form of the report and considered the valuation too high, and serious dissensions developed within the Commission itself, with the result that the action approving the report on August 26th was rescinded. On December 9, 1930, a revised report was approved by the Commission, two Commissioners dissenting. This differed from the August report in that it eliminated $400,000 from the value of real estate, decreased construction overheads by approximately $798,000 and decreased working capital, cost of financing and going concern value by approximately $1,132,000, leaving a reproduction cost new less depreciation of $44,651,459. From this the Commission deducted approximately $1,000,000 and found a fair value of $43,650,000, resulting in a small cut in the temporary rates.

It appeared from Chief Snow's testimony that he had been in direct charge of the Bureau's valuation and that the only water engineer in the Bureau had done practically nothing in the case. Chief Snow was examined at length and admitted that he had used the valuations of the Downs Report in spite of the resolution of the Commission in 1919 that this report should not be used for rate making purposes. It further appeared that although he and two other engineers of the Bureau had originally agreed on a common labor rate of forty cents an hour, he had subsequently jacked this up to fifty cents an hour, the figure claimed by the respondents. This made a difference of $4,500,000 in the valuation.

The Chairman of the Commission and the two sitting Commissioners were examined at length but could give no rational basis for the lump sum alterations made in the valuations. In every case their only answer was that it was a matter of judgment.

It is noteworthy that the net result of the changes finally adopted from those in the original report of the Bureau of Engineering was to increase the total reproduction cost of the physical property by slightly less than $2,000,000, to decrease the construction overheads by slightly less than $1,000,000 and to decrease the working capital and other intangibles by nearly $7,000,000.

The original cost of the property did not enter into the determination of its fair rate at all, though the report states: "Nevertheless, the Commission has given careful consideration to such evidence of original cost as can be included as an element in determining fair value of the existing property." Commissioner Young testified as follows:

"Q. What consideration did you give to the original cost?"

"A. I don't think it entered into the determination of fair value at all, for the reason it was not complete, but we considered it because it was evidence of the original cost, but in our consideration we could (not) place any reliance on it because it was not complete."

Commissioners Young and Brown admitted that it was error in increasing the value of classes of property to add the same lump sum to reproduction cost new and reproduction cost new less depreciation. They also admitted that no allowance had been made for depreciation of the property subsequent to the date of the inventory though the full cost of additions and betterments ($1,340,888) had been included.

The attitude of the Commission toward going concern value will be dealt with separately. The testimony makes it evident that the Commission has no clear idea as to what the item represents and has used abitrary figures such as 10% or 20% of the value of the physical property to cover the item. Commissioner Young testified: "My own judgment is that the dominant element in determining the going concern value is the cost of attaching the business." (Page 3410) In the Scranton Spring Brook case, however, he used a going concern value of $2,600,000 without any evidence of the "cost of attaching the business".

VI

REGULATION VIEWED BY UTILITY LEADERS

The fact that the utilities are under no active regulation was brought out by utility executives. Henry L. Mitchell, President of the West Penn Power Company, testified that the Commission had never taken up the company's rates (p. 4249). This is one of the companies which had high earnings. J. H. Shearer, President of the Penn Central, admitted that there had been no rate cases or valuations of the company for 10 or 12 years (p. 3828-9.) Asked, "Do you know of any act taken by the Public Service Commission that has controlled either the cost of the line or of the rate paid or put in your territory?" He replied, "No, sir" (p. 3845), and went on to say that the utility would have carried on as it has done if there had been no Commission (p. 3846). The following examination of F. R. Phillips, President of the Duquesne Light and Equitable Gas Companies is illuminating:

Q. You are entitled to have a seven per cent return?

A. We may be entitled to have a great deal more than that. Who fixed the rate at seven per cent?

Q. The Public Service Commission.

A. I think not. There is no law restriction as far as seven per cent is concerned.

(BY MR. EVANS)

Q. The law does not restrict you to seven per cent, but it has been the universal custom of the Public Service Commission to fix it at that figure?

A. May I have that question again?

Q. (Read by reporter.) The Law does not restrict you to seven per cent, but it has been the universal custom of the Public Service Commission to fix it at that figure.

A. I don't know, I don't know that it has been the custom.

Q. Then you are informed in regard to it?

A. I am informed perhaps as much as anybody else on that particular question.

Q. I ask you to produce to this committee where the Public Service Commission in the last ten years has allowed a greater return than seven per cent?

(BY MR. RHODES)

Q. Is it correct for us to assume that your theory is, that as the utility head of all of these companies, you think you can get any return you desire?

A. No, you are going to extremes.

Q. What is your conception of a proper return?

A. First, to maintain the property in the highest possible physical condition, to insure the very best quality of service that can be rendered, and second, rates that will be attractive in order to maintain the integrity of the property and to protect the investment of the investors and produce a high credit rating, whatever it is, whether one per cent or fifty per cent or twenty per cent. Economic law will determine that, not civil law.

(BY MR. EVANS)

Q. The Public Service Commission has always held seven per cent was a fair return?

A. Not to my knowledge. Mr. Evans, will you please show me where the Public Service Commission at any time has declared that seven per cent is a fair return.

Q. In every case in which they make an order.

A. Will you give me a case?

Q. Philadelphia Rapid Transit, Philadelphia Electric, Luzerne Gas, Metropolitan Electric and Gas.

A. Is that the limit, seven per cent? Is the order limited to seven per cent?

Q. It is.

A. That is news to me.

Further evidence of the attitude of the utilities toward the Commission was shown during the course of the hearings. A bond issue of over $100,000,000 was floated by the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company, and traded in on the market long before any certificate of notification was filed by the company with the Commission.

VII

REGULATION VIEWED BY COMMISSIONERS

All members of the Public Service Commission were invited to appear before the Committee. Chairman Ainey and Commissioners Benn, Young and Brown accepted, and gave their views on certain aspects of regulation.

All stated that changes in the law were needed and two agreed that the Commission had been negligent in certain respects.

Admittedly the Commission has never exercised its powers in regard to security issues. No attempt has ever been made to prevent the misapplication of the proceeds of securities nor has any case of violation of the law ever been certified to the Attorney General as authorized by the Public Service Company Law. The Chairman suggested that such inaction was in line with opinions of former Attorney General Woodruff and Deputy Attorney General Wells given in 1925 in regard to the Conowingo development, but these opinions were merely to the effect that the Commission had no power over the issuance of securities and did not touch on its power over securities in other ways. (Exhibit 157). There was general agreement that the Commission should be given power to control the issuance of securities by utilities.

It was also admitted that the Commission prior to 1930 practically never exercised its power to file complaints in the matter of rates. A careful search of its records by the Commission revealed only two such cases from 1920 to 1929 inclusive. One of these was the Clark's Ferry Bridge case and the other an unimportant gas case involving a service charge. It later appeared that the Clark's Ferry Bridge case was instituted by the Commission pending the determination of a complaint filed by a rate payer, so that it is not properly a case where the Commission acted on its own motion. Commissioner Young doubted the wisdom of the Commission so acting as a matter of general policy.

It also appeared from the testimony of the Commissioners that no effort was made to prevent the very large write-ups of the properties of certain utilities on their books. Commissioner Young at first claimed that such write-ups did not influence rates but later modified this. Analyses made by the Bureau of Accounts of the annual reports of electric companies going back as far as 1925 and showing that certain companies were earning many times 7% on the depreciated book value of their properties led to no investigation or action on the part of the Commission until its Electric Rate Committee was formed in 1930. No satisfactory explanation was given as to why this Committee selected certain companies for investigation and omitted others showing higher rates of return. Rate reductions were secured from several small companies. The Scranton Electric Company was the only large one that reduced its rates. It reduced its tariffs in November 1930 claiming a reduction of $750,000 a year, but even after the reduction appeared on its own claim to be earning 11 on the depreciated book value of its property including a write-up of $5,000,000. It is significant that the investigation of the Scranton Electric Company took place just at the time when the Federal Trade Commission disclosed its exorbitant profits, although the Pennsylvania Commission had had the facts before it for years without action.

A report of the Bureau of Accounts in August 1928 showed that this Company on a fixed capital of $17,330,000 in 1927 had a net income of over $3,000,000 out of which it paid preferred dividends, dividends on common stock of 48%, a transferred $1,659,000 to surplus. Commissioner Young did n think this was much indication that the rates were too hi

The failure of the Commission to make effective use of t utilities' annual reports appeared also in the fact that in sp of repeated statements that the Mitten Management fee approximately $1,000,000 a year would not be allowed as operating expense of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co pany, this fee had clearly been included by the Company its annual reports from 1926 on. Commissioner Benn sta he examined these reports regularly but denied that th indicated the fee was included although they showed a 40 increase in General Officers' salaries and expenses (alm the amount of the fee) from 1925 to 1926. The Compa promptly admitted the fact.

The inertia of the Commission was also shown by the f that it has allowed the Yellow Cab to operate the Qua City Cab Company for more than three years without Co mission approval though the fact that such operation w frankly admitted by the Vice-President of the Yellow C Company in a case heard by three Commissioners in 19

The Commissioners pointed out that they had been hampe by inadequate appropriations with a resulting insufficie of personnel though the records show a marked increase personnel since 1925 (Exhibit 182). Two members of t Commission have been physically unable to function effectiv for some time.

In reply to the suggestion that the Commission favored t utilities Commissioner Young stated, "My observation has be that this Commission leans, if it leans any way at all, towa the public." (1087).

Both he and Commissioner Brown claimed that 75% of ra cases were decided in favor of the public against the ra roads and other utilities. The actual figures were later pr duced by the Commission for the years 1926-1930 inclus (Exhibit 160) and showed that this claim was true only railroad rates. In other cases only one out of three co plaints was sustained. In the case of railroad rates the Co mission is largely bound by the action of the Interstate Co merce Commission.

In addition to increased power over securities the Comm sioners were in general agreement that they should be giv power to suspend rates and that the excessive expense of ra cases to complainants should be met in some way. Comm sioner Young did not favor a peoples' counsel. Their vie on valuation are referred to in a prior section of this repo

VIII

REGULATION VIEWED BY THE BOROUGHS

Representatives of many municipalities appeared before t Committee to protest the present method and manner of reg lation of utilities in Pennsylvania, and expressed their la of confidence in the present Commission.

Mr. T. F. Chrostwaite, President of the Pennsylvania Sta Association of Boroughs, testified that there were approx mately 950 boroughs in the State and that there were 8 boroughs in the Association. The Association has be organized since 1909 and every year at their annual conve tion representatives of these hundreds of boroughs have be demanding the repeal of the Public Service Company law a the ousting of the Commission. (Testimony Page 256-25 He also stated that the boroughs felt that the wheels we greased for the increase of rates. (Testimony Page 262).

Mr. Chrostwaite was followed on the stand by all of the representatives of these different boroughs and nearly eve witness expressed his municipality's lack of confidence in t Commission. They stated that they felt there was no use taking their cases before the Commission, (Page 339), th they never got any satisfaction from the Commission, (Pa 379), that there was no use in filing a complaint before t Commission, (Page 408). The boroughs would have be better off to have saved the money spent in protesting bef this Commission (Page 302). The people cannot get just before the Commission. The cards are stacked against th people before the Commission. The Commission deals w the utilities. There are some of the hundreds of expressio made by the people against the Commission. Not one rep sentative of all these boroughs praised the Public Serv Commission.

Mr. Chrostwaite, the President of the Boroughs Associati testified that the average cost of rate cases to the municipa was $10,000. Quite a number of the boroughs testified as to the money they spent in fighting the utilities before the Commission. These sums ranged from a few hundred dollars to as high as $280,000. A number of the boroughs testified that when the utilities increased the rates in their municipality the boroughs did not file a complaint because they could not afford to enter into litigation and attempt to get justice for the consumers.

The consumers of the Scranton-Spring Brook area incurred expenses of approximately $250,000 in their rate case and the final decision is still in the future. No municipality can safely contemplate a rate case unless they are prepared to spend a minimum of $25,000 to establish their case. Added to this expense is that of the utility. The company attempting to justify the increase in rates must also employ expert engineers and accountants. They must also make a complete inventory of their plant. They must also employ experienced counsel to represent them. The average cost of a rate case to a utility is $25,000. The Federal Water Company has spent about $800,000 in the rate case effecting the Scranton-Spring Brook area. An examination of the records of the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission will show that the utilities have spent with an open hand in their attempts to establish their new rates. And why should they be conservative at a time like this? The consumer will be obliged to pay it all back. The expenses incurred by the utility in fighting the rate case are amortized over a period of years and added in as an operating expense, see Exhibit No. 180. This means, therefore, that the consumer must not only pay his share of this rate case, but he must also pay the company's share. Once this amount is permitted to go in as an operating expense, it is in there until the next rate case comes along. The Public Service Commission has never made an effort to see that the utility removes this amount from their operating expenses, or operating account at the conclusion of the amortization period.

Commissioner Young and Commissioner Brown, when they appeared before the Committee, admitted that the Commission never made any effort to see that the amount so amortized was not included as an operating expense at the termination of the amortization period.

The Committee had a specific case of this in the Conewago Gas case. The Borough of Hanover won the case. The Public Service Commission permitted the Conewago Gas Company to amortize the sum of $10,500 over a period of three years, or $3,500 a year. The decision was in 1918 and the citizens of Hanover are still paying this additional $3,500 a year.

IX

RATE OF RETURN

The attitude of the Commissioners on this point is a fair indication of how little the cost of money is given importance in determining the rate of return. The Commission had before it in 1928 a report of its Bureau of Accounting, showing that the Scranton Electric had earned over 100% on its common stock in 1927. Commissioner Young stated that this would not be very much indication that the rate of return was too high (p. 983).

In this situation it is interesting to note the returns on the actual investment in common stock (usually held by holding companies) as the larger electric utilities reported them to the Commission (Exhibit 212):

Company	Per Cent. of Par or Stated Value Common Stock
Bradford Electric Company	11.23
Chester Valley Electric Company	83.14
Duquesne Light Company	22.69
Edison Electric Company	42.59
Edison Light and Power Company	56.67
Erie County Electric Company	15.44
Erie Lighting Company	41.98
Keystone P. S. Co.	46.61
Luzerne County Gas and Electric Corp.	13.63
Metropolitan Edison Company	17.35
Northern Penna. Power Company	33.55
Pennsylvania Power and Light	25.72
Penn Central Light and Power Co.	34.59
Pennsylvania Electric Company	7.38
Pennsylvania Water and Power Co.	11.87
Philadelphia Electric Co.	14.35
Scranton Electric Co.	34.14
Susquehanna Power Company	7.81
West Penn Power Company	22.49

Just what a proper rate of return is has never been decided. In the Bluefield case (Bluefield Co. v. Public Service Commission 262 U. S. 679 seq. (1923)) the Supreme Court of the United State said: "A public utility is entitled to such rates as will permit it to earn a return on the value of the property which it employs for the convenience of the public equal to that generally being made at the same time and in the same general part of the country on investments in other business undertakings which are attended by corresponding risks and uncertainties; but it has no constitutional right to profits such as are realized or anticipated in highly profitable enterprises or speculative ventures. The return should be reasonably sufficient to assure confidence in the financial soundness of the utility and should be adequate, under efficient and economical management, to maintain and support its credit and enable it to raise the money necessary for the proper discharge of its public duties. A rate of return may be reasonable at one time and become too high or too low by changes affecting opportunities for investment, the money market and business conditions generally."

The money market has for several years indicated that investors were content to put their money into utility investments at a rate bringing under 7%. Recent bond issues of Pennsylvania utilities indicate that the mjority of the money necessary can be raised at 5% or under.

The above list of returns on actual investment in common stocks seem to indicate that the decision concerning the lack of constitutional right to "profits such as are realized or anticipated in highly profitable enterprises or speculative ventures" has been disregarded to a large extent. Some of these returns are, in 1930, much higher than profits taken or earned in non-regulated industries.

It is a very serious question whether the rate of return allowed should not bear a slightly closer relationship to the cost of money actually paid for utility purposes.

X

GOING VALUE

The Courts have sometimes held that the utilities may be allowed to capitalize a certain sum called going value, even though it represents no investment in cash, property or services. What this sum should be, or what relation it should bear to the rest of the property is uncertain.

It is significant to note that in making up its tentative rate bases for 1929 (Exhibit 10) the Commission allowed every electric company, regardless of its individual situation, a flat 10 per cent addition to depreciated fixed capital. This meant an addition of over $93,000,000 to the industry's rate base. (Exhibit 189). These 10% allowances were on the top of write-ups. If a company was written up $20,000,000.00, the Commission would automatically add a further $2,000,000.00 in order to arrive at the tentative rate base.

What this allowance is for is uncertain. Commissioner Young held (p 3414) that it was in the nature of "getting going" costs, to take up the lag in starting a business. He cited the case of the Nakomis Water Company in which there was no evidence of lag and consequently no going value (p 3414). However, in the Scranton-Spring Brook case there was also no evidence of lag and yet the Commission allowed, first $3,300,000.00 and then $2,600,000.00 for going value.

In the case of the Matamoras Water Company v Public Service Commission, 86 Pennsylvania Superior 152, the Court held that there should be no allowance for going value representing a lag in earnings without definite proof of such lag.

In the preparation of a case, on the Commission's own motion, in regard to the rates of the Scranton Electric Company, the Engineering Report allowed $2,000,000. The engineer on the case (Black, p. 3073) said there was no rule for going concern value. In the report the sum was computed "after observation of the territory, its prospects and growth and development, it is a recognition of the economic worthwhileness of this utility property to serve in comparison with unregulated business undertakings in this area served." He admitted that it was essentially arrived at through "pure judgment" (p. 3078).

In a memorandum submitted to the Committee by Dr. Snow (Exhibit 165) he attempted to define going value as a thing used by and useful to the rate-payers. He enumerated adequate service, efficient management, sound financial condition as component elements of going value, and then added further "the type and stability of the community served which reflects the permanency of earnings and encourages efficiencies and economies which would not be undertaken under unsettled conditions." This is simply another way of stating the practice used in the Scranton Electric case by the Department of Engineering. It amounts to allowing a utility to capitalize the growth of the community where it is located and to collect a return from the consumers on that sum.

XI

WRITE-UPS

The significant fact about the write-ups is that they did not begin to take place in earnest until the year 1927, although the era of high prices began with the war and continued through the 20's fairly steadily.

In the water industry the write-ups in Class A and B companies were: (Exhibit 191)

1927	$4,684,255.85
1928	21,961,390.01
1929	3,776,219.62
	$30,421,865.48

Essentially the same development took place in the electric industry.

The write-ups by years in class A and B companies were: (Exhibit 190)

1925 (and prior)	$16,044,370.76
1926	4,526,529.74
1927	17,504,476.37
1928	36,434,505.06
1929	5,485,789.28
1930	33,331,850.68
	$113,327,521.89

That these write-ups influenced the Commission can be seen by the fact that in its computations as to excess earnings for both 1928 and 1929 it included the full amount of the write-ups, with the result that the rate of return appeared lower than it was on book figures before the write-ups were included (Exhibits 9 and 10). The actual result of these write-ups was to keep the Commission from examining the rates of utilities which had written-up their books to a large extent. Although the bases on which these write-ups were made were not checked in any way by disinterested authorities, they were accepted by the Commission at full value. Thus Commissioner Young expressed the opinion that when an appraisal was written on the books of the company "it is pretty good indication of what their earnings are and a fair value of their property" (p 985).

Some of these were arbitary write-ups, based on ex parte appraisals and probably influenced by the fact that the Commission was allowing large earnings and that the property could consequently be capitalized at a higher figure, following the practice of unregulated industries.

(a) Accountant's Report to Federal Power Commission proposes to eliminate $6,387,731 as amounts representing no property or labor.
(b) Includes write-ups on 1928 and 1930 purchases only.
(c) Amount shown in Federal Trade Commission's Letter to the Senate No. 22, Page 318, Public Service Commission Accountant's Report shows Increase of Appraisal over Book Value $4,450,197.80, Page 15, Complaint Docket 8273-1930.

Some of them were put on the books through the more elaborate manipulation of having a second, affiliated company purchase the stock of a series of small companies at highly speculative prices, and then sell them to the operating company, which wrote them on its books at the purchase price far above the actual money invested in the plant and equipment itself. These were not transactions at arm's length.

This practice, involving most of the $113,000,000. of write-ups in the electric industry is important, not only because the Commission has by allowing these write-ups on the books, been influenced to overlook companies having high returns on actual investment, but because in case the investment basis is ever adopted the utilities are furnished with a possibility of making these indirect write-ups a definite part of the rate base, instead of a speculative investment.

Many of the utilities reported the value of their fixed assets to the Department of Revenue for purposes of the State capital stock tax at a much lower figure than they reported their fixed capital less reserves to the Public Service Commission for purposes of rate-making.

The following figures, from Exhibit 107, show the differences:

Company	Fixed Capital less Reserves (P. S. C. Report)	Actual Value Fixed Assets (Capital Stock Tax Report)	Ratio of Fixed Capital Reported to P. S. C. to Actual Value of Fixed Assets on Capital Stock Tax Report
Bangor Electric	$ 133,767.03	$ 70,125.36	190.7

C. S. Mitchell, controller of the Duquesne Light Company, admitted the write-up of $24,315,326 (p. 4438) in 1927, reduced to $22,428,146 in 1929, and that this sum was sworn to in the capital stock tax report as "intangibles arising from restatement of the book value of the property", and deducted on that basis. He stated that he thought there was one fair value for tax purposes and another fair value for rate-making purposes (p. 4461).

A significant illustration of the influence of these write-ups may be seen in the testimony of Mr. Sheppard and Mr. Cremer from Hanover. The Hanover-McSherrystown Water Company had written up its fixed capital by $241,755.68 in 192— (Exhibit 191). In 1930, at the time of a considerable water shortage, the witnesses interviewed Chairman Ainey. Mr. Cremer's testimony follows (p. 2293):

"We went over to see Mr. Ainey; I wired him for an interview; and the testimony of Mr. Sheppard is substantially what had taken place. We asked him whether it would be possible for us to put in our water system. He said 'That will not be allowed'. He said 'Of course, I can't make it rain, but—'. He says, 'I can order the water company to build an impounding dam,' he says, 'which will add to your capital structure, which will revert back to you people in increased water rates,' and that was all that we had from him, and we said 'Good-morning'."

Here the Commission clearly took the position that the write-up of $241,755 was part of the base on which rates were to be determined, and that any actual investment on top of it involved increased rates.

XII

SECURITY ISSUES

The disregard of its power over security issues by the Commission has resulted in a lack of protection for the investors.

In the following cases this appears clearly.

1. In the case of the Penn Central Light and Power Company the Commission, after having exercised its power to prevent the common stockholders, the National Electric Power Company, from taking $5,500,000 in bonds from the company, allowed the common stockholders to accomplish the same purpose by taking approximately $4,000,000.00 in cash derived by the company from the sale of these same bonds to the public. A summary of this transaction follows:

During 1925 National Electric Power Company through its subsidiary United Lighting Company of Albion, Erie County, Pennsylvania, acquired the Penn Central Light and Power Company. The name of the United Lighting Company was subsequently changed to Penn Central Light and Power Corporation and this name was then changed to Penn Central Light and Power Company.

On an agreement dated September 30, 1925 both common and preferred stock of the old Penn Central Light and Power Company were to be exchanged share for share for common and preferred stock of the new Penn Central Light and Power Company, and the new owners of the common stock were to receive $5,500,000.00 of 5½% first refunding bonds series 1925. The Public Service Commission refused to approve this agreement and in a supplementary agreement, dated October 27, 1925, the original agreement, dated September 30, 1925 was changed in that the new owners of the common stock were not to receive the $5,500,000.00 in bonds. The Public Service Commission on October 27, 1925 approved this acquisition.

The $5,500,000.00 in 5½% bonds were sold, the Michigan Holding Company handling the issue at 88½, the Penn Central Light, Heat and Power Company receiving $4,867,500.00 in cash to be disposed of as follows (according to Certificate of Notification No. 3978):

Temporary Investments	$4,500,000.00
Capital Additions	367,500.00
	$4,867,500.00

The $4,500,000.00 was temporarily invested in 6½% demand notes of the National Electric Power Company.

On February 28, 1926 the Penn Central Light and Power Company cancelled 28,640 shares of its common stock for $3,980,960.00. The temporary investments disappear from the balance sheet of the company. Thus in effect a large part of the proceeds from the bonds issue of $5,500,000.00 was used to reduce the investment of the new owners of the common stock, The National Electric Power Company.

Certificate of Notification No. 3978, sworn to by Mr. C. B. Zeigler, Treasurer of the Penn Central Light and Power Company, states:

"The proceeds of said bond issue to be held in the corporate treasury to be invested temporarily until such time as they are required for proper capital purposes of the corporation."

This was not only a violation of the order of the Commission but of the purpose stated on the Certificate of Notification.

2. In the case of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company the Commission permitted a large write-up in the fixed capital assets over original book value of these assets in mergers of considerable size in 1928 and 1930. The profit, if any, in these mergers is hidden in the books of the holding company, the Lehigh Power Securities Corporation, which Corporation owned or controlled the companies sold and the buying company. These write-ups totalling $43,462,591.27 in the two years, became the principal basis for a bond issue of $121,000,000 in 1931 and if these write-ups eliminated the equity of the preferred stock, now outstanding and mostly in the hands of the public, is greatly impaired. A summary of this situation follows:

In 1928 the fixed capital assets of underlying companies were brought on the books of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company at a net increasd valuation over the books of the underlying companies of.....	$29,750,291.10 and in 1930 of	13,712,300.17
Total	$43,462,591.27

At March 31, 1931 this company is issuing $121,000,000.00 4½% First Mortgage Bonds and after this issue there will be outstanding $131,000,000.00 in Bonds (including $10,000,000.00 6% Gold Debentures).

A bond circular of this company dated February 28, 1931 shows:

Plant and Investments	$208,605,328.38
Reserve	17,060,917.30
	$191,544,411.08

The report to the Public Service Commission on this company at December 31, 1930 shows:

Total Fixed Capital	$204,484,311.23
Reserve for Renewals and Replacements	15,061,032.86
	$189,423,278.37
Taking the greater valuation	191,544,411.08
And deducting the increase in the book value of fixed capital assets	43,462,591.27
The net is	$148,081,819.81
Deducting from this outstanding bonds	131,000,000.00
The equity left for Preferred Stock is	$17,081,819.81
And there was outstanding December 31, 1930 uneffected by this refinancing Preferred Stock with a stated value of	$45,478,604.00
The preferred stock equity in fixed capital assets will be	$28,396,784.19
Less than its stated value.

3. The Williamsport Water Company case is a further example of the Commission's failure to exercise its power of control over the application of the proceeds from the sale of securities.

The details of this transaction are:

Community Water Service Company after paying approximately $3,899,276.00 for an equity of $2,322,725.00 as of June 30, 1927, then proceeded after writing-up the fixed capital of its subsidiary, the Williamsport Water Company to reimburse itself out of the treasury of the subsidiary company to the extent of $3,071,880.00, which funds were secured from the public by the sale of $3,329,700.00 in securities, which without the write-up in the assets, did not have sufficient equity to guarantee them.

4. The Clear Springs Water Company case is one where the Commission through not exercising its power over security issues allowed a holding company, the Federal Water Service Corp., to take from a subsidiary company more in cash and securities than the actual investment of the holding company in the subsidiary. A summary of the transactions showing the financing in this case follows:

According to a statement and certified copies of minutes of the Pennsylvania Water Service Company, which is also owned by Federal, (secured from Securities Commission) the total investment of Federal in this company was $571,681.75. They secured in cash and discounted cash value of preferred stock $750,200.00 in this refinancing, or $178,518.25 more than their original investment in the company. In addition they now have as before 100% of the outstanding common stock which now has a stated value of $88,000.00.

Certificate of Notification states that the purpose of the bond was as follows:

"To provide cash for the Corporate purposes of the Company." "See Journal entries attached."

Without a write-up of $400,949.86, this company could not have issued the bonds and preferred stock, as the fixed capital assets excluding the write-up amounted to only $663,563.52 at December 31, 1928. The bonds issued amounted to $650,000, and the preferred stock $220,000, or a total of $870,000. The equity of the bond and preferred stock holders depend entirely upon the question as to whether or not this write-up can be sustained as the money from the bonds and the preferred stock went out of the company to Federal, but the company is loaded with these liabilities which are interest bearing.

The result of the transactions is that Federal got out of the company more cash than they put in and still have 100% of the common stock which is the voting stock. The public through the purchase of securities supplied the money and these securities were issued after the fixed capital assets were written up 60.42% of their former value.

5. In the Pittsburgh Suburban Water Company case the Commission again stood by, exercising none of its power over securities or the disposition of the proceeds thereof, and allowed Federal Water Service Corporation to use the proceeds of security sold to the public to reduce its investment in the subsidiary. A summary of the transactions in this case is set out in the following paragraphs:

This company's fixed capital assets were written up $400,107.50 or 16.78% during 1928 and $700,000 in bonds were issued March 16, 1928, covered by Certificates of Notification No. 4863 on file with the Public Service Commission. There was also issued on March 16, 1928, according to Certificate of Notification No. 4866, $116,000 in bonds, and on August 9, 1928, Certification of Notification No. 4988, $56,000.00 in bonds. The proceeds from the two latter issues, the par value of which totals $172,000 was used to reacquire bonds of a previous issue having a par value of $172,000. This company had a $1,000,000 bond issue dated January 1, 1904, maturing July 1, 1954 which was not retired in this refinancing.

The old common stock of this company, all of which was owned by Federal Water Service Corporation, was exchanged for 5000 shares of No Par Preferred Stock having a stated value of $500,000 and 11000 shares of No Par Common Stock having a stated value of $1,155,000. At the same time 6000 shares of the new common stock was retired, Federal getting $630,000 in cash which practically took all of the cash received from the $700,000 bond issue, covered by Certificate of Notification No. 4863. This Certificate of Notification stated that the purpose of this bond issue was as follows:

"To provide cash for the Corporate purposes of the Company, see journal entries attached."

This refinancing was done for the benefit of the common stockholder, Federal Water Service Corporation, who received $630,000 in cash and $500,000 in preferred stock issued at $89.50 a share or a discounted value of $447,500 making a total net amount of 1,077,500 Federal's original investment in this company, according to data on file with the Securities Commission, amounting to $1,482,273.03, was reduced to $404,773.03 as a result of this refinancing. The company now has to pay 5% annually on the $700,000.00 bond issue for which it got practically nothing and 5.5% annually on the $500,000 stated value of preferred stock, all of which went to Federal and the public through purchase of the bonds supplied the company with the money and through the purchase of the preferred stock permitted Federal to reduce their investment further. Federal now has common stock having a stated value of $525,000 which cost it $404,773.03.

6. The Jersey Shore Water Company is another example of the failure of the Public Service Commission to exercise control over the use made of the proceeds from a security issues This company, through a write-up, was enabled to issue bonds amounting to $450,000 to the public, realizing $405,000 in cash. Then through an exchange of stock, the stated value of the common stock was increased $404,960.00 more than the old par value of the common stock and at the same time the shares represented by this increase of $404,960.00 were retired and the cash representing all but $40,000 of the proceeds from the bonds was paid out of the common stock, both before and after these transactions. The purpose of this bond issue, according to the Cetificate of Notification No. 4848 was as follows:

"To Provide cash for corporate purpose of Company. See Journal entries attached".

The Journal entries clearly indicated how the proceeds were to be used, yet no action was taken by the Commission.

7. The case of the Citizens Water Company, Phillinsburg, Pa., is another example where the Public Service Commission failed to exercise control of the proceeds from security issues. In this case preferred stock having a stated value of $100,000.00 was issued by the company to the holding company and the subsidiary did not receive any of the proceeds of this issue. The stock was given to the old common stockholder, namely Federal Water Service Corporation, in exchange for the old common stock and in addition, the holding company received $23,579.00 in cash and 100% of the new common stock of the company.

By this refinancing the holding company reduced its investment in the subsidiary from $137,500.00 to $25,421.00, still retaining complete control of the subsidiary company. Certificates of Notification No. 4955 and 4856 indicated clearly what took place but no action was token by the Commission.

8. In the case of the Chester Water Service Co again involving the Federal Service Corp. as the holding company. the Commission allowed the holding company to reduce its investment greatly, by taking cash from the sale of securities to the public. The details of this transaction follow:

This company's fixed capital assets were written up 39.80% during March 1928, in the amount of $1,514,508.71

The fixed capital assets exclusive of this write-up at December 31, 1928 was $3,805,333.76 yet bonds in the amount of $3,000,000 and preferred stock having a stated value of $1,200,000 or a total of $4,200,000 were issued during March 1928, and it can be readily seen that these securities could not be issued without the write-up. Not one cent of the proceeds from these securities was left in the company.

The holding company, namely Federal Water Service Corporation, owned all of the common stock of this company. This common stock consisting of 22,500 shares having a par value of $50 a share or a total par value of $1,125,000 was exchanged for 12,000 shares of no par value preferred stock having a stated value of $1,200,000 and 552,000 shares of no par common stock having a stated value of $2,760,000. At the same time 540,000 of the 552,000 shares of no par common stock just issued was retired by paying Federal $2,700,000 in cash, which was the amount received as proceeds from the $3,000,000 bond issue just issued. The preferred stock was turned over to Federal on a basis of $89.50 per share which apparently represented the cash Federal would receive from the sale of this stock to the bankers, or a net amount of $1,074,000.00.

The result of these transactions was to reduce Federal's investment $3,774,000 and the corporation itself did not retain any of this money, the entire amount going to Federal, yet the corporation has $4,200,000 in obligations requiring annual dividend of 6% on the preferred stock of $1,200,000 and 4½% in interest on the $3,000,000 of bonds. This resulted in the shifting of most of Federal's investment on to the public and Federal before and after these transactions own 100% of the outstanding common stock which has full voting powers.

9. The Clymer Water Service Co. is still another case of where the Commission by negligence is not exercising its power over the issuance of securities and proceeds derived therefrom, permitted the holding company, the Federal Water Service Corp., to reduce its investment by the misuse of the proceeds from the sale of securities. The transactions in this case follow:

Fixed capital assets were written up 64.30% or $239,830.17. Bonds having par value of $350,000 were issued. The old common stock consisting of 3600 shares of $50.00 par value having a total par value of $180,000.00, all owned by Federal Water Service Corporation, was exchanged on March 15, 1928 for 1500 shares of no par preferred stock, having a stated value of $100.00 per share or $150,000.00 and 12,177 shares of no par common stock having a total stated value of $359,221.50. At the same time 10,677 shares of this new no par common stock was retired by paying from the $315,000.00 proceeds from the bond issue $314,971.50 in cash.

The purpose of the bond issue of March 15, 1928, according to the Certificate of Notification No. 4852, was as follows:

"To provide cash for Corporate purposes of Company, see Journal entries attached."

The entire proceeds of this bond issue with the exception of $28.50 was paid out to Federal, their control before and after the refinancing remained unchanged, as they owned 100% of the outstanding common stock before and after these transactions. In addition they received preferred stock having a stated value of $150,000 which was exchanged on a basis of $90.50 a share or a discounted value of $135,750.00. Federal's original investment in the company, according to data on file with the Securities Commission was as follows:

Cost of old Common Stock	$360,000
Cost of Notes retired	50,000
Total investment	$410,000

The discounted value of the preferred stock of $135,750.00, plus the cash received upon the retirement of the new common stock of $314,971.50 or a total of $450,721.50, resulted in Federal getting out of this company $40,721.50 more than they put in. In addition to this profit they still own all of the outstanding common stock of the company, having a stated value of $44,250.00.

The fixed capital assets of this company at December 31, 1928 exclusive of the write-up of $239,830.17, was $372,992.72. It is very apparent that the bond issue of $350,000.00 and preferred stock issue in the amount of $150,000.00 could not have been issued if consideration was given to the usual safety margin for investors without including the write-up.

10. The Punxsutawney Water Service Co. is another example of the failure of the Commission to protect the investors in public utility securities in Pennsylvania. The transactions pertaining to this refinancing are set forth in the following paragraphs:

The fixed assets as shown by the annual report for the year ended December 31, 1928 was $105,948.82. The annual report for 1927 showing comparative balance sheets of this company at January 1, 1927 and December 31, 1927 shows under heading of "Appropriated Surplus" at January 1, 1927 an account called "Other Surplus Reserves for Adjustment of Plant Valuation" $75,161.95. This indicates a previous write-up was made prior to Janury 1, 1927 in this amount. During 1927 this amount was credited to "Corporate Surplus Unappropriated" which at January 1, 1927 showed a deficit of $19,941.48, thereby changing the deficit to a surplus of $69,640.35 at the end of 1927. The total write-up as shown by these reports would therefore be the sum of $105,948.82 and $75,161.95 or $181,110,77.

Bonds having a par value of $500,000.00 were sold, the company receiving $450,000.00 in cash. This $450,000.00 was paid to Federal for the retirement of 4,500 shares of a total of 6,000 shares of new no par value common which was received in exchange for the old common stock held by Federal.

The Certificate of Notification No. 4850 filed March 14, 1928 covering this bond issue stated under the purpose of the issue as follows:

"To provide cash for the Corporate purposes of the Company. See Journal Entries attached."

As stated heretofore the entire proceeds were paid out by the company to the Federal Water Service Corporation.

11. The Hanover and McSherrystown Water Company case is a further instance of where the Commission through failure to exercise its powers in the control of the security issues allowed the holding company to misuse the proceeds of the sale of securities to the public. The details of this case follow:

During the year 1926, the common stock of Hanover and McSherrystown Water Company was purchased by North American Water Works Corporation, which company, in 1927, turned the stock over to its subsidiary the Keystone Water Works and Electric Corporation.

At the time of purchase by North American the Hanover and McSherrystown Water Company had outstanding a total $620,000.00 of First and Refunding 6% Bonds and 10-year 6% Gold Notes.

On March 1, 1927 after the Company was purchased by North American, it put out an issue of $350,000.00 of 10 year 6% Gold Notes the proceeds of which, according to Certificate of Notification, were to be used to retire the $70,000.00 10 year 6% Gold Notes previously issued and "for other proper corporate purposes".

The issue of $350,000.00 was sold at 90% and $224,835.00 of the proceeds were used to retire 3,459 shares (Par value $172,500.00) of common stock of the Company held by Keystone Water Works and Electric Corporation at $65.00 per share.

The premium of $15.00 per share or $51,885.00 was charged to Unappropriated Surplus, thereby creating a deficit of $60,146.37 at December 31, 1927.

During the year 1928 the entire issue of $350,000.00 of 6% Gold Notes was retired by borrowing money on current notes payable.

12. In the Gettysburg Water Company case the Commission permitted the holding company to misuse the proceeds from the sale of securities to the public. These transactions are set forth in the following paragraphs:

During the year 1927 the entire capital stock of this company was purchased by Keystone Water Works and Electric Corporation, a subsidiary of North American Water Works Corporation.

After purchase by the Keystone, the Company's fixed assets were written up $193,117.16, said amount being credited to Capital Surplus.

After the above write-up was put on the books the Company proceeded to declare a dividend of 170% or $178,500.00 on its capital stock. Of this dividend $174,341.45 was charged to Capital Surplus and $4,158.55 was charged to Unappropriated Surplus.

In order to secure the funds to pay this dividend the company issued $200,000.00 First Mortgage 5½% Gold Bonds, which were sold at 89½% receiving $179,000 in cash.

Thus in effect the proceeds from the bonds, sold to the public, were used to reduce the investment of the holding company.

13. The merger of various water companies into the Scranton Spring Brook Water Service Company is another example wherein the use of the proceeds of security issues created a hardship for both the investors and rate payers. This merger was approved by the Public Service Commission and no action was taken by the Commission with respect to the securities issued in connection with this merger.. The property and credit facilities of the Scranton Division of this company was used to secure money to buy out the old common stockholders resulting in a write-up in the value of the fixed capital assets of approximately $13,000,000 00. The Wilkes-Barre division of this company was owned by the Federal Water Service Corporation and was brought on the books of the merged company at approximately $4,000,000.00 more than carried on the old company's books.

Fixed annual interest charges on bonds outstanding amounted to $586,250.00 before the merger whereas after the merger the bonds, gold notes and preferred stock annual requirement was $2,016,925.00, or an increase of $1,430,675.00. Two months later this company filed a new schedule of rates which the company estimated would result in additional revenues of $1,500,000.00 or approximately the increase of the fixed annual interest and preferred stock dividend requirements, although at the time the securities were issued in connection with the merger, statements were submitted by the company showing that the revenue was sufficient to meet the requirements of these securities. The merger therefore was apparently responsible for the rate case and the rate case is apparently necessary to secure additional income to keep the securities from becoming worthless. In other words the merger and financing incident thereto which according to testimony was supposed to produce economies for the benefit of the consumers in reality created an additional burden for the consumers. Regardless of how the rate case which has been appealed to the Superior Court is decided, either the consumers or the investors are going to suffer as a result of the merger and financing.

14. The failure of the Commission to act in case of write-ups in property values will react as a hardship either to investors or to the rate payers who will have to pay on these higher values.

The Metropolitan Edison Company case is one in which an apparent profit of approximately $19,000,000.00, as a result of a sale of one holding company's interest to another holding company, is being brought on the books of this operating company as an appraisal, notwithstanding the fact that practically all of the property prior to this appraisal was carried on the books of this company at appraised values and these values were recorded during the period of high prices.

This write-up will in addition to cutting down its per cent. of overall return, also enables the utility to issue further securities based on these new values.

The rate payers should not be burdened with these higher values and the investors should be protected from such inflation. The operating company's property value did not increase as a result of the change in ownership of the controlling company and although investigation should have been made to determine the propriety of these values nothing was done by the Commission up to May 1, 1930.

The Commissioners' defense in regard to their inactivity, which amounted to negligence in not protecting the investing public has been the claim that the Commission has no power over the issuance of securities. In support of their stand, Chairman Ainey produced an opinion, dated 10-2-25, by George W. Woodruff, then Attorney General, as set forth in the House Investigating Committee Hearing, Exhibit No. 157, which states in part:

"It is apparent that the Legislature did not intend to make Commission approval a condition precedent to security issues. The requirement of the law is met if a certificate of notification fully responsive to all the questions contained in the Commission form is tendered for filing, accompanied by the statutory filing fee.

Commissioner Benn in his testimony stated that at the time the Public Service law was before the Legislature, a very serious omission was made in not giving the Commission power over the issuance of securities by public utilities companies. The only power the Commission has of an affirmative nature is the one in connection with the filing of the cetrificate of notification, which is negative and indefinite (p. 204-5).

Commissioner Young, when interrogated about the power of the Commission stated that he was in favor of giving the Commission the right to pass on securities before they are issued, which they do not have now (p. 1049).

The Act provides that the Commission shall not issue securities except for certain things but he had no knowledge of any cases in which the Commission conducted an investigation. He had no knowledge of the Commission making any investigation of the Clarion River case (p. 1101-2).

Commissioner Brown stated in his testimony that the only proceeding in his judgment that could be taken by the Commission, is to certify cases of issuance of fictitious securities to the Attorney General. This the Commission had not done in any case since he had been a member of the Commission (p. 1153-4).

If such cases were certified to the Attorney General, it might have the effect of making companies more careful about issuing securities.

Chairman Ainey stated in regard to the Commission's power in the issuance of securities and particular in regard to the Gettysburg Water Co. case referred to before, that he did not recall any action that the Commission took as to the issuance of $200,000 of bonds to pay dividends on the common stock of Gettysburg Water Company for the reason that the Commission was advised by the then Attorney General (Mr. Woodruff) and Mr. Philip Wells, Deputy Attorney General, that it had no jurisdiction over the issuance of securities (p. 1191).

The provision in the Public Service Act is not broad enough to protect the public and there ought to be, in the minds of the Commission, broader power lodged somewhere.

Chairman Ainey, however, answered in the affrmative the following question:

"An it further provides (Public Service Commission Law of 1913) in Section 5, Article 14, that every violation of the law in regard to securities may be certified by the Commission to the Attorney General, so that in view of that fact, it is within the power of the Commission, where the proceeds of securities issued are wrongfully used, to certify the matter to Attorney General"?

So it is evident from the above statement, that in the opinion of the Chairman of the Commission, it was within the power of the Commission to take the steps necessary to right the wrong done by the public utility companies in the misuse of funds obtained through the sale of securities to the public, and thereby serve warning that the teeth that were in the law were being used.

Judge George W. Woodruff, when called, explained that his pinion in the Canonwingo case cited by Chairman Ainey, referred solely to the power of the Commission over the issuance of securities, and did not touch on the question of its power over securities after they had been issued. He illustrated the extensive powers of the Commission with regard to securities by reference to the following provisions of the Public Service Company law:

Section 7, Article 16, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which states that no corporation shall issue stocks or bonds except for money, labor done, or money or property actually received; and all fictitious increase of stock or indebtedness shall be void.

He also cited the following from the Act of 1913:

(Article 2, Section 1, Clause L.). It shall be the duty of every public service company to account or report to the Commission for the disposition and application of the proceeds of all sales or purchases of all securities.

(Article 3, Section 4). It shall be lawful for any public service company to issue securities for, and only for, money, labor done, or money or property actually received; all fictitious increase of securities issued in violation of this subsection shall be void.

(Article 5, Section 14). The Commission shall have the power on its own motion, or upon complaint to institute any inquiry or investigation to determine whether any public service company has issued any securities in violation of the provisions of this Act, and if so, to report the same to the Attorney General for such legal proceedings as he shall deem necessary.

(Article 5, Section 15). The Commission may require a public service company to establish a system of accounts whereby the Commission will be kept thoroughly informed as to the matter in which the company is applying the proceeds of such security issue.

(Article 5, Section 22). The Commission shall have full power and authority to require public service companies to account to the Commission for the disposition and application of all sales of all securities.

(Article 6, Section 33). When the Commission shall be of the opinion that any public service company is violating ,or is about to violate, any provision of this Act, the Commission may institute, in the name of the Commission, in the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County appropriate legal proceedings.

(Article 6, Section 35-36). If any public service company has violated any of the provisons of this Act, it is subject to a fine of $50.00 per day for each day's continuance of the violation.

(Article 6, Section 37). Any officer of any public service company, who shall knowingly affix his name to any securities issued in violation of this Act, or to any false statement in the Certificate of Notification, he shall be subject to a fine not exceeding $5,000.00, or a jail term not exceeding five years —either or both.

(Article 6, Section 38). Any officer, agent or employe of a public service company who shall knowingly make a disposition of any securities, or the proceeds of the sale of any securities contrary to the purposes set forth in the Certificate of Notification; or who shall knowingly make or assent to any false statement in any report to the Public Service Commission, shall be subject to a fine not exceeding $5,000.00, or a jail term not exceeding five years—either or both.

It is evident from the foregoing paragraphs that the Commission has failed to use its powers over security issues in regard to protecting the investing public and that the public utility companies, particularly those owned or controlled by large foreign holding companies, were allowed to issue and dispose of securities practically unhampered in any way by the regulatory body that was supposed to control them to the best interests of the investors and rate payers.

XIII

PROBLEMS OF HOLDING COMPANIES

During the past years almost all of the electric industry, the natural gas industry and a large part of the water industry has gone into the control of holding camponies. Their existence involves problems of financing and management fees which have not yet been adequately met.

Some of the effects of the holding company transactions have been discussed under the heading "Security Issues".

The operating expenses in the electric industry in 1929 amountd to $112,332,275 (Exhibit 189) and in all the other intra-state utilities to $266,064,455, a total of $378,396,730. Management fees approximating 2½% of gross revenues, and increasing every year in amounts were discovered, which had never been questioned by the Commission. In view of the fact that a larger part of the consumers' dollar goes to operating expenses than to payment on capital claims it is important that any practice of imposing flat fees, without proved justification for them, should be examined most closely by a regulating body. Evidence was introduced (May P 1955) from the Federal Trade Commission record to the effect that fees paid by the Lehigh Power Securities group had given the holding company a profit of 106% over costs.

In the 8 cent fare case in 1925 the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. withdrew the Mitten Management fee as an item of operating expense and agreed that it should be paid out of return to the stockholders. In 1926 the 8 cent fare was finally established by order of the Commission, and the annual report to the Commission of the P. R. T. for that year shows an increase in salaries and expenses of general officers from $264,118 to $1,176,610. Commissioner Benn testified (p. 1217) that he examined the annual reports of P. R. T. but that he did not infer from them that the Mitten Management fee had been included in the 1926 report. On being questioned, the company frankly admitted the inclusion of that fee to be a fact (p. 1237). This fee, which amounts to 2% of the gross revenue, has been included in operating expenses ever since, without objection from the Public Service Commission.

The entrance of holding companies into Pennsylvania has not been an unmixed blessing, and a regulatory body should be more alert to question the claims of advantages and economies coming from mergers and changes in control. In the Scranton-Spring Brook sale huge fees were paid to promoters, lawyers and engineers, which were then entered on the books as overhead costs to be paid for by the consumers. Officials of the Associated Gas and Electric system in Pennsylvania admitted that they were only dummy directors, and needed New York accountants to explain some of the financial transactions undertaken by that company.

A notable illustration of the indifference of a holding company to the welfare of the community affected was given in the testimony of Mr. King, Superintendent of the Hanover-McSherrystown Water Co. (p 2322-53) and of Mr. Bishop, divisional manager of the Keystone Water Works (p 2510-16). Both of the witnesses made it clear that the local utility was not officially operated by the holding company.

XIV

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

The problem of securing electrical facilities for the farmers of the State has been under discussion for many years. Mr. Rau, engineer, stated that in his opinion not more than 17% of the actual dirt farmers had such service (p. 2827). He held that lines could be built at a cost of approximately $1,100 per mile.

Mr. Round, district manager of the Pennsylvania Power Co. stated that lines can be built in sparsely settled districts for $1,000 a mile or less, with proper co-operation from the consumers (p 4695). He cited one instance where line costs were only $808 per mile. Mr. Richards, of the Committee, testified to low minimums in the New Castle district. Mr. McNair, Burgess of Middletown, furnished an estimate for a mile of first class rural line, with five transformers, at $947.41 per mile before rights-of-way and overheads.

At present, under Commission Order 28, the farmers have to guarantee a minimum of from 21% to 24% a year on the cost of the line as reported by the company. This makes the rates for small users very high. It was pointed out that low rates enduce larger use while high rates tend to discourage it.

This problem of service electrically to the agricultural districts without penalizing the consumers for beginning costs is one which might well be given further study.

XV

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

At the present time municipalities have no power to condemn electric light plants (Solar Electric Company's Appeal 290 Pennsylvania 156). The power to condemn water and gas plants after twenty years, at original cost plus 10% per annum, less paid dividends, is given by the Act of 1874 P. L. 73, Section 34, Clause 7, but in practice is not satisfactory in its operation. The write-ups in the water company field not only make it difficult to determine original cost for purposes of regulation, but also for purposes of condemnation.

While the low bonding limits permitted to cities and boroughs are probably the most effective deterrent to municipal ownership of utilities, there is some testimony to the effect that the Commission's attitude has been hostile to the use of powers given under the Act of 1874. Mr. Harper D. Sheppard testified as follows (P 2288-9):

Q. Did he explain what he meant by saying that he would not allow the city to put in its own system?

A. Oh, no, "That I will not allow".

Q. That was Chairman Ainey said that to you in his office?

A. We saw only him, no other member of the Public Service Commission, and my testimony can be corroborated through Mr. Cremer.

Testimony was offered by Chairman Atwill of the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities to the effect that there were 30 to 40 municipal gas and electric plants in Massachusetts and that their existence was helpful to regulation (P 4155). After citing certain low municipal rates he said:

"It is very helpful because a private company says, we cannot sell around five cents, and you naturally are able to turn to them and say, you ought to be ashamed of yourself.

Q. When you speak of 4½c. you mean the top step.

A. The maximum,—you ought to be ashamed of yourself, you have been telling me that a municipal plant was inefficient, filled up with politics, and you with all your experience and with an absence of politics, cleanliness, elaboration, cannot make 5c. We cannot understand it. Of course, it is helpful; it makes the private owner ashamed that he cannot approach the public owner".

Mr. Husselman, engineer, testified to the same effect concerning Ohio. He said (P 3131-2):

"We do not have many rate cases in Ohio, except for some few telephone and natural gas cases. We hardly ever have an electric rate case, because the cities of Ohio have home rule. The Constitution of the State of Ohio provides that every municipality may own and operate a municipal plant. The municipal councils of the cities of Ohio are the fundamental rate-making bodies. They can pass an ordinance fixing and establishing the rates that any utility company may charge for service. If the company accepts that rate it becomes a contract and a binding contract for the period of the ordinance. If they choose not to accept it they can appeal to the public utilities commission. Then they have a rate case. Very seldom is there a case going to the Federal Court out of the utilities commission. We haven't had a large electric rate case to my knowledge for a good many years, because,—I am saying this with knowledge, the municipalities have found that competition was a better regulation than the commission, and the threat of competition is as good a regulation as they need, and if the municipal authorities find that they are paying too high a rate, in place of making a rate case before the commission, they propose to build a municipal plant, and, by the way, the Constitution of Ohio also provides that this plant may be financed by the sale of mortgage bonds, which are not a liability upon the taxpayers, which are over and above the limit of indebtedness prescribed by law".

Officials of some of the larger municipal light plants in Pennsylvania testified before the committee. Mr. Mowrey, Manager of Utilities of Chambersburg, stated (P 2074-2100) that the borough had a total budget of $306,813 and produced by revenue from taxation only $44,082. The difference is covered by the profits made from the light and water plants. The profit from the electric light plant in 1930 was $134,101, after operating expenses and depreciation had been deducted and after free light and power to the extent of $36,637 had been furnished to other departments of the city. The rates run from 7.2 cents to 3.6 cents for lighting and the average domestic light charges, according to Mr. Mowery, are 5 cents per kwh.

The Borough Manager of Aspinwall, Mr. Lea (P 2297-2321), stated that the budget of $100,000 was practically all covered by the profits of water and light departments, amounting to about $88,000. The rates are 6 cents after discount for the first 800 kwh.

The Borough Manager of Ellwood City, Mr. Monroe, testified (P 1985-2007) that the borough sold domestic light at a rate of 5 cents per Kwh., and announced new rates as of June 1st of 5 cents for the first 30 Kwh. and 4½ cents for the next Kwh. On top of the low rates a profit of $71,563 was made in 1930.

The Burgess of Middletown, Mr. McNair, testified (P 2100-2123) that the borough bought its power from the Metropolitan-Edison for one cent per kwh. and sold it to domestic consumers for 6.4 cents and less, and on top of these low rates made an annual profit between $20,000 and $30,000, after deductions for sinking fund appropriations.

XVI

BUSSES

It is evident from testimony that it has been the policy of the Commission to grant bus routes to the subsidiaries of the railroads, notably of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Under this policy the growth of territory alloted the Pennsylvania General Transit Corporation, controlling the Grey Hound Lines, has been rapid. It is significant that the number of revenue passengers carried by independent operators in competition with the subsidiaries of the railroads declined (Ex. 122) in 1929 over 1928, while those carried by the subsidiary bus companies increased. The passengers carried by subsidiaries of street car companies also increased heavily in 1929 over 1928.

The policy of the Commission in Philadelphia of giving preference to the P. R. T. bus lines involved the loss of a well-established business and financial disaster to one independent bus operator, whose testimony was heard by the Committee.

The Committee was too pressed for time to enter into prolonged consideration of wisdom of those policies.

XVII

POLITICAL AND PROPAGANDA ACTIVITY

A number of the utility officials who appeared before the Committee testified that they had taken an active part in politics or had made political contributions to the Hemphill campaign in 1930, although they had not been in the practice of making such contributions previously. There was also evidence of political activity on the part of the railroads and utilities in certain localities such as Altoona. The difficulties of obtaining direct testimony of such political activities are almost insurmountable, as the witnesses having first had knowledge of the facts are usually employes of the utilities or dependent upon the utilities either directly or indirectly. It is notable that A. B. Millar, Esq., Managing Director of the Pennsylvania Electric Association, testified (p 4083-4) that he had no knowledge of any influences brought to bear on legislation by the utility companies, although it is common knowledge that almost every other line of business has its representative appear before committees of the Legislature, and there is nothing objectionable in this practice where everything is open and above board.

The evidence before the House Committee showed that the utilities had operated through a "Committee on Public Information", which was composed of the leaders of the different utilities in Pennsylvania. The Chairman of the Committee was J. S. S. Richardson of New York City. The Committee used various methods to accomplish its objectives. One method was to subsidize a course in one of the colleges of Pennsylvania. The Committee would prepare the course, write the lectures, edit the books used, and pay the professors teaching the course. The attempt here was to instill in the minds of the college students the advantages of privately owned utilities over government ownership of utilities. These courses were installed in Temple University, University of Pennsylvania and State College.

Surveys were made which considered the rewriting of textbooks used in the elementary grades dealing with economics and civil government. The utilities employed educators to make a complete survey of all textbooks in the elementary schools of Pennsylvania relating to these two subjects. All textbooks that were advantageous to the utilities were appuroved—those that contained passages relating to the advantages of government ownership or to the unfair practices of certain utilities were placed on a black list. The utilities then made an effort to have these textbooks, to which they objected, eliminated from the elementary schools. Sub-committees, composed of officials of utilities in every district in Pennsylvania, were held responsible for the elimination of these textbooks in their particular locality.

The leaders of the public utility interests in Pennsylvania, who appeared before the House Investigating Committee, regularly admitted that they did not approve of the practices and policies of this Committee on Public Information, and that they, therefore, abandoned all endeavors to educate the school children of Pennsylvania along public utility lines.

It is a significant fact that this Committee carried on this propaganda very actively until the Federal Trade Commission's investigation exposed them.

XVIII

PROCEDURE AND APPROPRIATIONS

The field over which the Commission has some degree of control has increased so largely during the past decade that it may very seriously be questioned whether control of taxicabs should not be turned back to the cities and boroughs. The other alternatives are increased appropriations or an arrangement, such as the one in Massachusetts of having the utilities pay a certain amount of the expenses incurred in regulating them.

It should be noted that the Commission has not had the full-time service of all its members, some of them being absent for considerable periods.

One of the regrettable aspects of the situation is that the State cannot compete with the utilities in matters of salary. A considerable number of men formerly on the staff of the Commission have gone over to the utilities.

Evidence before the Commission indicated that the Bureau of Accounting and Statistics had kept the Commission well and accurately informed as to the state of the utilities under regulation, as far as personnel allowed. The evidence presented by the Bureau of Engineering, regarding its activities, however, was of a very different character and quality, and left much to be desired.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. JOSEPH F. M. BALDI. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1458, Printer's No. 1135, entitled:

An Act to amend the first paragraph of section three hundred eight of an act approved the eleventh day of July, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws, nine hundred ninety-eight), entitled "An act for the prevention and treatment of mental diseases, mental defect, epilepsy, and inebriety; regulating the admission and commitment of mental patients to hospitals for mental diseases and institutions for mental defectives and epileptics; governing the transfer, discharge, interstate rendition, and deportation of mental patients; providing for the payment by individuals, counties, or the Commonwealth of the cost of the admission, care, and discharge of mental patients; and imposing penalties."

on page 15, of today's calendar, bills on third reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of further consideration.

Mr. CHARLES C. A. BALDI. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

SPECIAL ORDER ON HOUSE BILL NO. 546

The SPEAKER. The hour of 9.15 having arrived the Chair lays before the House the Special Order fixed for this time House Bill No. 546, Printer's No. 1080.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 546, as follows:

An Act concerning elections including general municipal special and primary elections the nomination of candidates the registration of electors primary and election expenses and election contests imposing duties upon courts county commissioners registrars of vital statistics municipal officers school directors real estate brokers and rental agents imposing penalties for violation of the act and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the laws relating to general municipal special and primary elections the nomination of candidates the registration of electors primary and election expenses and election contests are hereby revised amended and consolidated as follows

ARTICLE I

PRELIMINARY PROVISIONS

Section 101 SHORT TITLE This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Election Law"

Section 102 DEFINITIONS The following words when used in this act shall have the following meanings unless otherwise clearly apparent from the context

(a) The word "election" shall mean any general municipal or special election unless otherwise specified

(b) The words "November election" shall mean either the general or municipal election or both according to the context

(c) The words "special election" shall mean any election other than a regular general or municipal election

(d) The words "primary" or "primary election" shall mean any election held for the purpose of electing party officers and nominating candidates for public offices to be voted for at an election

(e) The words "qualified elector" shall mean any person who shall be registered as an elector in accordance with the provisions of Article seven of this act and whose registration thereunder is in full force and effect

(f) The word "nomination" shall mean the selection in accordance with the provisions of this act of a candidate for a public office authorized to be voted for at an election

(g) The words "party nomination" shall mean the selection by a political party in accordance with the provisions of this act of a candidate for a public office authorized to be voted for at an election

(h) The words "independent nomination" shall mean the selection by an independent body of electors in accordance with the provisions of this act of a candidate for a public office authorized to be voted for at an election

(i) The word "candidate" shall unless the context otherwise requires include both candidates for nomination and election

(j) The words "public office" shall include every public office to which persons can be elected by a vote of the electors under the laws of this State

(k) The word "party" shall mean a political party as defined in section eight hundred and one of this act

(l) The words "body of electors" shall mean an independent body of electors as defined in Section eight hundred and one of this act

(m) The word "county" shall mean any county of this Commonwealth

(n) The words "county board" or "board" shall mean the county board of elections of any county herein provided for

(o) The words "election district" shall mean a district established in accordance with the provisions of this act within which all qualified electors vote at one polling place

(p) The words "polling place" shall mean the room provided in each election district for voting at a primary or election

(q) The words "district election board" or "election board" shall mean the election officers required to conduct primaries and elections in any election district in accordance with the provisions of this act

(r) The word "oath" shall include affirmation and the word "swear" shall include affirm

(s) The word "borough" shall include incorporated town

Section 103 CONSTRUCTION (a) The provisions of this act are severable and if any article section or clause of this act or part thereof is held to be unconstitutional the decision shall not be construed to affect or invalidate any other provisions of this act or the act as a whole It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provision not been included therein

(b) The provisions of this act so far as they are the same as those of existing laws are intended as a continuation of such laws and not as new enactments The repeal by this act of any act of assembly or part thereof shall not revive any act or part thereof heretofore repealed or superseded The provisions of this act shall not affect any act done liability or penalty incurred right accrued or vested or nomination made prior to the taking effect of this act nor shall they affect any suit or prosecution then pending or to be instituted to enforce any right or penalty then accrued or to punish any offense theretofore committed

Section 1003 FORM OF OFFICIAL ELECTION BALLOT

(a) The official ballots for general municipal and special elections shall be in substantially the following form

OFFICIAL BALLOT

.....District.....Ward City of.....
County of .....State of Pennsylvania
.....Election held on the .....day of .....19....
A Cross mark in the square opposite the name of any candidate indicates a vote for that candidate

To vote a straight party ticket mark a cross (X) in the square in the Party Column opposite the name of the party of your choice

To vote for an individual candidate of another party after making a mark in the party square mark a cross (X) opposite his name

For an office where more than one candidate is to be voted for the voter after marking in the party square may divide his vote by marking a cross (X) to the right of each candidate for whom he or she desires to vote For such office votes shall not be counted for candidates not individually marked

To vote for a person whose name is not on the ballot write or paste his name in the blank space provided for that purpose This will count as a vote without the making of a cross mark

A cross mark in the square opposite the names of the candidates of any party for president and vice-president of the United States indicates a vote for all the candidates of that party for presidential elector

To vote for individual candidates for presidential elector write or paste their names in the blank spaces provided for that purpose under the title "Presidential Electors"

(b) Any county city borough or township which has heretofore authorized and directed the use of voting machines therein by vote of its qualified electors taken under the provisions of the act to permit the use of voting machines for recording and computing the vote at all elections including primaries in any county city borough or township of the Commonwealth at the option of the electors thereof et cetera approved April eighteenth one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws five hundred forty-nine) shall continue to use voting machines for registering or recording and computing the vote at all primaries and elections hereafter held therein under the provisions of this act

Section 1103 PLACING THE QUESTION ON THE BALLOT ELECTION THEREON (a) The county board of elections may upon their own motion submit to the qualified electors of the county or of any city borough or township thereof at any general or municipal election the question "Shall voting machines be used in the (county city borough or township) of ....."

(b) The county board upon receipt of a request from the council of any city or borough or from the commissioners or supervisors of any township said request being evidenced by the filing of a copy of a resolution certified by the secretary or clerk of the council commissioners or supervisors or upon the filing of a petition with them signed by qualified electors of the county city borough or township equal in number to at least one per cent of the total number of electors who voted in said county city borough or township at the preceding general or municipal election but in no case less than fifty unless the total number of electors who voted therein at the preceding general or municipal election was less than one hundred in which case one-half of the number so voting shall be sufficient shall at the next general or municipal election occurring at least sixty days thereafter submit to the qualified electors of such county city borough or township the question "Shall voting machines be used in the (county city borough or township) of ....."

(c) The county board shall cause the said question to be printed upon the ballots to be used at the election in the form and manner provided by this act

(d) The election on said question shall be held at the places during the hours and under the regulations provided by this act for holding general and municipal elections and shall be conducted by the election officers provided by this act to conduct such elections The election officers shall count the votes cast at the elections on said question and shall make return thereof to the county board of the county as required by law Said returns shall be computed by the county board and when so computed a certificate of the total number of electors voting "Yes" and of the total number of electors voting "No" on said question shall be filed in the office of the secretary of the Commonwealth

(e) If a majority of the electors of any county city borough or township voting on such question shall vote against the adoption of voting machines the question shall not again be submitted to the electors of such political subdivision within a period of one hundred and three weeks

(f) Whenever under the provisions of this section the question of the adoption of voting machines is about to be submitted to the electors of any county city borough or township it shall be the duty of the county commissioners or other authority which levies taxes for county purposes in such county to ascertain whether current funds will be available to pay for said machines if adopted and purchased or whether they have power to increase the indebtedness of the county in an amount sufficient to pay for the same without the consent of the electors and if such current funds will not be available and the power to increase the indebtedness of the county in a sufficient amount without the consent of the electors is lacking it shall be the duty of the county commissioners or other authority aforesaid to submit to the electors of the county in the manner provided by law at the same election at which the adoption of voting machines is to be voted on the question whether the indebtedness of such county shall be increased in an amount specified by them sufficient to pay for such voting machines if adopted

(g) Whenever a referendum is about to be held upon the adoption of voting machines in any county city borough or township the county board shall purchase lease or borrow a reasonable number of voting machines for demonstration purposes in such county city borough or township prior to such referendum

Section 1104 INSTALLATION OF VOTING MACHINES (a) If a majority of the qualified electors voting on the question shall vote in the affirmative the county board of the said county shall purchase upon specifications approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth one or more voting machines for each election district of such county city borough or township of a kind or kinds approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and of sufficient capacity to accommodate the names of a reasonable number of candidates for all public and party offices which under the provisions of existing laws and party rules are likely to be voted for at any future primary or election and shall notify the Secretary of the Commonwealth in writing that they have done so The county board shall provide machines in good working order and shall preserve and keep them in repair Voting machines of different kinds may be used for different districts in the same county city borough or township

(b) Such voting machines shall be installed either simultaneously or gradually in political subdivisions which adopt them Upon installation of voting machines in any election district the use of paper ballots therein shall be discontinued except as otherwise provided herein

(c) If voting machines are installed gradually they shall be introduced in the case of counties in alphabetical order by cities boroughs and townships so that they will first be used in the city borough or township the name of which is first in alphabetical order and then in the city borough or township the name of which is next in alphabetical order and so on In cities boroughs and townships they shall be introduced in numerical or alphabetical order by wards and election districts if any so that they will first be used in the first election district of the first ward and then in the second election district of the first ward and so on After they have been installed in all the election districts in the first ward they shall be installed in the same manner in the second ward then in the third ward and so on In any event the machines shall be installed as rapidly as practicable after the electors have voted in favor of them

(d) If the queston hereinbefore provided shall have been submitted to the qualified electors of the county city borough or township and the majority of the electors voting thereon shall have voted favorably thereon and if the county board shall not within one year have executed their contract or contracts providing for the purchase or procurement of voting machines to be delivered in time for use at the next general municipal or primary election occurring at least one year and sixty days after the referendum then the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall forthwith in writing notify the said county board that after the expiration of thirty days he under the authority of this act on behalf of the said county will award make and execute such contract or contracts unless the said county board meanwhile shall have made and executed the same

(e) If upon the expiration of said thirty days the county board still shall not have made and executed the contract or contracts providing for the delivery of machines as aforesaid the secretary of the Commonwealth on behalf of the said county and upon the approval of the Attorney General as to form shall thereupon award make and execute a contract or contracts for the purchase or procurement of a sufficient number of voting machines approved as required by this act for each election district within each such county city borough or township and the cost of such voting machines including the delivery thereof and of making and entering into the said contract or contracts including the preparation and printing of specifications and all other necessary expense incidental thereto shall be the debt of the said county and upon the certificate of the Secretary of the Commonwealth it shall be the duty of the controller if any to allow and of the treasurer of the county to pay the sum out of any appropriation available therefor or out of the first unappropriated moneys that come into the treasury of the county

(f) Provided That if the county board or the Secretary of the Commonwealth as the case may be shall find it impracticable to procure a voting machine or voting machines for each election district of the county city borough or township for use at the general municipal or primary election then next ensuing they or he shall provide as many machines as it shall be practicable to procure and as soon thereafter as practicable shall provide the remainder of such machines required hereunder The machines shall be installed in the election district or districts in the manner provided for the gradual introduction of voting machines in paragraph (c) of this section

(g) Any county city borough or township adopting voting machines may by a majority vote of its qualified electors cast at any general election held not earlier than one hundred and three weeks after they have voted to adopt such machines direct the discontinuance of the use of voting machines at elections held in such county city borough or township The question for the discontinuance of the use of such voting machines shall be submitted to the electors in the same manner and subject to the same requirements as to petition and signatures thereon as is required for the submission of the question on the authorization of the use of such voting machines

(h) At the effective date of this act all voting machines and other primary and election equipment theretofore purchased and received by the county commissioners of any county shall forthwith be delivered to the county board of elections of such county for use under the provisions of this act In case at that time there is in any county an outstanding contract for the purchase of voting machines which has not been fully executed by the delivery of all of the machines called for thereunder the said contract shall forthwith be assigned by the county commissioners to the county board of elections In case at that time any county city borough or township shall have theretofore approved the adoption of voting machines under the provisions of the act to permit the use of voting machines for recording and computing the vote at all elections including primaries in any county city borough or township of the Commonwealth at the option of the electors thereof et cetera approved April eighteen one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws five hundred forty-nine) and the county commissioners of the county or the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall not prior to that time have entered into a contract for the purchase of voting machines for use in such county city borough or township to be delivered for use at the next ensuing primary or election it shall be the duty of the county board to proceed to purchase voting machines for use in such county city borough or township in accordance with the provisions of this act

Section 1105 EXAMINATION AND APPROVAL OF VOTING MACHINES BY SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH (a) Any person or corporation owning manufacturing or selling or being interested in the manufacture or sale of any voting machine may request the Secretary of the Commonwealth to examine the machine Any ten or more persons being qualified electors of this Commonwealth may at any time request the Secretary of the Commonwealth to re-examine any voting machine theretofore examined and approved by him Before any such examination or re-examination the person persons or corporation requesting such examination re-examination shall pay to the treasurer of the Commonwealth an examination fee of four hundred and fifty dollars The Secretary of the Commonwealth may at any time in his discretion re-examine any voting machine

(b) The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall thereupon require such machine to be examined or re-examined by three examiners whom he shall appoint for the purpose of whom one shall be an expert in patent law and the other two shall be experts in mechanics and shall require of them a written report on such machine attested by their signatures and the Secretary of the Commonwealth himself shall examine the machine and shall make and file in his office together with the reports of the examiners appointed by him his own report attested by his signature and the seal of his office stating whether in his opinion and in consideration of the reports of the examiners aforesaid the kind of machine so examined can be safely used by electors at elections as provided in this act If his report states that the machine can be so used the machine shall be deemed approved and machines of its kind may be adopted for use at elections as herein provided

(c) No kind of voting machine not so approved shall be used at any election and if upon the re-examination of any voting machine previously approved it shall appear that the machine so re-examined can no longer be safely used by electors at elections as provided in this act the approval of the same shall forthwith be revoked by the Secretary of the Commonwealth and no such voting machine shall thereafter be purchased for use in this Commonwealth

(d) When a machine has been so approved no improvement or change that does not impair its accuracy efficiency or capacity shall render necessary a re-examination or re-approval of the machine or of its kind

(e) Neither the Secretary of the Commonwealth nor any examiner appointed by him for the purpose prescribed by this section nor any member of any county board of elections shall have any pecuniary interest in any voting machine or in the manufacture or sale thereof

(f) Each examiner appointed hereunder shall receive a compensation of one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) for each different type of voting machine examined by him

Section 1106 REQUIREMENTS FOR VOTING MACHINE No voting machine shall upon any examination or re-examination be approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth or by any examiner appointed by him unless it shall at the time satisfy the following requirements

(a) It shall provide facilities for voting for such candidates as may be nominated and upon such questions as may be submitted

(b) It shall permit each elector at other than primary elections to vote a straight party ticket in one operation and in one operation to vote for all the candidates of one party or body of electors for presidential electors and in one operation to vote for all the candidates of one party or body of electors for every office to be voted for except those officers as to which he votes for individual candidates

(c) It shall permit each elector at other than primary elections to vote a ticket selected from the nominees of any and all parties and bodies of electors and from persons not in nomination

(d) It shall permit each elector to vote at any primary or election for any person and for any office for whom and for which he is lawfully entitled to vote whether or not the name of such person appears upon a ballot-label as a candidate for nomination or election and to vote for as many persons for an office as he is entitled to vote for and to vote for or against any question upon which he is entitled to vote

(e) It shall preclude each elector from voting for any candidate or upon any question for whom or upon which he is not entitled to vote and from voting for more persons for any office than he is entitled to vote for and from voting for any candidate for the same office or upon any question more than once except in districts and for offices where cumulative voting is authorized by law

(f) It shall be capable of adjustment by election officers so as to permit each elector at a primary to vote only for the candidates for nonpartisan nomination if any and for the candidates seeking nomination by the political party in which he is enrolled if he is enrolled as a member of a political party and so as to preclude him from voting for the candidates seeking nomination by any political party in which he is not enrolled

(g) It shall permit each elector to deposit write in or affix upon receptacles or devices provided for the purpose ballots containing the names of persons for whom he desires to vote whose names do not appear upon the machine

(h) It shall permit each elector to change his vote for any candidate or upon any question appearing upon the ballot labels up to the time he begins the final operation to register his vote

(i) It shall permit and require voting in absolute secrecy and shall be so constructed that no person can see or know for whom any other elector has voted or is voting save an elector whom he has assisted or is assisting in voting as prescribed by law

(j) It shall have voting devices for separate candidates and questions which shall be arranged in separate parallel rows or columns so that at any primary or one or more adjacent rows or columns may be assigned to the candidates of a party and shall have parallel office columns or rows transverse thereto

(k) It shall have a counter or other device the register of which is visible from the outside of the machine which shall show during any period of voting the total number of electors who have operated the machine during said period of voting

(l) It shall have a protective counter or other device the register of which cannot be reset which shall record the cumulative total number of movements of the operating mechanism

(m) It shall be provided with a lock or locks by the use of which immediately after the polls are closed or the operation of the machine for a primary or election is completed all movement of the registering mechanism is absolutely prevented

(n) It shall be provided with a screen hood or curtain which shall conceal the actions of the voter while voting

(o) It shall be constructed of material of good quality in a neat and workmanlike manner

(p) It shall when properly operated register or record correctly and accurately every vote cast

(q) It shall be so constructed that a voter may readily learn the method of operating it

(r) It shall be safely transportable

(s) It shall be so constructed and controlled that during the progress of voting it shall preclude every election officer watcher and other person from seeing or knowing the number of votes registered for any candidate and from tampering with any of the registering mechanism

Section 1107 FORM OF BALLOT LABELS ON VOTING MACHINES (a) The papers cards or strips enclosed within the ballot-frame or frames of any voting machine and containing the names of a candidate or candidates or political party or body of electors or the statement of a question to be voted upon herein referred to as ballot-labels shall be printed in black ink upon clear white material of such size as will fit the ballot-frame and in as plain clear type as the space will reasonably permit

(b) If the construction of the machine shall require it the ballot-label for each candidate group of candidates political party body of electors or question to be voted on shall bear the designating letter or number of the counter on the voting machine which will register or record votes thereof Each question to be voted on shall appear on the ballot-label in brief form to be determined by the Secretary of the Commonwealth in the case of constitutional amendments or other questions to be voted on by the electors of more than one county and by the county boards in other cases

(c) The ballot-label for each candidate or group of candidates nominated or seeking nomination by a political party or body of electors shall contain the name or designation of the political party or body of electors

(d) The titles of offices may be arranged horizontally or vertically with the names of candidates for an office arranged transversely under or opposite the title of the office

(e) The names of all candidates nominated or seeking nomination by a political party or body of electors shall appear in adjacent rows or columns containing generally the names of candidates nominated or seeking nomination by such party or body of electors provided that the names of individual candidates for presidential elector shall not appear upon the ballot-labels but in lieu thereof the names of the candidates of said party or body of electors for President and Vice-President shall be printed on a single ballot-label together with the name of said party or body

(f) When the same person has been nominated for the same office by more than one political party or body of electors his name shall appear in the rows or columns containing generally the names of candidates nominated by each such party or body of electors

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. D. GLENN MOORE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I desire to speak very briefly on the bill now before the House, which is commonly known as the Election Code. The bill is, strictly speaking, not an administration bill, although it has the full support of the administration. The movement looking toward the compilation of this code was begun long before the primary election of last year. It was the result of a conference held in Harrisburg which was participated in by over thirty organizations. Among those organizations was the Committee on Election Law Reform, The Republican State Committee, the Democratic State Committee, the Federation of Women's Clubs, the League of Women Voters, the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce, the Pennsylvania Federation of Democratic Women, the State Council of Churches, the Pennsylvania State Grange and the Peoples' Association of Delaware County, and a number of other organizations. Out of this conference grew the election conference, which later resulted in an executive committee which compiled the code. This committee worked practically a year on its task. It has given us probably the best codification of election laws that has ever been presented to the General Assembly. Its work, to be described in a single sentence, is a monumental work of codification.

Among the features of this bill is a section which repeals two hundred and two antiquated election laws. Practically one-fifth of the code, as appears in the bill filed, is composed of repealers. About one-tenth of it consists of penalties which are to be imposed for violations of the various features of the code. Now, probably the outstanding feature of the election code is a setting up in the entire State of Pennsylvania of a permanent registration, which will be a relief in cities of the first, second and third classes, and will establish the same form of registration throughout the entire State. Certain features of the code when it was presented, having met with objections, have been removed. Briefly those features are these: The elimination of the appointed election boards in all counties, except counties of the first and second classes. These counties at the present time have registration boards appointed by the Governor. They are supplanted by elections commissions which will take over the work of the registration, and also the work of supervising the elections in all of the counties, the county commissioners, who now have charge of the primary election will have charge of the entire election system of the county, primary and municipal elections and they will serve that purpose solely. The second feature is the requirement that street lists of voters shall be kept only in the cities. The third is that the comparison of signatures after voting will be necessary only in first and second class counties. Another feature is the elimination of the provision that office holders cannot engage in political activities and also the elimination of the provisions in regard to the size of the committees of political parties. In other words that provision remains unchanged. Another feature which has been removed is the retaining of the present election hours, from seven o'clock in the morning until seven o'clock at night. It is the confident belief of those who had made an intimate study of this election law that it will tend to decrease the expense that it will simplify and help our electorate system itself very materially. It will not only reduce the cost, but it unifies our laws; it ties the primary law into the general election law, and we have offered to us, for the first time, a compact, logical and systematic election code.

I feel very deeply on this myself, and I feel that those of us who vote against this code will be voting against our best interests as candidates and as citizens.

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want to speak very briefly on this bill. I do not like to be put in the position of having to oppose legislation that is alleged to have for its chief feature the cleaning up of elections. If that was the only thing that this code did, I might be in favor of it, but unfortunately it has some provisions in it that I cannot possibly support.

I call the attention of the members of the House to its provisions. In article VIII, section 801, the provisions as to what shall constitute an official party, the provision is that "Any body or organized body of electors one of whose candidates at the last preceding general election polled in each of at least ten counties of the state a vote equal to not less than ten per centum of the total number of electors voting at such election is hereby declared to be a political party within the state within the meaning of this act." Under our present law in order to have an official party in the state, it is only necessary for a party to represent eight per centum of the largest vote cast for any elected candidate. This code changes it to ten per centum of the total vote cast. Taking the figures of the last election, it just multiplies the requirement of a minority party to get on that ballot by about seven times. Instead of having to get approximately thirty thousand votes, you would have to get two hundred thousand and at an election after presidential election, that figure would be raised to about three hundred thousand.

This code if adopted, will legislate all political parties off the map in the state of Pennsylvania except the Republican and Democratic parties. If that is what you call giving a fair deal, a square deal, giving the little fellow a chance, I do not understand it. I do not think that is the way to clean up elections, and I think that this bill must be opposed on that ground.

I also call the attention of the members to another section, in which I am not so much interested, but in which I think many members of this House may be, and that is the section on page 241, it says here, "No candidate, treasurer or member of any political committee or any other person shall directly or indirectly demand, solicit, collect or receive from any appointed officer, clerk or employe of the United States or of this state or of any county, city, borough, township, school district or poor district therein or of any department board, trust or commission thereof, any assessment subscription, or contribution, whether voluntary or involuntary." In other words, appointed political office holders in the State are forbidden to contribute even voluntarily to a political fund. Whatever your opinion may be as to assessments or involuntary contributions from people holding political office they are asking you now to pass a law making it a crime for an officeholder to contribute voluntarily if he wants to. That is what the law will do if this bill is enacted, and the next section provides that if any treasurer or political committee receives a contribution he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. In the beginning you will remember that this code had a provision providing that anybody holding an appointive office of any kind whatever could not attend a political convention or serve on any political committee or have any thing to do with politics. In other words, they were going to legislate all politicians out of politics. And now they have changed that, but they have left this provision in with regard to contributions. I again call your attention to the minority party provision and emphasize the fact that it is going to legislate the minority party off the ballot, all except the Republican and Democratic parties. In order to get on the ballot as an official party, if you have the required number of votes, you only require five hundred signatures for most state offices, but if you do not have the required number of votes you must get over five thousand signatures, and if it were a presidential election, it would be about eight thousand, which makes it practically prohibitive for any group of people to get on the ballot. I ask you to vote no on this bill.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hoopes, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Hoopes, do you maintain that if this bill were enacted into law, that your party will not be given any consideration?

Mr. HOOPES. Mr. Speaker, it will be legislated out of existence.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Moore.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Moore, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. D. GLENN MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Moore, did I understand you correctly to say that the State Federation of Labor has endorsed this bill?

Mr. D. GLENN MOORE. Mr. Speaker, according to my information, the State Federation of Labor participated in the conference. I did not say they endorsed it.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, do you know whether they do or do not?

Mr. D. GLENN MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I do not.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILLS ON SECOND READING

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair will take up out of order the second reading calendar. The Chair hears none and the House will proceed to the consideration of bills on second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1940, as follows:

An Act to amend paragraph one section five of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws seventy-three) entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations" as amended changing the effect of the by-laws of corporations

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That paragraph one section five of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws seventy-three) entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations' 'which was amended by the act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one (Pamphlet Laws sixty-one) entitled "An act to amend the fifth section of an act entitled 'An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations' approved April twenty-ninth one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four defining the officers of corporations and allowing certain officers receiving salaries to be directors and receive compensations" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 5 The by-laws of every corporation created under the provisions of this statute or accepting the same shall be deemed and taken to be its law [subordinate to this statute] for the internal government and management of the corporation only and shall be in conformity with the charter [of the same] of the corporation the Constitution and laws of this Commonwealth and the Constitution of the United States The by-laws shall not be construed to affect the rights of parties not officers members and stockholders of the corporation who deal with the corporation and who have no knowledge of the contents of the by-laws except such parties as deal under such circumstances as require them to take notice of the by-laws of the corporation They shall be made by the stockholders or members of the corporation at a general meeting called for that purpose unless the charter prescribes another body or a different mode They shall prescribe the time and place of meeting of the corporation the powers and duties of its officials and such other matters as may be pertinent and necessary for the business to be transacted and may contain penalties for the breach thereof not exceeding twenty dollars No transaction by any person with an officer or agent of a corporation within the scope of the authority of such officer or agent shall be held invalid by reason of any by-law of such corporation unless such person shall have knowledge thereof at the time of the transaction

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2009, entitled:

An Act to amend section thirty-two as amended of an Act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred twenty-one) entitled "An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a nonresident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth or national banking association located therein to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association standing in the name of any such decedent until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid and providing penalties and citing certain acts for repeal" providing the method for the taxation of stock of corporations incorporated in Pennsylvania and other states

The first section was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section thirty-two of an Act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred twenty-one) entitled "An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a nonresident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth or national banking association located therein to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association standing in the name of any such decedent until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid and providing penalties and citing certain acts for repeal" which was amended by section five of an Act approved the twelfth day of July one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws one thousand seventy-eight) entitled "An act to amend an act approved June twentieth one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred twenty-one) entitled 'An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a nonresident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth or national banking association located therein to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association standing in the name of any such decedent until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid and providing penalties and citing certain acts for repeal' as amended" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 32 On the transfer of property in this Commonwealth of a nonresident decedent if all or any part of the estate of such decedent wherever situated shall pass to persons or corporations who would have been taxable under this act if such decedent had been a resident of this Commonwealth such property located within this Commonwealth shall be subject to a tax which said tax shall bear the same ratio to the entire tax which the said estate of such decedent would have been subjected to under this act if such nonresident decedent had been a resident of this Commonwealth and all his property real and personal had been located within this Commonwealth as such property located in this Commonwealth bears to the entire estate of such nonresident decedent wherever situated Provided That nothing in this clause contained shall apply to any specific bequest or devise of property in this Commonwealth and provided further that as to shares of capital stock of a corporation incorporated in more than one state including this Commonwealth only that proportion of the value of such shares shall be deemed for purposes of this article as property of a nonresident decedent within this Commonwealth as the value of the property of such corporation located within this Commonwealth bears to the entire value of the property of such corporation wherever located

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Section 3 That section fifteen of article four of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 15 The Governor [by and with the consent of the Senate] may remove any Commissioner [or any of the counsel to the commission for inefficiency neglect of duty or misconduct in office giving him a copy of the charges against him and affording him an opportunity to be publicly heard in person or by counsel in his own defense upon not less than ten days' notice] If [such] any Commissioner shall be removed the Governor shall [file in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth a complete statement of all charges made against such Commissioner and his finding thereon together with a complete record of the proceedings] certify to the Senate when next it convenes the fact of removal and his reasons therefor

Section 4 That section four of article five of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 Whenever the commission receives notice of any change proposed in any tariff or schedule filed or posted under the provisions of this act it shall have power either upon complaint or upon its own motion and if it so orders without answer or other formal pleading by the interested public service company after notice to hold a public hearing and make investigations as to the propriety of such proposed change and of the new rate practice or classification After such hearing and investigation [whether completed before or after such change goes into effect] the commission may make such order in reference to the new proposed rate practice or classification as it may deem just and lawful and no change in any tariff involving an increase in rates shall take effect until after approval by the Commission At any such hearing involving any proposed increase in any rate the burden of proof to show that such increased rate is just and reasonable shall be upon the public service company

Except when increases in rates are involved the Commission shall have power in its discretion and for good cause shown to permit changes in the tariffs or schedules filed and published upon less than the thirty days' notice specified in Article two Section one (f) of this act or upon other conditions which shall be just and reasonable

[The commission shall also have power in its discretion where any notice of increase in any rates fares tolls or charges of a public service company has been filed to require by general rule or special order that such company shall furnish to its shippers consumers or other patrons a certificate or other evidence of payments made by them in excess of the prior established rate]

Section 5 That sections twenty-two twenty-three and twenty-four of Article six of said Act are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 22 At the hearing of the appeal the said court shall upon the record certified to it by the commission determine whether or not the order appealed from is reasonable and in conformity with law Provided That in every appeal taken including those already taken and undetermined involving a question of the reasonableness of the revenue allowed to a public service company by the Commission whether such appeal shall have been taken by a complainant or by a public service company it shall be the duty of the court to consider the entire record of the proceedings before the Commission including the testimony and on its own independent judgment to determine whether or not the findings made the valuations fixed and revenues allowed by the Commission are reasonable and proper

Section 23 In all such cases other than those involving the reasonableness of the revenue allowed to a public service company the orders of the commission shall be prima facie evidence of the [reasonableness thereof] facts found and the burden of proving the contrary shall be upon the appellant or appellants and in all appeals the notes or testimony taken before the commission or any of the members thereof duly certified under its seal and filed as aforesaid as a part of the record shall be considered by the court as the testimony in the case Provided however that the appellants the Commission and the intervening appellees if any by writing filed may agree that any part of the evidence appearing in the transcript as certified and filed shall be considered as excluded therefrom upon the review of the case by the Superior Court If they cannot agree the appellant may file with the Commission a brief statement of the questions to be argued on the appeal in a general way and of the evidence appellant does not intend to print by reason of the fact that it has no relation to or connection with the questions to be argued Copies of such statement shall be served upon all intervening appellees If no objections are made within ten days thereafter the consent of all parties will be presumed If objection is made the Commission shall decide what evidence need not be printed by appellant Any intervening appellee may at his own expense print such parts of the evidence not printed by the appellant as he considers have relation to or connection with the questions to be argued or the Superior Court may order any part or all of the evidence to be printed by appellant whenever the Court shall deem it necessary so to do

Section 24 If the court shall upon the record find that the order appealed from is reasonable and in conformity with law in cases involving the reasonableness of the revenue allowed to a public service company that the findings made the valuation fixed and the revenue allowed are reasonable and proper it shall enter a decree dismissing the appeal and affirming the order of the commission If the court shall upon the record find that the order appealed from is unreasonable or based upon incompetent evidence materially affecting the determination or order of the commission or is otherwise not in conformity with law or in cases involving the reasonableness of the revenue allowed to a public service company that the findings or the valuations are unreasonable or that the revenue allowed is unreasonable or confiscatory it may enter a final decree reversing the order of the commission or in its discretion it may remand the record to the commission with directions to reconsider the matter and make [such] an order or reform the findings valuations and revenue allowed [as shall be reasonable and] in conformity with [law In case the said court shall reverse an order of the commisison dismissing a complaint after an investigation and hearing thereon before the commission it shall remand the record and proceedings to the commission with directions to reinstate the complaint proceed to another hearing and investigation and make such order as shall be reasonable and in conformity with law] the court's opinion In making any final decree on any appeal the court shall have full power to [dispose of all] impose costs upon any party to the appeal

Section 6 It is the intention of the General Assembly that if this act cannot take effect in its entirety because of the judgment of any court of competent jurisdiction holding unconstitutional any part or parts thereof the remaining provisions of the act shall be given full force and effect as completely as if the part or parts held unconstitutional had not been included herein

Section 7 This act shall become effective immediately upon its approval by the Governor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. TURNER. For the information of the Chair I desire to offer a statement, which I will read for the purpose of information:

Inasmuch as the subject and purpose of Senate Bill No. 259, Printer's No. 48, as it passed the Senate on March 3, 1931, was by express declaration restricted to amending the Public Service Company Law in the matter only of changes in utility rates and charges, the further amendments incorporated in the said bill by the House Committee on Public Utilities as reported and contained in House Bill No. 969, Printer's No. 478, divesting the Senate from its present authority in the matter of removals of Public Service Commissioners from office; conferring new powers and imposing new duties on the Superior Court in appeals from Commissioner orders; and requiring Commission approvals as conditions precedent to utility security issues, a subject entirely new and not comprehended in any degree in the original or any amendatory provision of the Public Service Company Law, the said Senate Bill No. 259 as reported by said House Committee under House Bill No. 969, Printer's No. 478, was further amended as to the title thereof. Said Bill, Printer's No. 532, which is now before this House for third reading and final passage, violates Article 3, Section 1, of the State Constitution ordaining that

"No law shall be passed except by Bill, and no Bill shall be so altered or amended, on its passage through either House, as to change its original purpose."

and violates Rule 46 of the Rules of the House of Representatives, providing that

"No bill or resolution shall at any time be amended by annexing thereto, or incorporating therewith, any other bill or resolution pending before the House, nor shall a motion or proposition be entertained under color of such an amendment; nor shall any bill or resolution be amended by substituting therefor, under a motion to strike out, or otherwise any other bill or resolution on a subject different from that under consideration, as required by the Constiution. Art. III, Sec. 1."

and accordingly the point of order is made that the said Bill, being unconstitutional, it is improperly on the calendar and that for the Speaker to call for a yea and nay vote thereon would be to call upon a member of this House to violate his oath to observe and obey the Constitution.

In further explanation of the point of order, if the Chair please, I desire to call your attention to the fact that under the Rules of the National House of Representatives, a rule similar in substance to that of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, provides "and no motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment".

Under this section it was ruled by Speakers Reed, Clark and Cannon, that an amendment must be germane to the particular section of the law to which it is offered, and that an amendment relating to the terms of the laws rather than to the terms of the bill, was not germane to a bill amending a general law upon a specific point. In reaching such decision, the Speaker quoted "Hind's Precedent" Vol. 5, page 411, 5506, which provided "To a bill amendatory of an existing law as to one specific particular, an amendment relating to the terms of the law rather than to those of the bill was held not to be germane".

I offer the Speaker a copy of that, so that he may have it for his information.

The SPEAKER. The members of the House, no doubt, are familiar with Rule 4, which provides that upon the request of five members, a point of order involving a question of constitutionality shall be submitted to the House. The Chair has no request of that kind.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I present to you a request signed by five members of the House, asking that this question be submitted to the House. The request in question reads as follows:

Now this twenty-fifth day of May, 1931, in compliance with Rule 4 of the House of Representatives, we, the undersigned members of such house, request the Chair to submit the question on the point of order raised by the representative from Delaware County, Mr. Ellwood Turner, and request that the question raised by such point of order be submitted to the House.

(Signed) P. B. RICE,
GROVER C. TALBOT,
PAUL ADAMS,
GEORGE L. REED,
THOS. W. WEIDEMANN.

The SPEAKER. Under that request the Chair has no discretion in the matter except to submit the question on the point of order to the House for its decision.

The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, has raised the point of order on Senate Bill No. 259, that this bill will violate article three, section 1, of the State Constitution, and that it is not therefore, proper for consideration by the House. He has also submitted various authorities with relation thereto. He has also presented a request signed by five members of the House under Rule 4, which provides that on all questions of order involving the determination of a constitutional question, it shall be submitted to the House upon request. The Chair, therefore, submits for decision by the House the point of order raised by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The Chair will be glad to make any further explanation regarding the point of order that may be requested by any member.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the House I ask the Clerk to read Rule 30 on page 53.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the rule.

The Clerk read Rule 30 as follows:

"Each committee shall have full power over the bill, resolution or other paper committed to it, except that the committee cannot change the title or subject".

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask that the Clerk again read Mr. Turner's point of order?

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the point of order as submitted by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The point of order was read by the Clerk.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I raise a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. SOWERS. Did the bill, as it came from the Senate, have the last two lines reading as follows: "By requiring the approval of the Commission to propose dchanges in rates

The SPEAKER. The bill on your files ought to answer that question.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I cannot find the bill upon my files.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I can only try to answer the question of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit the gentleman from Philadelphia to have the floor until he has concluded?

Mr. TURNER. Certainly, sir. I was only trying to answer his point of information.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman repeat his question?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the question arises from a point of information: Did the bill, as it came from the Senate, in the title end with the words, "By requiring the approval of the commission to proposed charges in rates"—meaning "changes" in rates?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is informed that the ear-marked copy contains words at the end of the title, "By requiring the approval of the commission to proposed charges in rates".

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Is it your thought that the amedments offered in the House to this bill are unconstitutional because the bill with the title as it came over from the Senate, provided and limited the bill to a particular subject matter on changes in rates?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, that is correct. The bill, as it came from the Senate, was a bill that merely amended section f of article 1, section 1 article II and section 4 article V an act approved the 24th day of July, 1913, and that merely pertained to the question of rates.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, is there not a clause in the Constitution which prohibits the adding of matter not in harmony with the title when the bill comes from the Senate?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, in the section to which I referred as article III section 1 it says: "No law shall be passed except by bill, and no bill shall be so altered or amended on its passage through either House, as to change its original purpose".

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, then there is no question about the unconstitutionality of the amendment?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, not in my mind, sir.

Mr. MUMFORD. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the Howell bill, it is an amendment to the present Public Service law and these amendments still further amend that public service law. Now, not very long ago we had before us the blue laws—a bill to amend the blue laws, and almost everything was tacked on to that, and if that is a precedent we have a precedent for this action.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not want to protract the debate at a time when I know everyone in the House is anxious to get through as promptly as possible, and yet, this matter, it seems to me, is far too important to be overlooked. What the House did in any other instance does not control its action in this instance. This is clearly unconstitutional, for the reason that the Howell bill as it was introduced in the Senate, was to amend a certain section of the Public Service Law. The bill was reported out of committee in the Senate, amending that same clause. That same bill passed the Senate amending section f. That bill was reported out of the House Committee still amending section f, but having added thereto a number of provisions that were contrary, that were different from the provisions of section f. Section f merely pertains to the control of the Commission over rates and charges of public service companies. And now, in this act is inserted a provision that gives the Governor the right to fire the Commission, and that certainly is an entirely different set up from that which was in the original bill.

In the next place, it gave the Commission control over the security issues which the Commission had never had at any time in the public service law, because under the public service law as it stands, it merely provides that a certificate shall be filed by the Commission, and it specifically says that the Commission shall have no control over the issuance of securities, but under the amendments, as placed in the Howell bill, the Commission is given complete control over security issues.

In the third place, the bill has been amended so that it provides that, on appeals from the Commission to the Superior Court, the Superior Court shall make certain findings of its own upon the case that appears before it, so that this bill has been amended in an entirely different way from the bill as it appeared in the House, and as it appeared in the Committee of the House.

Now, after the bill was reported out of the Committee of the House, the title of the bill was amended further, so that it would take care of these different propositions that had been inserted in it, and therefore not alone under the Constitution but under the decisions in Pennsylvania and under the authorities on this question, it is entirely an improper procedure and is unconstitutional.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if this bill was not before the Committee of the Whole House a week ago.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the bill was before the Committee of the Whole House a week ago.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, were there other amendments offered at that time, Mr. Turner?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, there were.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, am I correct in assuming that the gentleman from Delaware offered an amendment forming a people's counsel?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, that is correct, and if the gentleman wants to proceed further and say that that was unconstitutional, I agree with him exactly——

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will confine himself to answering the questions.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I am answering the questions.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman says that this is unconstitutional. Is that a conclusion of his own or an established fact?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I can only answer that question by stating that the fact is established in so far as I can find the authorities to establish it, but it seems to me a person's own reasoning powers ought to tell him that this is unconstitutional by reading the terms of the Constitution and the rules which have been cited here.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I do not want to prolong the debate but I believe that Mr. Turner's statement that this is unconstitutional is certainly a conclusion of his own, although I highly regard his ability as a lawyer. However, he may be in error. There is a possibility, of course, that he is, and I believe that this House is entitled to the same possibility of error, remembering, of course, that there is a tribunal in this State that can pass upon the constitutionality of acts decisively and not by a debate such as we are entering into here and prolonging action on this bill.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my friend Mr. Mumford has argued that the Schwartz Bill was amended. The Schwartz Bill 817 had a title which reads "An act to amend section 1 of the act aproved the 22nd day of April, 1794" entitled the Sunday Blue Law, and there it stopped, but the present bill that is before the House has an amendment to the sections and then goes further, and says only to change rates. If the Senate Bill would have read to fix the hours for delivery of milk after the amendment of the section, then the amendment for base ball could not have been added without violating the Constitution. It seems clear to me that the present bill, the Howell bill, was limited in its title and was limited to a change of rates, and any effort made by this House and even the amendments that I offered to it are absolutely unconstitutional, because it conflicts with its title which was fixed, determined and definite.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman said that this is unconstitutional. Did he consult the Attorney General on this question?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I did not.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of information.

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, this is a legislative body, is it not? The gentleman from Delaware in submitting this question asks that we give it our decision and judicial interpretation. What authority has this body to consider the judicial interpretation of the Constitution of Pennsylvania?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is informed that this is submitted to the House under House Rule No. 4.

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, I understand that it is, but the action of the House will be purely judicial and not legislative, and we are interpreting the Constitution as it applies to it, as we go along, where do we get the authority?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of opinion that the decision of the House will represent an opinion of the majority of the House.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, ——

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman from Delaware proposes to discuss the question further, having already spoken twice on it, he is not entitled to further time.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I am of the opinion that I have only spoken once on its submission to the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is not inclined to limit the gentleman, but feels that he should be as expeditious as possible.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I am trying to be expeditious, but I think that the matter is important. I just want to say to the gentleman from Indiana, that this being a question that has been raised before in the House, it being a question of Constitutionality we are following the procedure as laid down by the different speakers in their decisions.

Mr. CAUFFIEL. If we are taking up the question of the point of order and if the gentleman from Delaware has already spoken once, any further statement by him is prohibited under rule 4.

The SPEAKER. When a point of order is under consideration, it is not in order to raise another point of order.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, at first blush, I was inclined to agree with Mr. Turner, but upon a reading of this bill, the very first words appearing in the act are to amend clause f.

We went into a Committee of the Whole last week, and what we did there was to further amend section f, which is really the title of this bill—to amend clause f. This matter having been opened in the Senate for the insertion of an amendment, which it is true in the Senate was nothing more nor less than requiring the approval of the Commission to proposed charges in rates—"changes" it should be, but the bill says "charges"—I take it that the Senate having opened up the door to amendments to clause f it is certainly germane in the House when acting as a committee—not a committee appointed by the Speaker, but the whole House acting as a Committee of the Whole—has a right not to be guided solely by the amendment inserted by the Senate to clause f, but to go further and insert such amendment as the House sees fit, and I take it we are not violating section 1 of article III, which merely states this: "No law shall be passed except by bill, and bill shall be so altered or amended, on its passage through either House, as to change its original purpose." We are not and did not, acting in the Committee of the Whole, change the the original purpose of Senate Bill 259 for this reason: Senate Bill 259 was an amendment to clause f of the old Public Service Law, and certainly this House, acting as a Committee of the Whole, has the right to add such amendments as it sees fit, to what? To clause f, which is nothing more than Senate Bill 259. The Senate is protected to this extent, if this bill is amended, passes this House, it goes back to the Senate to do what? Either to concur in the amendments made to clause f or to reject them. I take it that we are in order and that everything we have done is in order.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Staudenmeier, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, if the amendments as passed in the Committee of the Whole had remained in the bill and the title to the bill had not been amended, would the bill then be constitutional?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker, now let me get that. If the amendments you say, placed in the bill, were not——

Mr. TURNER. No. Had remained in the bill and are now in the bill, and the title had not been amended, would the bill have been constitutional?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. And the title had not been amended?

Mr. TURNER. Yes.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. The whole title of the bill is clause f.

Mr. TURNER. Please answer the question.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Absolutely, because when you insert an amendment to clause f you are automatically amending the title of this bill, because the bill is clause f.

Mr. TURNER. Does the gentleman want to stand on that? Remember that it is in the record.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Absolutely.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, all right, I am satisfied if you are.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. T. C. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of information.

Mr. THOMAS C. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, if the House sustains the point of order raised by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, does the House understand that these amendments are stricken from the bill and the amendments do not go to the Senate?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of opinion that if the point of order is sustained by the House, as raised by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, that the bill in its present form is unconstitutional, it would not be in order to consider the bill.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken, and were as follows, viz:

So the question was determined in the negative and the point of order was not sustained.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to address myself briefly——

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman desires to discuss the bill, he is informed that it has not yet passed third reading. Do you want it to pass third reading?

Mr. SPANGLER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I wish to address myself briefly in regard to section fifteen, the amendment as it appears in this bill, which reads that the Governor may remove any commissioner. If any commissioner shall be removed, the Governor shall certify to the Senate, when next it convenes the fact of the removal and his reasons therefor.

Last week when the Howell bill was under discussion in this House, a great deal of emphasis was laid upon the personality of the Governor of this State. I have great respect for Mr. Pinchot as a man. He possesses a strong personality. He is an indefatigable worker, an aggressive fighter, an able politician and possesses a pleasing and attractive manner. Personally I like him. I am always glad to cooperate with him when I can do so without surrendering my independent judgment as to what in my humble opinion is right. But I refuse to relinquish my own judgment in legislative matters when I disagree with him on essentials, in legislation that he advocates for passage through this House. When we cease to use our own judgment as to the merits of measures before this House, we become mere puppets and, figuratively, we yield our seat in this House to the master who controlls us and he—not we—is the legislator.

The Howell bill as amended by the House Committee on utilities places in the hands of the Executive Department the power to remove one or all the members of the Public Service Commission at any time, at will. It makes the Governor an autocrat of our Public Service Commission. His absolute power to remove can have but one meaning, it substitutes the will of the Governor of this Commonwealth for the deliberate judgment of this quasi judicial body set up by the Legislature of this State to regulate the utilities. It bodily transfers the control of a purely legislative prerogative and function from the legislative branch of the government to the Executive branch.

From time immemorial the ratemaking power has lodged in the legislative branch of the government. Prior to the passage of the Act of 1913 the Legislature by separate acts established regulation over all the utilities then existing in the Commonwealth. As the utilities grew in numbers, the necessity for the establishment of a separate commission or regulating board became manifest and as a result of this necessity the 1913 Legislature created the Public Service Commission whose entire time was to be devoted to the study and regulation of utilities and the fixing of rates. In creating the commission we, the Legislature, did not surrender one tittle of our power to regulate utilities. The commission we created was a legislative commission amenable and accountable to the Legislature.

The case of Commonwealth et al versus Benn, reported in 284 Pa., made no new law, it merely interpreted the existing law as previously interpreted by abundant precedents. In that case the Supreme Court said, the Public Service Commission exercised the delegated authority of the Legislature, that it is an arm and creature of the Legislature and it performs purely and exclusively legislative functions. The court further stated that in the exercise of the act, the executive is named by the Legislature as its agent to appoint the members of the commission with the advice and consent of the Senate and may remove them with the same advice and consent. The power of appointment and removal was therefore delegated by the Legislature to the two agents named, namely, the Governor and the Senate. The present Governor, being dissatisfied with his role as agent, and coveting the legislative control, asks us, the Legislature, to step down and let him be the boss. This demand on the part of the Executive to usurp this highly important legislative function, if granted, would be highly dangerous both to the Legislature and to the public. Our republican form of government is founded on the theory of three coordinate branches, each equally sovereign within its domain and equally independent of the other two. The fathers at the time of the adoption of the federal constitution placed every safeguard known to their wisdom and ingenuity to preserve inviolate the independence and integrity of these coordinate branches of government. The lessons of history had taught them the tendency toward executive encroachment on the other two branches of government. The courts have never hesitated to construe the law to preserve the scheme as devised by the fathers, and to keep the executive within its own sphere under the constitution. The courts however cannot of themselves preserve the independence of the three branches of government to prevent and repel encroachments upon its own prerogatives when threatened. George Washington in his farewell address had this to say upon this very subject:

"It is important, likewise, that the habits of thinking in a free country should inspire caution in those intrusted with its administration, to confine themselves within their respective constitutional spheres; avoiding in the exercise of the powers of one department to encroach upon another. The spirit of encroachment tends to consolidate the powers of all the departments in one, and thus to create, whatever the form of government, a real despotism.—A just estimate of that love of power, and proneness to abuse it, which predominates in the human heart, is sufficient to satisfy us of the truth of this position.—The necessity of reciprocal checks in the exercise of political power, by dividing and distributing it into different depositories, and constituting each the Guardian of the public weal against invasions by the others, has been evinced by experiments ancient and modern; some of them in our country and under our own eyes.—To preserve them must be as necessary as to institute them. If, in the opinion of the people, the distribution or modification of the Constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the constitution designates.—But let there be no change of usurpation; for though this, in one instance, may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed.—The precedent must always greatly overbalance in permanent evil any partial or transient benefit which the use can at any time yield."

It is time for us to pause and repel with all the power and force at our command the usurpation of our legislative authority. If we don't repel this encroachment now we are unworthy of our name and of the great legislative body we represent. For myself, I should rather support what I believe to be the right, my high privileges and prerogatives as a legislator and those of this body, that I may hand them to my successor untarnished and undiminished, than preserve a dishonored seat stripped of its authority and an object of derision and contempt. "Let us not bend the pregnant hinges of the knee that thrift may follow planning."

I ask the Executive to observe the legislative "golden rule" to do unto others as he would have others do unto him. I do not covet any executive prerogatives or functions and I shall resist to the extent of the power that in me lies any encroachments on legislative authority by the Executive. If, sir, we cravenly yield to this usurpation, we shall soon become entirely subservient to the Executive will, and a mere actor of his commands, our powers as an independent legislative body paralyzed and our usefulness at an end.

If this bill passes, in effect it will substitute the independent judgment of the commission for the will or caprice of the Governor. A commissioner whose tenure of office is absolutely at the disposal of the Governor can be expected to yield his opinion to a power that can remove him at will. He must submit or his job is gone. The result will be the Public Service Commission will be a mere tool in the hands of the Executive. We shall exchange regulation under law for one largely of caprice. The Governor will administer the public service law and not the commission. Why not abolish the commission altogether, save their salaries to the Commonwealth, set up a bureau of engineers, advisers and clerks in the Executive offices and let it go at that? But if we substitute the Executive for the Public Service Commission, how can we find time to properly administer the law? The work of this commission has become so vast and intricate as to tax the capacities of seven commissioners devoting all their time to the work.

Mr. MUMFORD. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I resent the insult of the gentleman who does more talking than anybody in the House.

The motion was seconded by the following members: Messrs. Cauffiel, Hermansen, Himes, McGregor, Henderson, Loucks, Musser, McElwee, McKay, Wall, Gillette, John J. Williams, Way, Bicker, Eveland, Cordier, Heffran, D. Glenn Moore, Chester H. Rhodes, Richards, Labar and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appear to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, and ninety-three members having voted in the affirmative, and eighty-three in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative, and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker——

The SPEAKER. There is nothing in order except the calling of the roll.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SPANGLER. My question of personal privilege is to finish my remarks.

The SPEAKER. There is a special order at this time, which of course the House has suspended by allowing the hour of eleven o'clock to go by.

Mr. SPANGLER. It will take me but five minutes to get it on the record.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I read it for the information of those who desire to hear it, and those who do not desire to listen need not listen.

I feel, ladies and gentlemen, that this is one of the most important bills that has come before the Legislature in years, because to my way of thinking it transfers from the legislative branch of the government a very important function and prerogative to the executive branch of the government, and therefore I would like to have my remarks on the record.

How could one governor perform his executive duties with this tremendously ponderous addition. It is needless for me to tell you that if the Governor of this Commonwealth under the provisions of this proposed law attempted to substitute his opinion upon the intricate questions relative to the regulation of the utilities, for the deliberate judgments of the commission, we shall have confusion twice confounded. At present we are in the midst of one of the greatest depressions in the history of the country. Many of our industries are now prostrate, earnings of many corporations have reached the vanishing point, millions are in despair either from loss of their jobs or fear of losing them. One great industry alone is conspicuously hopeful amid the encircling economic gloom, and that is the utility industry; and the reason is that public utilities furnish an indispensable commodity. This industry within this State employs thousands of men and tens of thousands of our people hold its securities. These great utilities within this Commonwealth are the only privately-owned enterprises that can at this time offer hope of increasing employment through expansion to their plants, thereby helping to relieve the unemployment situation. Many have signified their intention to commence expansion programs in the near future. But can you conceive of any expansion programs on the part of these utilities while legislation such as this amended Howell bill hangs like the sword of Damocles over their heads? A bill which if it became law would permit the Governor to overturn rates and rate structures thereby creating an atmosphere of uncertainty, of fear and of well-warranted timidity, that would certainly paralyze not only the present and future hopes of the management for expansions and betterments to their plants, but would frighten away all new capital to carry into effect these improvements. Can such legislation as this be termed constructive? Are we ready to run the risk, particularly at a time like the present of passing legislation that can have but one result on this great industry and that a destructive one?

Certainly we have the means at hand to correct any abuses that may now be evident in our utilities, and their proper, just and fair regulation. I have faith in this Legislature not only to desire to adequately safeguard the public interest in effecting justice to the public, but in its ability to supply a full and complete remedy that will both give the consumer a square deal and insure fair treatment to the utilities.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman from York under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

BILL ON THIRD READING (SPECIAL ORDER)

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House at this time the Special Order on House Bill No. 1073, Printer's No. 816, on page 3 of today's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1073, entitled:

An Act providing for the settlement of capital stock tax in the cases of corporations, joint-stock associations, limited partnerships and companies which own assets which are exempted or relieved from capital stock tax.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SURFACE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read for the information of the House.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 1, by striking out on line 4 the first two words and inserting in lieu thereof the word "every".

Also amend on line 4 by adding after the word "association" the words "manufacturing corporations".

Also amend on line 5 by striking out after the word "company" the words "subject to tax upon its capital stock and also all of line 6" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "shall pay a tax of five mills upon its capital stock and whenever any such corporation, joint-stock association, manufacturing corporation, or limited partnership".

Amend title by adding on line 3 after the word "and" the word "manufacturing".

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Are there objections? The Chair hears objection and unanimous consent is not granted.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and the Ways and Means Committee have during this session of the Legislature been of the opinion and have acted upon that opinion, that the matter of the revenues of this Commonwealth transcends in importance probably all other questions, because the revenues of the Commonwealth control the machinery of the Commonwealth, as well as permits and enables the Commonwealth to respend to its very proper social conscience.

This bill, which is presently before you, has been sponsored by the Department of Revenue. This is a very important technical bill dealing with the settlement of what is known as corporation capital stock tax. The bill was twice considered in the Ways and Means Committee, and upon each occasion was reported to the floor of this House by a very close vote. The question involved is a very controversial one. We could take either side of the question and be equally right. The bill was reported to the House because it was felt by the members of the Ways and Means Committee that the subject matter warranted submission of the bill to the membership at large of the House. On the part of the Department of Revenue, it was submitted that unless this bill is enacted into law, corporations would probably be in a position to perpetuate tax evasions and the Department of Revenue submitted that for many years past the method, which this bill will establish as the legal method for the settlement of corporate taxes, has been in force and in practice; that until 1929 the Department knew no other method to settle capital stock corporate taxes, but that in 1929 the Supreme Court, in a very important case, decided that the method which up to that time had been used and practiced by the Department of Revenue and before it the department of the Auditor General was not the proper one, and now the Department of Revenue believes that in order to stabilize the manner in which settlements of corporate capital stock tax should be made that this bill becomes necessary. On the other hand, corporations involved say that if you pass this bill and if it ultimately becomes enacted into law, it will result in double taxation. They also say that if you pass this bill and it is finally enacted into law, that the tax burdens of those companies will be greatly increased. They also point out that this above all other times is the time when tax burdens should not be increased, and thus, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, you have the two sides of the case. The bill or the provisions of the bill deal successively with the capital stock tax settlement in corporation owning shares of stock in other corporations, which shares of stock or the capital stock of which companies has already been made subject to taxes under the taxing laws of the Commonwealth.

I have endeavored in a few moments to place before you not any technical analysis of the provisions of the bill, because they are too technical to present to you on the floor of this House, although I will be glad, if able, to answer any questions that may come into your minds, but to put before you as fairly and squarely as I can both sides of the question, leaving for you to decide which in your judgment should have your vote on this bill.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want, first, to compliment the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, on his fair handling of the subject matter before us.

I realize that time is the most important part of these closing days of the session, but it seems to me that with the importance of this piece of legislation we might stop for just a few moments.

I shall not attempt to review what Mr. Sterling has said against the bill, except to bring out the one point of the contention of the corporations, that are now in court, that double taxation is involved, and that at this time of unemployment with the railroads, and particularly the ones that are involved insofar as the present measure is concerned, that if they are cmpelled to pay what they term the double tax, it will mean the laying off of more railroad employees, it will naturally mean a reduction in the wage scale of employees, and also possibly mean a cutting of the dividends in so far as the stockholders are concerned. This case has been to the Supreme Court, and they have referred it now to the Dauphin County courts for re-opening, and it seems to me with the present times, it is wrong on our part to attempt to legislate on that which is in the courts. It seems to me that we may well wait until a decision is rendered on their part.

Another thought that is involved is the question of increased cost of government. Those of you who listened in on the Honorable Secretary of the Treasury on Saturday night heard him make the statement that our national debt has been reduced since 1919 from twenty-five billions of dollars to fifteen billions of dollars, and if I may, I will read one short statement from his speech which seems apropo at this time:

"Along with debt retirement, the Government has pursued a steady program of tax reduction during periods of prosperity, so that today, when adversity has come upon us, the burden of Federal taxes has been reduced to a minimum. In a ten-year period there have been four continuing reduction in taxes and one temporary reduction for the 1929 returns."

I now read to you ladies and gentlemen, from the report of the Honorable John S. Fisher, under date of January sixth, to show you the increase in the last five bienniums of government expense:

1923-1925	114,000,000
1925-1927	125,000,000
1927-1929	147,000,000
1929-1931	189,000,000

The Governor in his budget set up for the coming biennium has the sum of $188,000,000, and if you will recall a pledge made to the people that no increase in taxes would be had during this particular session, and if I may, I will read from his statement, which has caused some unrest throughout the State; when he addressed us on last Wednesday morning, he said: "Failure to pass House Bill No. 1073 will make necessary the reduction of expenditures in the next two years to a point five million dollars below the Budget. The Budget was made on the assumption that this necessary legislation would be enacted, and it was so stated in my budget message to the General Assembly.

"The defeat of this bill will also destroy any chance for the increase of $650,000 to hospitals, and $350,000 to the Mothers' Pension Fund conditionally agreed to in my letter of April twenty-seventh to Dr. Steedle, Chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations."

Now, ladies and gentlemen of the House, I refer you to the budget of His Excellency, the Governor, and I refer you to page 4, wherein the actual collections for twenty-one months as of February 28, 1931, as shown by statement of Dr. Clyde L. King, Secretary of Revenue, are $176,914,976.00.

The actual receipts that I have obtained from the State Treasurer for the three months March, April and May up until the twenty-third, inclusive, are as follows:

In March	$12,446,530.14
In April	5,058,952.59
Up until and including Saturday, with one more week to go	5,220,323.84
Making a total of	$199,640,782.57

On page 4 of the Governor's budget, the General Fund Revenue, he sets up the sum of $192,504,529.40, which means that there has been received in actual revenue above his budget the sum of $7,136,253.17.

Ladies and gentlemen, this surplus of over seven millions of dollars, is not correct in so far as his statement before the House is concerned, because if we assume that $5,000,000 might be taken out, there would still be left a provision of over two millions of dollars, and possibly the sum still left would be two millions and a half.

So, then, knowing economic conditions as they exist, I sincerely trust that the members of this House will not go on record in favor of tax increases.

Mr. FITZGERALD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if my understanding of this bill is correct, and judging from the statement of the Governor, when he appeared before this House a few days ago, it is absolutely necessary to pass this bill to provide for the needs of hospitals and the Mothers' Assistance Fund, and to that end and in that connection I have not less than twenty communications upon my desk at this time requesting me to support this bill. The fact is that it is merely a piece of legislation, but there is something that occurred that I highly resent. I have been approached and told that I had better vote for this bill or against it rather, and in the event that I did not, the wages of employees of corporations would be materially reduced. I do not feel nor can I see how that would bring about a reduction, and I resent being told a thing of that nature.

I am an employe of a public service corporation, but I am proud to say that it is not one that would try to coerce my vote nor force me to vote for their own personal gain against the wishes of my constituents, and I intend, most heartily to support this bill, because I think it is necessary to secure for the Mothers' Assistance Fund and for the needy hospitals the appropriations that they need.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

the Commonwealth or the municipal obligee within six months from the completion of said contract and final settlement therefor then the person or persons who have supplied the contractor with labor and materials shall upon application therefor and furnishing affidavit to the Commonwealth or the municipality that labor and materials for the prosecution of such work have been supplied by him them or it and that payment for the same has not been made be furnished with a certified copy of said contract and bond upon which he they or it shall have a right of action and shall be and are hereby authorized to bring suit in the name of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or the municipal obligee for his their or its use and benefit against said contractor and his sureties and to prosecute the same to final judgment and execution Where suit is instituted by any of such creditors on the bond of the contractor it shall not be commenced until after the complete performance of said contract and final settlement thereof with the Commonwealth or the municipality and shall be commenced within one year after the performance and said final settlement of said contract and not later Where suit is so instituted by a creditor or creditors no other action shall be brought by any other creditor but any other creditor may file his claim in the action first brought and be made party thereto within one year from the completion of the work under said contract but not later If two or more actions be brought on the same day the action in which the largest claim is demanded shall be regarded as the first action Any creditor who has brought an action within one year as aforesaid but after suit brought by another creditor or on the same day may intervene in the suit first brought within the year notwithstanding the fact that the intervention in such case be after the expiration of the year provided such intervention be made within thirty days after the expiration of the year If the recovery on the bond should be inadequate to pay the amounts found due to all of said creditors judgment shall be given to each creditor pro rata of the amount of the recovery The surety on said bond may pay into court for distribution among said claimants and creditors the full amount of the surety's liability to wit the penalty named in the bond less any amount which said surety may have had to pay to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or the municipal obligee by reason of the execution of said bond and upon so doing the surety will be relieved from further liability In all suits instituted under the provisions of this act such personal notice of the pendency of such suits informing them of their right to intervene as the court may order shall be given to all known creditors and in addition thereto notice shall be given by publication in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county or town where the contract was performed once a week for at least three successive weeks Provided however That when such suit has been begun within three weeks of the end of the year within which suit may be brought said notice by publication shall be only for the period intervening between the time of instituting such suit and the end of the year Provided further that where the principal contractor shall have for any reason failed to complete performance of his contract and completion of the project is undertaken by the Commonwealth the municipality or the surety either by themselves or by letting of new contracts the six-month period before which suit may be brought and the one year period within which such action must be commenced by subcontractors material men and laborers as above provided shall date from the completion and acceptance of the project covered by the original contract and bond For the purposes of such suits the date of such completion shall be fixed by the officers of the Commonwealth or of the municipality Written notice of the date of such completion shall be given to all persons who shall have theretofore requested such notice

Section 2 Whenever heretofore a contractor in connection with any public work or improvement and his their or its surety has assumed in a bond given to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the obligation to pay all lawful claims of subcontractors materialmen and laborers for labor performed and materials furnished in connection with such public work or improvement then in such event the remedies as provided by section one of this act shall extend to every such subcontractor materialmen and laborer

Section 3 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of the provisions hereof are held to be unconstitutional the decision shall not be construed to impair any other provision of this act It is hereby declared as a legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provision not been included herein

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill should not pass. It should not pass for several reasons. First of all, it very definitely offends both the Federal constitution and the constitution of this Commonwealth. First, in the clause which deals with the prohibition against impairment of contract, and second, that clause which deals with the depreciation of property without due process of law. If you will turn to the bill itself, you will readily see that the first section of the bill is written to fit those cases which may occur in the future. You will notice on the first page, line 4, that the words "has been or hereafter" have been deleted by amendment, and if you turn to the fifth page, you will find the addition of a section, which unquestionably, in my mind, is a mere substitution for that which has been taken out on line 4, page 1. The bill obviously is retroactive in its effect, and this House—although I do not rise and make this a constitutional question of order—should not place its stamp of approval upon the bill. The remedy, which it seeks to accomplish, has been decided by the Supreme Court of this State in a very well known and well-considered case known as Greene County against the Southern Surety Company reported in 292 Pennsylvania page 304.

That case stands definitely for the proposition of law that where a third party, not a party to a contract, seeks to recover under a contract made by two other parties that recovery is not allowable. This bill, which is before you, particularly as it relates to section 2, seeks to accomplish the same purpose, and I submit to you gentlemen of the House, without going into an extended legal argument that the bill deserves your disapproval.

Mr. GEORGE L. REED. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is a very important bill, which profoundly interests several people, and I will, therefore, ask for a few moments in order to bring it to the careful consideration of this House.

I want, first, to state very frankly the purpose of this bill. As every member of this House knows, a few months ago, or a few months before this Legislature convened we had a fire in the New Educational Building. Subsequently the contractor, the Nelson-Pedley Company, failed and is now in the hands of receivers. The sub-contractors, who furnished work and material which went into this building to the extent of approximately a half million dollars, are those who are primarily interested in this bill. I have introduced this bill, and I ask this House to pass it in order that the men, these sub-contractors, who have furnished materials which have gone into this capitol building shall have their day in court. That is the purpose of this measure.

My friend, Mr. Sterling, is arguing that this bill is unconstitutional. There is no gentleman in this House for whom I have more a profound regard than I do for my friend, the gentleman from Philadelphia, but I totally disagree with him as to the unconstitutionality of this bill. It is true that any law which will impair the obligation of a contract is unconstitutional, but where the only purpose is to give a new remedy, a remedy which did not theretofore exist, the decisions of the courts are numerous that such act does not offend the Constitution.

Mr. Sterling particularly pointed to section 2, which I will read:

"Whenever heretofore a contractor in connection with any public work or improvement and his their or its surety has assumed in a bond given to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the obligation to pay all lawful claims of sub-contractors material men and laborers for labor performed and materials furnished in connection with such public work or improvement then in such event the remedies as provided by section one of this act shall extend to every such sub-contractor material men and laborer."

I contend that under that provision no additional right whatever is given. The contract is not impaired. The sole purpose and the sole effect of this act is to give these men their day in court, and then the court can determine whether or not the bonding company is liable under its bonds.

Mr. Speaker, in Dauphin County there are many men who furnished material that went into this building, there are men throughout the Commonwealth, and I ask this House, therefore, to pass this measure in order that these men may have the opportunity to try their cases in court, and that the court may determine whether or not under the bond the bonding company is liable.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1762, entitled:

An Act to amend sections twenty-six and thirty as amended, of the act approved the tenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three (P. L. 419), entitled "An act to regulate the nomination and election of public officers, requiring certain expenses incident thereto to be paid by the several counties, and punishing certain offenses in regard to such elections," by specifying the circumstances and conditions under which voters may have assistance in voting at general, municipal, special, and primary elections; prescribing certain duties to be performed by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, registrars, assessors and assistant or registry assessors, registration commissions, boards of registration commissioners, county commissioners, and election officers; and providing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Venango permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CARMANY. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, will the sponsor of the bill kindly explain the purpose of it.

Mr. CARMANY. The purpose of this bill is to assist voters having physical disability.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, what would you call a physical disability?

Mr. CARMANY. Mr. Speaker, he might be blind.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, does the law now prevent you from helping a blind man?

Mr. CARMANY. Mr. Speaker, it does not prevent you.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House No. 1961, entitled:

An Act requiring persons, associations, partnerships and corporations, and their agents, herein defined as dealers and brokers, engaging in the business of buying, receiving, selling, exchanging, negotiating or soliciting the sale, resale, exchange or transfer of certain domestic animals to be licensed by the Department of Agriculture; providing for the revocation of such licenses; imposing certain duties on such dealers and brokers and their agents; conferring power on said department; and providing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Haines, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. Haines, may I ask what has become of the amendment that was supposed to be attached to this bill when it was put out of Committee?

Mr. HAINES. To which amendments does the gentleman refer?

Mr. KAHLE. In regard to the financial responsibility that a dealer must furnish in order to take out a license to deal in cattle, horses and so forth?

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, I would answer that I recall such amendments were prepared and were to be offered. Mr. Brown had the amendments there and they should have been put in the bill, but I will agree that those amendments should be, and I will see that they are, inserted in the Senate.

Mr. KAHLE. Were the amendments also offered in regard to the number of cattle and sheep?

Mr. HAINES. Yes, they are in the bill.

Mr. KAHLE. There are no amendments in this bill here on file, and the way the bill is it is very vicious. If there would be some arrangement made whereby it would be amended, all right. I have opposed this bill right along.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, if you will take my word, I promise you that they will be inserted in the Senate.

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. Speaker, all right.

SPEAKER GOODNOUGH IN THE CHAIR

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 767, entitled:

An Act supplementing the act approved the fourteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 483), entitled "An act relating to practice in the courts of common pleas in actions of assumpsit and trespass, except actions for libel and slander; prescribing the pleadings and procedure to be observed therein, and giving the courts power to enforce its provisions," by providing for the raising by petition of preliminary questions similar to pleas in abatement, in civil suits and for the disposition thereof by the court.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Section 5 That Clauses (a) (b) (c) (e) and (f) of Section Six of the said act are hereby amended to read as follows

"Section 6 Examination and Approval of Voting Machines by Secretary of the Commonwealth

(a) Any person or corporation owning manufacturing or selling or being interested in the manufacture or sale of any voting machine may request the Secretary of the Commonwealth to examine the machine Any ten or more persons being qualified electors of this Commonwealth may at any time request the Secretary of the Commonwealth to reexamine any voting machine theretofore examined and approved by him Before [the] any such examination or reexamination [such] the person persons or corporation requesting such examination or reexamination shall pay to the [treasury] treasurer of the Commonwealth an examination fee of four hunded and fifty dollars ($450) The Secretary of the Commonwealth may at any time in his discretion reexamine any voting machine

(b) The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall thereupon require such machine to be examined or reexamined by three examiners whom he shall appoint for the purpose of whom one shall be an expert in patent law and the other two shall be experts in mechanics and shall require of them a written report on such machine attested by their signatures and the Secretary of the Commonwealth himself shall examine the machine and shall make and file in his office together with the reports of the examiners appointed by him his own report attested by his signature and the seal of his office stating whether in his opinion and in consideration of the reports of the examiners aforesaid the kind of machine so examined can be safely used by electors at elections as provided in this act If his report states that the machine can be so used the machine shall be deemed approved and machines of its kind may be adopted for use at elections as herein provided

(c) No kind of voting machine not so approved shall be used at any election and if upon the reexamination of any voting machine previously approved it shall appear that the machine so reexamined can no longer be safely used by electors at elections as provided in this act the approval of the same shall forthwith be revoked by the Secretary of the Commonwealth and no such voting machines shall thereafter be purchased for use in this Commonwealth

(e) Neither the Secretary of the Commonwealth nor any examiner appointed by him for the purpose prescribed by this section nor any county commissioner shall have any pecuniary interest in any voting machine or in the manufacture or sale thereof

(f) Each examiner appointed hereunder shall receive a compensation of one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) for each different type of voting machine examined by him [which shall be paid by the proper fiscal officer of the Commonwealth upon the proper voucher or certificate of the Secretary of the Commonwealth out of any moneys received as fees for the examination of voting machines]

Section 6 That the first paragraph and Clauses (h) (j) (s) and (t) of Section seven of the said act are hereby amended to read as follows

"Section 7 Requirements of Voting Machines No voting machine shall upon any examination or reexamination be approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth or by any examiner appointed by him unless it shall at the time satisfy the following requirements

(h) It shall permit each voter to change his vote for any candidate or upon any question appearing upon the ballot labels up to the time he [leaves the voting machine] begins the final operation to register his vote or indicates or expresses his intention to register his vote

(j) It shall have voting devises for separate candidates and questions which shall be arranged in separate parallel rows or columns so that at any primary election one or more adjacent rows or columns may be assigned to the candidates of a party and shall have parallel office columns or rows transverse thereto

[(s) It shall be so constructed that each separate voting device which is not to be used at an election may be locked against use during that election]

[(t) During] (s) It shall be so constructed and controlled that during the progress of voting it shall preclude every person from seeing or knowing the number of votes registered for any candidate and from tampering with any of the registering mechanism

Section 7 That Section nine of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

"Section 9 Demonstration of Voting Machines Whenever a referendum is about to be held upon the adoption of voting machines in any county city borough or township the county [commissioners] commissioners shall purchase lease or borrow a reasonable number of voting machines for demonstration purposes in such county city borough or township prior to such referendum"

Section 8 That clause (a) of Section ten of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

"Section 10 Form of Ballot-Labels on Voting Machines

(a) The papers cards or strips enclosed within the ballot frame or frames of any voting machine and containing the names of a candidate or candidate or political party or the statement of a question to be voted upon hereinafter referred to as ballot-labels shall be printed in black ink upon clear white material of such size as will fit the ballot frame and in [as] plain clear type [as the space will reasonab permit] so as to be easily readable by persons with normal vision

Section 9 That Clauses (a) (b) and (d) of Section eleven of the said act are hereby amended to read as follows

"Section 11 Preparation of Voting Machines by County Commissioners

(a) The county commissioners of each county shall cause the proper ballot-labels to be placed on each voting machine which is to be used in any election district within such county and shall cause each machine to be placed in proper order for voting shall examine each machine before it is sent out to a polling place shall see that each registering counter except the protective counter on each machine is set at zero (000) shall lock each machine so that the counting machinery cannot be operated and shall seal each machine with a numbered seal The county commissioners or their duly authorized agent shall adjust each machine to be used at a primary election so that the election officers may lock it on primary election day in such a way that each voter can vote only for the candidates for nonpartisan nomination if any and for the candidates seeking nomination by the political party in which he is enrolled if he is enrolled as a member of a political party and so that no voter can vote for the candidates seeking nomination by any political party in which he is not enrolled

(b) The county commissioners shall appoint [not more than] one custodian [for every twenty] of voting machines and such deputy custodians as may be necessary whose duty it [who] shall be to prepare the machines to be used in the county at the elections to be held therein Each custodian and deputy custodian shall receive from the county for each day he is actually employed under the provisions of this act such compensation as shall be fixed by the county commissioners but not less than five dollars or more than ten dollars per day Such custodian shall under the direction of the county commissioners have charge of and represent the county commissioners during the preparation of the voting machines as required by this act and he and the deputy custodians whose duty it shall be to assist him in the discharge of his duties shall serve at the pleasure of the county commissioners Each custodian shall take the constitutional oath of office which shall be filed with the county commissioners

(d) The custodian [or] and deputy custodians of voting machines shall make a certificate in writing which each shall sign and request each representative of a party or a citizens organization as aforesaid present at the preparation of the machine to attest and which shall be filed with the county commissioners stating (1) the identifying number or other designation of the voting machine (2) that each registering counter of the machine was set at zero (000) (3) the number registered on the protective counter or other device of the machine and (4) the number on the seal with which the machine is sealed"

Section 10 That Clause (a) of Section twelve of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

"Section 12 Delivery of Voting Machines and Supplies by County Commissioners to Election Officers

(a) The county commissioners shall deliver the proper voting machine or voting machines properly furnished with ballot labels to the polling-places of the respective election districts at least one hour before the time set for opening the polls at [an] each election [or primary] and shall cause each machine to be set up in the proper manner for use in voting Each machine shall then remain sealed until the examination immediately preceding the opening of the polls prescribed by this act"

Section 11 That Section thirteen of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

"Section 13 [Number of] Election Officers Polling Places

(a) The election board in each election district in which a voting machine is used shall consist of a judge of election and two inspectors of election chosen as is now provided by law There shall be no clerks on election boards in voting machine districts

(b) Where more than one machine is to be used in an election district [two machine inspectors shall be appointed one by each of the inspectors of election] the county commissioners shall prior to each election appoint for each additional voting machine to be used in such district one elector of the county qualified to serve as an election officer to serve as machine inspector in such district at such election who shall receive the same compensation as [inspectors] an inspector of election and whose duty it shall be to have charge of the operation of one of the voting machines under the supervision of the judge of election Each machine inspector shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of his duties

(c) In election districts in which voting machines are used the county commissioners may in their discretion procure and provide portable or movable polling places for any or all of such districts

Section 12 That Section fourteen of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

"Section 14 Instruction of Election Officers Before each election at which voting machines are to be used the custodians shall instruct in the use of the machine and in their duties in connection therewith all judges and inspectors of election and machine inspectors who are to serve thereat [and who have not previously been instructed and found qualified] and they shall give to each judge and inspector of election and machine inspector who has received such instruction and is fully qualified to conduct the election with the machine a certificate to that effect For the purpose of giving such instruction the custodians shall call such meeting or meetings of the judges and inspectors of election and machine inspectors as shall be necessary Each judge and inspector of election and machine inspector shall upon notice attend any such meeting or meetings called for his instruction and receive such instructions as shall be necessary for the proper conduct of the elections with the machine and as compensation for the time spent in receiving such instructions each judge and inspector of election and machine inspector who shall qualify for and serve in the election shall receive the sum of [five dollars] one dollar to be paid to him at the same time and in the same manner as compensation is paid to him for his services on election day No judge or inspector of election or machine inspector shall serve in any election at which a voting machine is used unless he shall have received such instruction and is fully qualified to perform his duties in connection with the machine and has received a certificate to that effect from one of the custodians of the machines Provided however That this shall not prevent the appointment of a judge or inspector of election or machine inspector to fill a vacancy arising on the day of election or on the preceding day"

Section 13 That Clauses (f) and (g) of Section 15 of the said act are hereby amended to read as follows

"(f) The judge and each inspector of election and the overseers if any shall sign a certificate showing (1) the identifying number or other resignation of the voting machine (2) the delivery of the keys in a sealed envelope [(2)] (3) the number on the seal upon the machine [(3)] (4) the number registered on the protective counter or device [(4)] (5) that all of the counters were set at zero (000) and [(5)] (6) that the ballot-labels are properly placed in the machine which certificate shall be returned by the judge of election to the county commissioners with the other certificates as hereinafter provided

(g) The machine shall remain locked against voting until the polls are opened and shall not be operated except by voters in voting If any counter is found not to register zero (000) the election officers shall immediately notify the custodian or the county commissioners who shall if practicable adjust or cause the counters to be adjusted at zero (000) but if it shall be found impracticable for the custodian or other person authorized by the county commissioners to arrive in time so to adjust such counters before the time set for opening the polls the election officers shall immediately make a written record of the designation or designating letter or number of each counter together with the number registered thereon hereinbelow called the initial number and shall sign and post the same upon the wall of the polling place where it shall remain until the polls are closed and in filling out the returns of the election if the final number of such counter is greater than the initial number the election officers shall subtract the initial number form the final number and enter the difference on the returns as the vote for the candidate or on the question represented by such counter if the final number of such counter is less than the initial number the election officers shall add one thousand to the final number and shall subtract the initial number from the sum so ascertained and shall enter upon the returns as the vote for the candidate or on the question represented by such counter the final number plus one thousand less the initial number [they shall subtract such number from the number registered on the same counter when the polls are closed]"

Section 14 That Clause (a) of Section sixteen of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

"Section 16 Instruction of Voters Before an Election

(a) During [sixty] thirty days next preceding an election the county commissioners [may] shall place on public exhibition in [any] such public [place] places and at such times as they may deem [desirable] most suitable for the information and instruction of the voters one or more voting machines containing the ballot-labels and showing the offices and questions to be voted upon the names and arrangements of parties and so far as practicable the names and arrangement of the candidates to be voted for Such machine or machines shall be under the charge and care of a person competent as custodian and instructor No voting machine which is to be assigned for use in an election shall be used for such public exhibition and instruction after having been prepared and sealed for the election".

Section 15 That Clause (c) of Section seventeen of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

"(c) If any voter after entering the voting machine booth and before the closing of such booth shall ask for further instructions concerning the manner of voting any one of the election officers may [he may choose an election officer or any qualified voter of the district who shall] give him such instructions but no[person] election officer giving a voter such instructions shall in any manner request suggest or seek to persuade or induce any such voter to vote any particular ticket or for any particular candidate or for or against any particular equestion After giving such instructions and before the elector closes the booth or votes the election officer [or qualified voter] shall retire and the voter shall forthwith vote"

Section 16 That Clause (b) of Section nineteen of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

"(b) Where two or more persons are to be elected to the same office and the name of each candidate is placed upon or adjacent to a separate key handle pointer or knob and if the type of voting machine being used requires that all irregular ballots voted for that office be deposited written or affixed in or upon a single receptacle or device a voter may vote in or by such receptacle or device for one or more persons whose names do not appear upon the machine with or without the names of one or more persons whose names do so appear"

Section 17 That Section twenty-one of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 21 Voting by Ballot If a method of election for any candidates or offices is prescribed by law in which the use of voting machines is not possible or practicable or in case at any election the number of candidates nominated or seeking nomination for any office renders the use of voting machines for such office at such election impracticable or if for any other reason at any election the use of voting machines is not possible or practicable the county commissioners may arrange to have the voting for such or all candidates or offices conducted by paper ballots In such cases ballots shall be printed for such or all condidates or offices and the election conducted by the election officers herein provided for and the ballots counted and return thereof made in the manner required by law for such candidates or offices in so far as paper ballots are used

Section 18 That Section twenty-two of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

"Section 22 [Unofficial Ballot-Labels] Repair of Machine or Use of Paper Ballots

[(a) If ballot-labels for an election district at which a voting machine is to be used shall not be delivered to the election officers as required by Section fifteen (e) of this act the judge of election of such district shall cause other labels to be prepared printed or written as nearly in the form of official ballot-labels as practicable and the election officers shall cause the labels so substituted to be used at the election in the same manner as near as may be as the official labels Such labels so substituted shall be known as unofficial ballot-labels]

[(b)] If any voting machine being used in any election shall become out of order during such election it shall if possible be repaired or another machine substituted by the custodian or county commissioners as promptly as possible for which purpose the county commissioners may purchase as many extra voting machines as they may deem necessary but in case such repair or substitution cannot be made paper ballots printed or written and of any suitable form may be used for the taking of votes"

Section 19 That Section twenty-three of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

"Section 23 Canvass of Vote and Disposition of Machine

(a) When the polls are closed all qualified voters who are then waiting within the voting room to vote shall be permitted by the election officers to do so As soon as the polls are closed and the last voter has voted the election officers shall immediately lock [the voting machine against voting] and seal the operating lever or mechanism of the machine so that the voting and counting mechanism will be prevented from operation and they and the overseers if any shall then sign a certificate stating (1) that the machine has been locked against voting and sealed (2) the number of voters as shown on the public counters (3) the number on the seal which they have placed upon the machine (4) the number registered on the protective counter or devise and (5) [that the voting machine is closed and locked] the number or other designation of the voting machine which certificate shall be returned by the judge of election to the county commissioners with the other certificates as herein provided The election officers shall then compare the number of voters as shown by the public counter of the machine with the number of names written in the numbered lists of voters which lists shall then be placed in envelopes and sealed

(b) The election officers in the presence of the watchers and all other persons who may be lawfully within the polling place shall then make visible the registering counters and for that purpose shall unlock and open the doors or other covering concealing the same giving full view of all the counter numbers The judge of election shall under the scrutiny of the [majority and minority] two inspectors of election the overseers if any and the watchers and in the order of the offices as their titles are arranged on the machine read and announce in distinct tones the designation or designating number and letter on each counter for each candidate's name the result as shown by the counter numbers the votes recorded for each office for persons other than nominated candidates and the designation or designating numbers and letters on each counter and the results as shown by the counter numbers for and against each question voted on The counters shall not be read consecutively along the party rows or columns but shall always be read along the office columns or rows completing the canvass for each office or question before proceeding to the next The vote as registered shall be entered by the election officers in ink on duplicate return sheets and also on a general return sheet and statement all of which after the canvass is completed shall be signed by the election officers and certified by the overseers if any The vote for presidential electors shall be computed and returned as provided hereinbefore in Section nineteen of this Act If more than one voting machine is used in any election district the vote registered on each machine shall be ascertained in like manner and separately entered in appropriate spaces on the general and duplicate return sheets and statement The total vote cast for each candidate and for and against each question shall then be computed and entered on the general and duplicate return sheets [and such totals only shall be entered on the general return sheet] and statement There shall also be entered on the general return sheet and statement the number of voters who have voted as shown by the lists of voters and the number who have voted on each machine as shown by the public counters and also the number registered on the protective counter or device on each machine immediately prior to the opening of the polls and immediately after the closing thereof and sealing of the machine The number or other designation of each machine used shall also be entered thereon In the case of primary elections duplicate return sheets shall be prepared for each party The registering counters of the voting machine shall remain exposed to view until the said returns and all other reports have been fully completed and checked by the inspectors and overseers if any During such time any candidate or duly accredited watcher who may desire to be present shall be admitted to the polling place

(c) The proclamation of the result of the votes cast shall be announced distinctly and audibly by the judge of election who shall read the name of each candidate the designation or designating numbers and letters of his counters and the vote registered on each counter also the vote cast for and against each question submitted During such proclamation ample opportunity shall be given to any person lawfully present to compare the results so announced with the counter dials of the machine and any necessary corrections shall then and there be made by the election officers after which the doors or other cover of the voting machine shall be closed and locked [immediately upon the close of the polls the election officers shall so lock or seal the operating lever or mechanism of the machine that the voting and counting mechanism will be prevented from operation] Any ballots deposited written or affixed in or upon the voting machine shall be inclosed in properly sealed packages and properly indorsed and shall be delivered by the judge of election as hereinafter provided The judge of election shall promptly deliver to the county commissioners or their duly authorized representative the keys of the voting machine inclosed in a sealed envelope if the construction of the voting machine shall permit their separate return Said envelope shall have indorsed thereon a certificate of the election officers stating the number of the machine the election district where it has been used the number on the seal and the number on the protective counter or device at the close of the polls

(d) As soon as possible after the completion of the count the county commissioners shall have the voting machine properly boxed and removed to the place [or places] of storage provided for in this act"

Section 20 That Clause (b) of Section twenty-seven of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

"(b) All voting machines when not in use shall be properly boxed or covered and stored in a suitable place or places as provided by this section"

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. BLUMBERG asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1454, Senate Bill No. 589, Printer's No. 548, on page 32 of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1454 (Senate Bill No. 589), as follows:

An Act to validate and confirm certain contracts heretofore entered into for the providing and/or furnishing of funerals burial equipment and/or cemetery lots and/or the performance of any work and/or services in connection with the same where such contracts in effect provide that the payment of the contract price shall be contingent upon the survival of one of the parties thereto providing for the creation and maintenance of reserves and regulating the terms upon which the benefits of this act shall continue to be enjoyed

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That any contract heretofore entered into to provide and/or furnish any funeral burial equipment and/or cemetery lot and/or perform any work and/or services in connection with the same to be paid for in instalments and the payment of the full contract price to be contingent upon the survival of the one obligated to pay shall be deemed and taken to be valid and effectual for all purposes and binding upon the parties thereto unless contrary to the provisions of any Act of Assembly or unless contrary to the charter powers of any corporation so contracting

Section 2 Within sixty days after the passage and approval of this act each person firm partnership association or corporation which shall have heretofore issued any such contracts and shall desire to continue to enjoy the benefits of this act shall notify the Insurance Commissioner thereof specifying the original date of each contract the names of the contracting parties with addresses and the amounts if any due to either of contracting parties on the date of said notice

Section 3 Upon receipt of said notice and annually thereafter as of the thirty-first day of December of the preceeding year the Insurance Commissioner shall compute the reserve liability of such person firm partnership association or corporation based upon the American experience table of mortality with interest at three and one-half per centum per annum upon the actual cost of fulfilling all such contracts entered into by such person firm partnership association or corporation and shall notify such person firm partnership association or corporation of the amount thereof

Section 4 Within sixty days after the receipt of such notice of the amount of his or its reserve liability each person firm partnership association or corporation shall set up and thereafter maintain a reserve fund equal to the amount of such reserve liability in cash or secure investments approved by the Insurance Commissioner

Section 5 Should any such person firm partnership association or corporation fail to give notice as provided in section two hereof or fail to set up or maintain a reserve fund as required by section four hereof or hereafter enter into any such contract he or it shall cease to be entitled to the benefits of this act Provided however That nothing in this act shall be construed as to authorize the entering into of any such contract after the approval of this act nor shall it be construed to permit the renewal or validating of any contract which is in effect an extension or renewal of any contract that has previously been invalidated or nullified by failure of either of the contracting parties to carry out any of the obligations imposed on them under said contract nor to validate any such contract which has heretofore been declared invalid by law

Section 6 This act shall take effect immediately upon its passage and approval by the Governor

Section 7 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 5, by striking out the strike-out brackets before and after the words "irrespective of."

Amend Section 1, page 2, lines 5 and 6, by striking out the words "unless contrary to."

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 6, by striking out the strike-out brackets before and after the words "and irrespective of."

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 7, by striking out the words "or unless contrary to."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 257

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 21, 1931.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I herewith return, without my approval, House Bill No. 257, Printer's No. 808, entitled, "An Act to amend section eight hundred and sixteen of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled 'An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibusses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace. the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds' by requiring motor busses and motor omnibusses to be equipped with non-shatterable glass"

This bill amends "The Vehicle Code" of 1929 by making it unlawful to operate a passenger motor-bus for hire, acquired after January 1, 1932, unless it be equipped with "non-shatterable" glass. Replacement of glass in existing vehicles must be made only with such "non-shatterable" glass after that date.

I am in favor of any reasonable requirement which will promote safety in highway travel, but I do not believe the Commonwealth should champion any specific brand or type of material for use in vehicles which might achieve that end. In addition, the bill would place a duty on the Secretary of Revenue which he and the Bureau of Motor Vehicles are not equipped to perform. All vehicles involved in the bill are subject to the rules and regulations of the Public Service Commission, which might properly prescribe the use of equipment insuring safety to the patrons of those who hold its certificates of public convenience.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. NOTHNAGLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. WEIDEMANN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 711

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 21, 1931.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 711, Printer's No. 840, entitled "An Act to amend clause three section thirty-seven of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws seventy-three) entitled 'An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations' by requiring officers and directors of building and loan associations to be the owners of at least ten shares of the capital stock of such corporation".

This bill amends the General Corporation Act of 1874 by requiring that officers and directors of building and loan associations shall own at least ten shares of the capital stock thereof, provided such shares shall be "at all times free of all liens, encumbrances and collateral for any kind of obligation". The purpose of this bill is commendable. There is good reason for requiring a substantial interest in the association as a prerequisite to office therein. Unfortunately, it prevents many individual home owners and other worthy borrowers who are vitally interested in the affairs of their association from actively engaging in its management.

Unquestionably, there are associations managed by individuals having no substantial investment in them. Their stockholders have the power to correct this situation by changes in their by-laws. Each association can prescribe such qualifications as will best meet its needs and safeguard its affairs. An Act of Assembly making obligatory for all associations requirements that would be a burden to many is not a proper way to solve the problem.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. PHILLIP M. MYERS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 799

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 21, 1931.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 799 Printer's No. 579, entitled "An Act to amend section fourteen of the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred seventeen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand forty-three), entitled 'An act establishing a public school employes' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employes defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employes exempting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties' as amended by fixing a minimum monthly compensation for certain retired teachers",

This bill would fix twenty-five dollars per month as the minimum monthly compensation for teachers over sixty-two years of age who retired because of disability prior to July 1, 1919. This provision would discriminate against those contributing members of the State School Employes Retirement Association who have heretofore been retired and who are receiving less than twenty-five dollars per month. There can be no justification for paying a larger allowance to teachers who have contributed no part of the cost of their retirement allowance than to those who have made such contributions.

In addition, this bill would increase the amount of the State appropriation required for the next biennium for retirement purposes by $135,648.00. No provision has been made for this amount in the budget.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. RUTH. Mr Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 857

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 21, 1931.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 857, Printer's No. 210, entitled, "An Act defining the kind of title cities of the second class shall acquire pursuant to the exercise of the power of eminent domain."

The bill provides "that hereafter whenever any city of the second class shall condemn property for public purposes pursuant to any power conferred by any existing or future law the title so condemned pursuant to the power of eminent domain shall be a fee simple title."

This bill is defectively drawn. Evidently, it was the intention of the draftsman to provide that the title acquired pursuant to the power of eminent domain shall be a fee simple title but the bill provides that the title condemned shall be a fee simple title. This provision would be dangerous. It would restrict the present powers of cities of the second class to acquire property necessary for public purposes.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1244

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 21, 1931.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith without my approval, House Bill No. 1244, Printer's No. 583, entitled, "An Act to amend Clause C of section seven of the act approved the twelfth day of July one thousand nine hundred nineteen (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred thirty-three) entitled 'An act to regulate the practice of architecture in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by providing for the examination and registration of architects by a State Board of Examiners defining the power and duties of said board of examiners and providing penalties for the violation of this act' extending the time within which persons practicing as architects or employes of architects prior to the passage of the act may apply for certificate and registration without examination

This bill would amend the Architectural Practice Act by extending the time from two to thirteen years within which persons may be registered without examination because they were practicing as architects or employes of architecture prior to the passage of the act.

When the act regulating the practice of architecture became effective in 1919, opportunity was afforded to all architects practicing at that time for registration without examination within a period of two years. It is quite unnecessary to open the doors twelve years subsequent to the passage of the act. There is no reason for registering any person at this time who is not qualified to take the regular examination provided by the act.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary nothwithstanding?

Mr. GARARD. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication, together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1931 — 129th of the General Assembly

Vol. 12 — HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MAY 26, 1931 — No. 54

SENATE

TUESDAY, May 26, 1931

The Senate met at 11.00 o'clock a. m. (Eastern Standard Time).

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Christian H. Shirk, offered the following prayer:

Thou Holy and Mighty God, as we meditate upon Thy greatness our own insignificance becomes apparent. When we think of Thy infinite intelligence we realize how limited in knowledge we are.

When we look at the magnitude of our human tasks we become intensely conscious of our insufficiency. But Thy word assures us that our sufficiency is in Thee.

We come to Thee this day asking that we may have clearness of mental and moral vision. Wilt Thou "create within us clean hearts ,and renew a right spirit within us?"

Then shall we worthily praise and magnify Thy most holy and excellent name by the worthy deeds of our life, and through the exalted name of our Redeemer. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BALDWIN the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the amendments?

Mr. FREEMAN. Mr. President, I sincerely trust that the Senate will not concur in these amendments. The Governor of the Commonwealth is quoted as having said that to-day we must go on record and say yes or no. I am not only willing but I am glad to go on record, because I am so strongly convinced as to the righteousness of the position that I take that I am glad to have my constituents know just where I stand. When the Fair Rate Bills came up for consideration perhaps a half dozen of my constituents wrote to me and asked me to support them and to these men I replied courteously, stating why I would not do so and giving, in full, my reasons. I did not want to hide behind the skirts of the Judiciary General Committee and go back home and say "Why, what could I do? The committee killed the bill." And so I wrote to them stating my position, and to-day again I wish to define my position on this particular subject.

So that there may be no misapprehension or misconstruction of what I intend to say I have dictated to a stenographer that which is in my mind and, with your permission, I will now read it to you.

The Supreme Court of this Commonwealth has already declared that the Public Service Commission is an arm of the Legislative body. This bill as amended now proposes to give to the Governor the power to dismiss the Public Service Commissioners at his pleasure, thus adding to the Executive Branch of the State Government additional powers.

This in itself is bad enough, but when we bear in mind that it is only an important link in a chain of circumstances already leading to a greater concentration of power in the hands of the Executive at the expense of the Legislative Branch, then it becomes more serious and much more dangerous.

When our Forefathers addressed themselves to the task of drafting a Constitution and establishing a form of government for this Republic, there seems to have been one thing above all others that was uppermost in their minds. Having just thrown off the shackles of a king, they were determined to forever close the door to any exercise of kingly powers here in free America. And so they created three branches of the Federal Government: The Executive, the Legislative, and the Judicial, and with them they created a marvelous set of checks and balances. The form of government thus established has proved the hope and inspiration of the peoples of the world, and weary and oppressed from foreign lands have flocked in countless numbers to our shores to find here a haven of liberty freedom, prosperity, and peace.

Our Government has stood the test of time. Crowns, principalities, and powers have melted away. Kings have been driven in exile from their thrones, but the Government of the United States of America has gone on.

It was but natural and inevitable that the various States of the Union should adopt as their own the model thus presented by the Federal Government and we, in Pennsylvania, have been no exception to the rule. We, too, have our Executive, our Legislative, and our Judicial; we, too, our system of checks and balances and, up to a comparatively recent time, the balance of power has been most carefully preserved. More recently, however, there has developed a constantly increasing tendency to concentrate vast and unusual powers in the hands of the Executive Department of our State Government. The thing began a number of years ago, when the General Assembly, through its own negligence and own indifference, practically handed over to the Governor the control of our fiscal affairs. I well remember when I sat in the House of Representatives some twenty years ago, the indignation of Governor Stuart when we rushed through appropriation bills carrying sums far in excess of the revenues of the Commonwealth, and then went home, leaving it to him to pare down the amounts, so that receipts and expenditures would balance. I recall that he was reported to have said that were it not for the added expense which an extra Session would cause, he would call the Legislature back in Extra Session and compel us to perform our Constitutional duties.

I pause to remark that Chief Executives in these days do not seem so solicitous about the creation of additional expenditures through the calling of Extra Sessions.

This pernicious practice of passing appropriation bills at the very end of a Session, thus giving the Governor thirty days in which to do with them what he will, has continued with very few exceptions since that time, so that it has now become an estabished custom, sanctioned by the Legislature, and has further come to be regarded as a prerogative of the Governor. I believe that any Governor to-day would be justly offended and would feel that he is being discriminated against, if he were not given the thirty days almost invariably accorded. Thus have we forged the first link in the chain of ununsual Executive power—and Legislative impotence.

The second step began with the passage of these various Codes—the Administrative Code and the Fiscal Code. By the enactment of these laws, vast additional were lodged in the hands of the Governor. Various Departments then demanded their Codes, and we enacted them and, when we realize that the heads of these Departments are the appointees of the Governor and are virtually members of the Governor's Cabinet, we can readily see that the vicious circle is well nigh complete.

A further attempt to weaken the power of the Legislative body and deprive the Senate of its Constitutional rights is a matter of recent history. Just after his election, our present Chief Executive demanded that the Senate of Pennsylvania elect as its President Pro Tem a man of his own selection and surrender to him the right to choose our own Presiding Officer. This brazen attempt to render the Senate a mere tool of the Executive was fortunately frustrated, but the scars of the battle remain.

Those of our members who were willing to stand or fall for the preservation of Constitutional Government have beeen labeled by our Executive as "gangsters, betrayers of the people, and tools of the utilities."

And now we come to this present proposition. I am not opposed to it just because Governor Pinchot wants it. I am only too glad to support the Governor in any legislation that I regard as good, but I am equally unwilling to support legislation which I am satisfied is not for the best interest of the people. If the Governor is given power to dismiss at his pleasure the members of the Public Service Commission, it simply means that the Commission would cease to be a Judicial body, as it is at present, and would at once become a set of rubber stamps, compelled at all times to do the bidding of the Governor or lose their salaried jobs. Do you think that the people want vast powers lodged in the hands of any one man? If these powers are given, it means, in effect, that the Governor becomes the Public Service Commission.

Suppose for a minute that all that the Governor ha ssaid about the public utilities is true, and let us suppose that our present Governor would perform his functions properly and not abuse the powers thus conferred. But what about the next Governor and the one after that? If these utilities are as corrupt as Governor Pinchot says they are, will they not attempt, some day, to elect as Governor a man of their own choice? Such a man, if elected, would continue to enjoy the powers vested in our present Governor and, if he were placed there by the utilities to serve them and not the people, what would happen to the people and what would be their redress? Do not forget that this legislation, if passed, is likely to prevail for many yeas to come and under many other governors. Do you not see the danger and the risk of such a thing?

I believe that the time will come within the next ten years when the State will realize that too much power has already been given to the Executive Branch of our State Government and that some Legislature in the future will sit down calmly in a less political atmosphere than we have at present and take away from the Executive some of these excessive powers and bring the State back to a simpler, less centralized and more democratic form of Government.

The proper remedy for the whole Public Service question at this time, it seems to me, is to not grant the Executive additional powers, but so to amend the present Public Service Act as to make it more responsive to the will of the people and a better servant of the public. The so-called McClure Bill as recently passed by the Senate will, if it becomes a law, admirably accomplish this purpose. Let me remind you that the Honorable George W. Woodruff, a Member of Governor Pinchots' own Cabinet, is reported as having recently stated before the House Investigating Committee that the present Public Service Law is the best of any State in the Union.

I rather expect to find within a period of two years that our present Governor will have named a majority of the Public Service Commission through resignations, retirement or failure of the Senate to confirm, and so it seems to me that in the relatively near future the question as to who shall sit upon the Commission and administer the law will solve itself to the entire satisfaction of the present Cheif Executive.

Well may the Members of the Senate pause and reflect before they cast their votes to confer these additional powers upon the Governor! Let us stand up for our Constitutional rights, and refuse to barter away our Legislative souls for a mess of Gubernatorial patronage! For if we continue thus to hand away our powers to represent the people, we shall soon become representatives not in fact, but only in name—slaves of the Executive, suing for royal favor at the hands of an all-powerful Kaiser of our own creation

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the remarks which I desire to make in regard to this question are, in large measure, a repetition of the remarks of the Senator from Lebanon, Mr. Freeman, but are put in somewhat different form.

The Governor of the Commonwealth has rendered service to the State by raising the question of utility regulation. While the Public Service Law of our State has been pronounced good as a basic law by most critics but all are agreed that some desirable changes may be made for the benefit of the public. It is not the question of the need for legislation which is before us but the form of such legislation and upon this question honest minds differ.

However, there should be some things upon which we can agree. Let us go as far as we can together. Senate Bill No. 259 introduced by Senator Howell provided for one main thing, viz.: That tariff schedules, filed by utilities, increasing the rates to consumers, shall not become effective until passed upon by the Public Service Commission. Are we not all agreed upon that point? Why endanger what is desirable by insisting upon that which is controversial? Why cannot we all vote against concurrence in the amendments and pass the Howell Bill practically in its original form?

The statement has appeared in the press that the Senators, on this Bill, were to be "put on the spot." This term is usually applied by gangsters in relation to those of their own kidney. I, for one, am not conscious of any feeling such as would fill the mind of one engaged in a "racket". I am entirely willing that my vote should bear the light of publicity, and if it be thought necessary to put Senators upon record as to their views about the "hire and fire" clauses of this Bill; let some one, after we have all voted for the Howell Bill in the form passed by the Senate, move to discharge the Judiciary General Committee from consideration of the so-called Fair Rate Bills which contain the same provision. Thus a record can be had, if need be.

And the Senate has passed other legislation upon which we should agree. I refer to Senate Bill No. 976, introduced by Senator McClure. This Bill contains a provisions similar to the Howell Bill, to prevent rates increases without the consent of the Public Service Commission. It goes further in granting powers in regard to approval of bond issues, in supervising mergers and consolidations, in forbidding the purchasing of stock of other companies, under certain conditions, and in speeding up decisions, suspending rates, etc. It vests in the Court on Appeal power to make independent findings, it provides a People's Counsel in the Department of Justice to assist rate payers when complaints are made against improper charges, and it fixes penalties upon officers for violations of its provisions. Cannot we agree on these things? Why not?

Reckless and indiscriminate charges have been made against many of the Senators that they have been corrupted by the utilities, that they have sold out the people. Such false and misleading statements, whether made in recklessness or by intention against the reputations of the members, are more evil than acts of the highway robber who steals only one's purse. But when the people understand that legislation intended for their benefit is held up for no other reason than the one given for the modification of thse Bills from the form in which they passed the Senate, will they not justly condemn all those who are responsible therefor? Why should the Governor be given power to dismiss Public Service Commissioners at will? I have heard no logical reason given for it. If care be taken in the selection of the individuals chosen it will be the rare case that one proves unfit. If he does, his voice is but one in seven. If the Commission is made subject to the will of the Executive, its independent action will be gone. If the Executive is wise and able and uncorruptible, the decisions of the Commission will reflect his views. But if the Executive is lacking in any of these respects, the Commission will again reflect his views and the people will suffer.

I asked the Attorney General when he appeared before the Judiciary General Committee to discuss the utility bills, how he would classify the fact-finding power of the Public Service Commission, as Executive, Legislative or Judicial. He replied rightly "judicial". If the Commissioners are acting as judges in this great part of their work, do you think they can act impartially if they are continually confronted with the possibility of meeting executive disapproval?

Governor Pinchot will undoubtedly have the appointment of the majority of the Board of Public Service Commissioners during his term—perhaps indeed within a year. But grant that the utilities are seeking to obtain control of our government. If that be true may they not in all probability obtain the election of a Governor next time favorable to them, who will discharge the appointees of the present Governor and choose others subservient to the new Executive's will? What then becomes of the rights of the people?

Anglo-Saxons have consistently opposed outside influences with judicial investigation and when the people of Pennsylvania awake to the dangers lurking in the amendments proposed to these Bills, they certainly will not want them.

I am opposed to the "hire and fire" provisions inserted in these Bills on other grounds. So rapid have been the encroachments of the Executive power upon other branches of our State Government as to endanger its very form. To ask the Senate to give up its prerogatives with regard to the Public Service Commission in favor of the Executive branch of the Government is rather audacious when one stops to think of it, as it is a demand made by one division upon a co-ordinate branch; but when one also considers all the attempts made in recent years to build up the executive arm at the expense of other departments, it becoms simply astounding.

When the framers of our National Constitution divided our Government into three branches to serve as checks, the one upon the other, they produced a form of government that has stood the test of the years and become the envy and example of the world. Other nations, as in South America, have tried in vain to imitate. Why have they failed? Simply because the executive power was made superior to—not co-ordinate with—the judicial and legislative branches.

The history of the United States is different. It is true that the judicial branch of our National Government did not reach tis full dignity until under John Marshall. At times the President has dominated all. After the Civil War, the Congress usurped executive functions. But as a whole, the balances have been maintained, to the saving of the Nation. If it be argued that the President of the United States has been given the power to discharge the members of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, as a reason for the amendments to these Bills, the answer simply is that the situations are in no wise parallel. Whether it be a wise provision or not for the President to have this power may be debatable, but as it is, it is granted (not almost unconditionally as in these Bills relating to the Public Service Commission, with the simple restriction that the Governor must file his reasons with the Senate when it meets perhaps two years later) but it is granted only in case of inefficiency, neglect of duty and malfeasance in office.

The great dignity of the Presidential office, the extent of the United States, the jealousy of the states toward one another, the fact that the five of the eleven Commissioners must be of the minority party and especially the fact that Congress meets twice in each year and remains in session for months when the Senate may supervise appointments, illustrate the dissimilarity of the two cases. I am not familiar with the method of appointing commissions in the States, but I notice this significant fact, that practically every other State in the Union places some checks on the Executive power which Pennsylvania has withdrawn. For instance, in forty-four States in the Union, the Attorney General is elected by the people and not appointed by the Governor. This group includes New York, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware. In forty States of the Union the Secretary of State is an elective officer.

In Pennsylvania both these officers are appointed by the Governor. When we consider the fact that Boards and Bureaus appointed by the Governor now exert a tremendous influence on agriculture, merchandising, manufacturing and all other businesses in the Commonwealth, that the executive power wields so heavy an influence over all the elective officers, and that efforts are now being seriously made to take from the Department of Internal Affairs the great and growing branch of Aeronautics and place it more directly under executive control, and to take from the Auditor General certain of the functions of his office, for a similar purpose, it is apparent that unless a check is interposed, the time is not far distant when laws will be made wholly by Executive decree and government by the people will be an empty phrase.

My position as to these Bills is taken in good faith not in favor of the utilities, but to protect the people from them and from all influences working subtly in the name of the people but which in truth will bind them hand and foot and turn them over to destruction. When will the people awake to the situation?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, and members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, I take it that the question now before the Senate is whether or not this Senate shall concur in the amendments made by the House to Senate Bill No. 259, commonly known as the Howell Bill, which, in its original form, provided that rates of public utilities could not be increased without the approval of the Public Service Commission. As has been said by one of the former speakers, to that principle perhaps most, or all, of us subscribe. The bill has been amended in the House to contain other features, some of which are, perhaps, agreed to and some of which some of the Senators object to. I take it, however, that the principal objection to this bill, from the Senators' standpoint, is the right to remove the commissioners by the Executive without the consent of the Senate.

I do not have any prepared speech to justify my vote on this measure, nor do I need any. The people of Pennsylvania have spoken in no uncertain terms upon this question. The Governor of this Commonwealth has been duly elected by a substantial majority of the citizens thereof, and this was part of his platform; therefore, I take it that most of the Senators in this body have from their constituents a commission to carry out the will of their districts.

Mr. President, without going into detail, and without any thought of changing any votes on this question,—for I realize that it is fraught with politics, and anything that I may say, or that any other Senator may say, will, perhaps, not change a vote in this chamber, the die is cast; I believe that this bill, or these amendments, will be defeated in this body; we all know that,—any of us who is practical knows what has been going on with reference to this bill,—the Senator from Somerset has referred to the Interstate Commerce Commission, and I was interested, Mr. President, in hearing him try to differentiate between the Interstate Commerce Commission of the federal government and the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania, but up to this time I have not heard any convincing reason or argument why there should be any difference between the right of the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to remove a Public Service Commissioner and the right of the President of the United States to remove an Interstate Commerce Commissioner.

Mr. President, in practically every other office in this Commonwealth, except, of course, elective offices, the Executive, whoever he may be, is given these rights; and, in fact, Mr. President, I believe it is true that up until the time of the decision of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania it was acknowledged by even the public utilities themselves that the Governor had that right.

However, that has been decided, adversely to that proposition, by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, and this bill is intended to place the law where most of us thought it was prior to that decision.

In the Senate of Pennsylvania we are not in the habit of making a great many speeches or indulging in prolonged debate; it very seldom changes any votes; we do our work largely in committee,—and I think it is well that we do so. Therefore, I do not intend, at this late hour in the session of the Legislature to keep this Senate from voting. I know they are willing and anxious to vote,—some of them; perhaps some of them would rather not vote; but I think it is well that we should take a stand on this matter, and cast our votes as we believe our constituents desire us to do; and I intend, Mr. President, to vote "aye" on concurrence in these amendments.

Mr. FREEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Bucks. Mr. Buckman, if he will permit me.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I will be glad to.

Mr. FREEMAN. Mr. President, was not the Governor's pledge to the people an elective Fair Rate Board?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, it may have been called by that name, but I think it makes little or no difference whether it is called an elective Fair Rate Board or whether it is called a Public Service Commission.

Mr. FREEMAN. But, Mr. President, did he not say that this Board was to be elected by the people? Was that not his promise?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, that may be.

Mr. FREEMAN. Mr. President, if that has been changed, where is the mandate?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, what does the Senator from Lebanon, Mr. Freeman, mean by "mandate"?

Mr. FREEMAN. Mr. President, the mandate of the people, to which the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, referred in his address.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, that is beside the question. There is no doubt that the people of this Commonwealth voted to rectify the wrongs that exist in the Public Service Commission. To some extent that has been done, willingly or unwillingly, by this Legislature. They have accomplished much, and this will go one long step further in carrying out the will of the people to rectify the wrongs that have been alleged to exist in the Public Service Commission.

And the question recurrirng,

Will the Senate concur in the amendments?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—20

Apple,	Coyne,	Kitts,	Prince,
Bowers,	Einstein,	Lanius,	Quigley,

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. RIAL. Mr. President, there is a good deal of opposition in my county to this bill, in that it fixes the salaries of tax collectors. Tax collectors, as a rule, have a rather difficult job to fill. The minimum salary to be fixed in the city in which I live, which is a city of about 25,000 population, the minimum salary to be fixed by the School Board and City Council is $1,600.00. It seems to me that the tax collectors as they are presently constituted and elected, have enough trouble, and it seems to me that this legislation is not wise legislation because it takes away from the tax collectors their individual initiative in the way of collecting taxes; that is, they are not ambitious or energetic in the collection of taxes, and, in addition to that, it makes it exceedingly difficult for a tax collector to make his office pay because every tax collector, under his bond, insures the amount of the tax-duplicate. In a town of our size, 25,000, if a tax collector is restricted to this salary—and he can be restricted to that under this Act—we will have difficulty, and every one of these third class cities will have difficulty, in securing proper tax collectors and those who can give a bond.

I think it is foolish legislation; and it is foolish for this other reason—that in the adjoining borough of Greensburg, with a population equal to ours, or in some of the smaller third class cities, the tax collectors are elected and will receive commissions which they are now allowed by law.

I hope the Senate will see fit to vote down this bill.

Mr. EARNEST. Mr. President, I am very much in favor of this bill. The City Treasurer of Harrisburg collects school taxes as well as city taxes, and, I am informed, has been receiving a net amount of over $20,000 per year. The citizens of Harrisburg feel that that is too much money for a city treasurer to get. It is way above the amount received by any other officer in the county or city. The bill, as far as it relates to cities of the third class, of the size of Harrisburg, would fix a salary of between $9,000 and $10,000 a year, as Council may direct. I am, therefore, as I stated in the beginning, in favor of this bill, and will vote for it.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, I, also, am very much in favor of this bill. This bill was carefully considered by the Committee on Municipal Affairs. A sub-committee of Senators representing third-class cities was appointed to go over the bill and try to arrange a bill that would be satisfactory to all the representatives.

This bill will save the tax-payers of the third-class cities of Pennsylvania hundreds of thousands of dollars. In the city where I live the city treasurer at the present time gets as much as the mayor and four councilmen combined. Under this bill he will be given a salary, and in all cities and municipalities where the treasurer has been given the tax collection under a salary it has proved very satisfactory. Years ago, in the City of Pittsburgh, it cost $60,000 a year to collect the taxes. Now the salary, I believe, is $8,000 a year, and the treasurer is collecting the taxes just as well as they were ever collected. I think this is a very good bill, and I would like to see the Senate pass it.

Mr. WEINGARTNER. Mr. President, representing, as I do, in the 47th District, two third-class cities, I want to concur in what the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Earnest, and the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Mansfield, have said with reference to this bill. If you believe the tax collector in my little city of New Castle should receive a lot more money than the President Judge who sits upon our bench, then you ought to vote against this bill. It is a notorious fact, Mr. President, that tax collectors in cities of the third class, under the present system, have been receiving enormous incomes.

Further, this bill is in keeping with the trend to put city officers on salaries, and take them off commissions. It is only a short time ago in counties of the sixth class that we placed our county treasurers on salaries in place of commissions. So far as the work is concerned, I cannot see but that the work of the present officers is performed just as well, and the taxes just as closely collected—and at a saving to the tax-payers of many thousands of dollars.

It is not an arbitrary amount fixed in this bill. The lowest salary would be $1,600.00, and the highest $4,500.00 in cities of less than 25,000; and the School Board and City Council can fix that salary any place between those amounts. In cities of from 25,000 to 50,000 the minimum salary is $3,500.00, and the maximum $7,000.00; and from 55,000 up the minimum is $9,000.00 and the maximum $10,000.00.

It seems to me that the gentlemen who levy a tax, from both the School Boards and City Council, and who spend the taxes, ought to have some say in the fixing of the salary of the public official who collects it—as long as we guarantee, by fixing the minimum, that a fair amount will be paid. And I want to say, with the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Earnest, and the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Mansfield, that the representatives of most of the third-class cities have given this bill long and careful consideration, and have worked at it steadily for some days; and I hope this Senate will pass this measure this morning.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

MOTION TO RECONSIDER SENATE BILL No. 570 (HOUSE BILL No. 1)

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 570 (House Bill No. 1), entitled:

An Act authorizing the appointment of property guards by certain persons copartnerships associations or corporations prescribing the powers of such property guards authorizing the Court of Quarter Sessions to approve their appointments and to revoke the same under certain conditions and authorizing the Attorney General to investigate their work and require periodical reports from them imposing duties upon the recorders of deeds and imposing penalties and repealing laws inconsistent therewith passed finally.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I voted "aye".

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I second the motion

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I voted "aye".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, in order that we might understand just what this is, I will state for the information of the Senate that this is the Musmanno Bill, the Coal and Iron Police Bill; and I am afraid that many of the Senators who voted to defeat the amendments yesterday did not fully understand the importance and the meaning of these amendments.

This is a very important bill,—important for both sides that are interested in this question, and I think it is only fair and just that each member of this Senate should have a full opportunity to understand the amendments put in this bill.

As the bill stands now a coal and iron policeman has the same power and authority as a policeman in a city of the first class. That means he is a fullfledged, 100% police officer. From information received and from my knowledge of the bill, gained through a study of the situation in the past, I am under the impression that the theory of the institution of coal and iron police was to the effect that those who owned these mines, and the property connected with them, were to get additional police protection for their property, and the police officers for that purpose should have every consideration and every power and every authority necessary to enable them to give full protection to the owners of these various enterprises. In the amendments placed in this bill by me provision was made for every protection that it was thought the law should give these mine owners, whether individuals or corporations.

It is thought by those who claim that outrages have been committed in the communities in which they live, by some of these coal and iron policemen, that such officers should not have 100% authority as a police officer, becouse, I am told, when they receive that authority they not only become police officers under the law but they go beyond the law, they inherit the vices of police officers and in these days when prohibition is disliked more than it is liked, and when opportunities arise, as they have arisen under our prohibition law, it is easy to fall by the wayside. Why, there have been instances to the discredit of what were once considered the greatest police force in America, our State troops; and I know that in the big cities many of our policemen are more interested in making arrests for violations of the liquor law than they are in making arrests for highway robbery, murder and other serious offenses,—because in arresting people for violations of the liquor law they have an opportunity to act not only as a policeman but also as a jury, they have the opportunity of acting as the judge, and, most interesting of all, they have the opportunity of collecting the fines themselves, and of putting these fines in their own pockets. That has been a very detrimental condition, particularly in the big cities; and I blame about ninety-nine per cent. of it on our national prohibition law.

Now, the people who are interested in these mines, and mining companies, are entitled to protection, but these policemen should be policemen for the purpose for which they are appointed and no more. Under the law as it now stands they are 100% policemen insofar as their authority is concerned, and there is very little or no supervision over them by anyone superior in authority.

If you pass this bill you are turning on the people of Western Pennsylvania not only a new group of policemen but a new group of collectors, which I think neither the people of Western Pennsylvania nor the people of any other section desire to have, and I believe that if you carefully consider this Act you will come to the conclusion that the amendments offered are fair and will operate to the satisfaction of everybody.

Mr. RIAL. Mr. President, this bill was sought to be amended last night in this body, and the amendments to the bill, as it came up for final passage, were rejected. I do not think there is any misunderstanding about this proposition. I do not quite get the slant of my friend, the Senator from Philadelphia Mr. Salus, in his opposition to this bill. The situation which confronts us in Western Pennsylvania,—and I speak more particularly about my own county,—is this: We have a number of unprotected communities, made up of populations of from 500 to 1500; we have possibly 50 such communities in our county. Now, for a period of years,—I would not undertake to say how long—these communities have been protected by either the industrial police or the coal and iron police. These men are operated under military control, and they have been generally satisfactory. I understand the situation which inspired the presentation of this bill in the House. It was to meet one situation, because one coal and iron policeman ran amuck and because there have been abuses in the operation of the law. I agree that those abuses should be corrected. But why are you going to kill a good institution,—an institution which experience shows to have been good—merely for the sake of the few exceptions in its proper operation? We understand that there have been cases where such officers have belied their trust and have become partners in the underworld. Shall we abolish the police in cities of the first, second and third classes because some particular policeman does not behave himself? Why certainly no one would stand for that sort of proposition.

Here is the situation with regard to this particular industry,—and I speak more particularly of the coal industry,—here are these towns of from 50 to 500 population, separated from the larger cities of the county, without any police protection at all.

One objection to the old police bill was that there was no responsibility imposed on the employer of these policemen, they could do very much as they pleased; and yet there is a wise provision to this Act, that a bond must be filed to secure the faithful performance of the duties of these industrial police, as they are called. They may be recalled on complaint of anyone, if they misbehave. And, in my experience, the H. C. Frick Company have a fine body of men, who look after their own communities. A short time ago,—within the last three or four months—at one of their plants, where protection had been afforded by this body of men, that police protection was withdrawn. They were off three or four miles from a city. And within a week after that police protection had been withdrawn there were three attempted rapes in that community.

All that we want here,—all that we want and all that this industry wants,—is someone who has on him the badge of authority, who stands as a warning to evil doers, warning them that they must behave. If you are going to simply say that these men who are acting as policemen in these communities shall be merely watchmen, that anyone can go in with a torch or a bomb and until an offense is committed he cannot be arrested, I say you are going to put a hazard upon the industry which it ought not to bear.

What is the alternative? The industry is not going to be unprotected. We are driven to the other, and worse, evil of procuring deputy sheriffs. We have had a terrible experience in our community with deputy sheriffs. In years gone by we had a sheriff who went to the penitentiary,—not as a result of this thing but as the result of some other acts of misbehavior in office. The sheriff will hire deputy sheriffs. He will be paid, by the employer, $10.00 a day for each deputy sheriff he hires; and then he will pay to each of these deputies $5.00 a day. We are confronted with this proposition of either furnishing some adequate protection or going out and hiring these deputy sheriffs. Which is the worse evil?

I can agree with Mr. Musmanno with regard to the outrages committed by vicious members of this force. Such things must stop. Such members of the force must go. But what we are seeking here is adequate protection for one of the basic industries of this State.

There has been a good deal of talk about organized labor being against this. I do not know whether they are or not. No representative of organized labor has so expressed himself to me, and no man from Westmoreland County has said a word to me about this bill. I know what the public clamor has been in the press. But I submit, Mr. President, that this institution is not altogether wrong; and I hope the members of this body will vote down this motion to reconsider this bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Salus and Mr. Harris, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—15

Apple,	Daix,	Kitts,	Sordoni,
Armstrong,	Gelder,	Krause,	Weingartner,

So the question was determined in the negative.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 739 (House Bill No. 878), entitled:

An Act to amend section five of the act approved the eighteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws five hundred forty-nine) entitled "An Act to permit the use of voting machines for recording and computing the vote at all elections including primaries in any county city borough or township of the Commonwealth at the option of the electors thereof prescribing regulations with reference to the adoption requirements examination purchase installation preparation custody and demonstration of use of voting machines providing rules and regulations for the conduct of elections held with voting machines prescribing the qualifications number and duties of election officers in election districts in which voting machines may be used placing duties upon county commissioners and the Secretary of the Commonwealth providing for redivision of wards of cities and boroughs into election districts and the consolidation of election districts providing for the payment of expenses incident to the purchase and use of voting machines by the counties in which they are used and providing penalties for violation of the provisions of this act" by decreasing the number of voters to one election district

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?
